YUGOSLAV MISSION BOMBED BY EMIGREES

BONN (Reuters)—A group of Yugoslav emigrees, in an apparent protest against the government of President Josip Tito, today attacked a Yugoslav trade mission in a Bonn suburb, with bombs and pistols, wounding two persons and setting fire to the building before retreating.

Police arrested 19 Yugoslavs and a police dragnet, using bloodhounds, was out for other members of the group.

OTTAWA — Public Works Minister Davie Fulton apparently has decided to leave federal politics and seek the leadership of the B.C. Conservative Party.

In response to speculative reports that his departure was imminent, Mr. Fulton said this today:

"I know what I am going to do but I am not yet ready to make any statement."

He said this statement could come some time today, but was not sure.

The positive nature of Mr. Fulton's comments, however, was taken as a strong indication that he planned to make the move. Had it been otherwise he could have been expected to issue a firm denial.

Mr. Fulton's activities this morning clearly indicated a big change was afoot. He left his office in time to attend a 10:30 a.m. meeting of the cabinet but he did not arrive at the cabinet chamber until 11:15 a.m.

FULTON

TALK WITH WIFE

He had spent the intervening time with Mrs. Fulton, possibly discussing the move.

It was expected he would first tell his cabinet colleagues of his intentions and seek their approval. It was not believed any hitch would develop in this regard.

The possibility did exist that Prime Minister Diefenbaker might prevail on him to stay in the cabinet. Observers here discount this because of an apparent cooling in the relationship between Mr. Fulton and the prime minister in recent months.

A significant indication of this came last August when Mr. Diefenbaker demoted Mr. Fulton from the justice ministry to the public works portfolio.

At the time Mr. Fulton told his constituents in Kamloops that he welcomed the challenge of the public works job and looked forward to great accomplishments. It appeared, however, that he was attempting to put the best light on what had been for him a personal setback.

UNCONCERNED

As the prime minister entered the cabinet meeting this morning he seemed unconcerned about reports concerning Mr. Fulton's move.

Reporters asked Mr. Diefenbaker if he expected to be making a statement about an impending change in the public works cabinet post.

"I don't expect to have anything to say," he said casually. He would not discuss the matter further.

When Mr. Fulton arrived later he began his brief comments by saying he had nothing to do with the speculative reports. The authors had written them "on their own hook," he said.

He then added he knew what he was going to do.

Tolmie Move Recalled

E. Davie Fulton's decision today to leave federal politics and seek the provincial Conservative leadership recalled a period of B.C. political history which is almost an exact parallel.

In November, 1926, Dr. Simon F. Tolmie who had been minister of agriculture in the Meighen government until its defeat in September of that year, was drafted by a convention at Kamloops to be the provincial Conservative leader.

Dr. Tolmie, at the time was the member of the House of Commons for Victoria. Mr. Fulton represents Kamloops.

Two years after taking the leadership Dr. Tolmie led the Conservatives to victory and was in office five years.

LAST TIME

It was the last time British Columbia had a Conservative administration, although members of the party did serve in the Coalition government between 1941 and 1951.

The particular difference with today's situation is that in 1926 there were only Liberals and Conservatives as the main political forces.

The Conservatives of the day were the official opposition.

Today, of course, the Conservatives do not hold a single seat in the Legislature, and the Social Credit and NDP are the chief political forces.

MPs Rise in Wrath Against 'Playboy' Charge

By ALEX YOUNG
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — A spicy furor over the behavior of a Canadian delegation to a NATO parliamentarians conference in Paris erupted in the Commons Wednesday.

It was touched off by Raymond Langlois (SC-Megantic) as he protested violently against a report of the delegation's activities carried by La Presse of Montreal.

He rose on a question of personal privilege to complain that the report of Jean Charpentier, a member of the parliamentary press gallery who accompanied the delegation, was false and insulting.

The Charpentier report, published Tuesday, said a number of the delegates (Langlois was a delegate) were not seen at all during the conference, "spending nights at the Pigalle and sleeping during the day."

A follow-up editorial carried by La Presse Wednesday commented that it appeared the all-party Canadian delegates—15 MPs and senators—had the idea on their arrival in Paris earlier this month that "it's off to Pigalle and the little ladies."

REBUILD WORLD

Langlois said the report and the editorial made the delegates out to be "incompetent, ignorant and women chasers." Deputy Socred leader Real Caouette said the Commons should rebuke Charpentier.

And Liberal Gerard Laniel (Lib-Beauharnois - Salaberry) asked that the matter be placed before the Commons' committee on privileges for disciplinary action.

Even before the storm broke out in the House the vice-chairman of the delegation, Georges Valade (PC-Sainte-Marie) sent a wire to Gerard Pelletier, editor of La Presse, terming the report outrageous and demanding an immediate public apology by the newspaper.

The delegation was holding

'We All Worked From Nine to Six'

EDMONTON (CP) — William Skoreyko, head of the Canadian delegation to the NATO parliamentary conference in Paris, said today that charges of misbehavior against delegation members are "grossly untrue and unfair."

He said he would meet other delegation members on his return to Ottawa to discuss the charges.

In an interview, Mr. Skoreyko Conservative member of Parliament for Edmonton East, said the Ottawa Journal quoting him was "not correct either."

"All the delegates are members of the NATO parliamentary organization who have served on various committees before working themselves into positions where they qualify to attend the conference," he said.

"To become chairman of the NATO executive committee I served in various executive positions during the past three years."

The delegation "was as effective as it could have been," but his opinion was that it should have been headed by a cabinet minister.

"We could only express our points of view, not necessarily the government's," he said.

"Everyone did his work from nine to six. After that I had no control and I don't know what they did."

He said Senator John Hnatyshyn of Saskatchewan, Senator John Connolly of Ottawa, and Liberal MPs Judy La Marsh (Niagara Falls) and Paul Martin (Trinity) all contributed worthwhile speeches.

Pakistan, India Will Talk

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (UPI) — India and Pakistan agreed today to try to solve their differences over Kashmir and other issues so they can live side by side in friendship.

"In a joint communique issued here and in New Delhi, Pakistan President Mohammad Ayub Khan and Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru agreed to renew their efforts in this direction.

In New Delhi, informed sources said the agreement was a result of Anglo-American mediation efforts and was considered a triumph for western diplomacy.

W. Averell Harriman, U.S. assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, and Duncan Sandys, British Commonwealth relations secretary, arrived here from New Delhi Wednesday.

They conferred there with Nehru and here with Ayub.

'GOOD' LABOR YEAR

Strife Denied By Bennett

By FRANK RUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

Premier Bennett today denied B.C. is having a bad year in labor relations, as he and other political leaders plunged anew into a flurry of hostile exchanges.

These are the latest developments:

● Opposition Leader Robert Strachan named union leaders who he said are fostering labor strife;

● Mr. Bennett said the New Democratic Party leader should have named himself as being most responsible for trouble;

● Liberal Leader Ray Perrault said Mr. Strachan spoke up "under duress;

● The leader of B.C.'s biggest union, Jack Moore of the International Woodworkers of America, agreed to meet the premier for man-to-man talks.

The premier said B.C. had had a peaceful labor year but for an "unfortunate" record of illegal strikes.

'VERY GOOD YEAR'

"This has been a very good year," he told reporters as he went to a cabinet meeting with a labor file under his arm.

He opened the file to give some figures.

In the first 10 months of the year there were 339 labor-management disputes and 16 legal strikes.

"That's less than 5 per cent strikes," he said.

Time lost in the legal disputes totals only 8,950 working days, but illegal and wildcat strikes have cost 18,000 working days, the premier said.

A labor department official said total time lost is small compared with B.C.'s worst-ever year, 1952, when 1,400,000 days worth of work were lost.

Mr. Bennett said he will meet Mr. Moore in Victoria "anytime." In accepting the invitation, made Wednesday, Mr. Moore said he planned to come immediately after Christmas.

SHOW GOOD WILL

"I call on leaders of labor and industry to show good will and forebearance," said the premier.

He noted that Mr. Strachan named Orville Braaten and Jerry Lebourdais as labor officials who had caused strife.

But he added: "He left out a few labor leaders who are very active in his party."

One, he said, was Paddy Neale, secretary of Vancouver Labor Council.

Arabella Bell was convicted on a charge of vagrancy today in police court. She pleaded for mercy, as she has done many times in the past, and promised amendment. Magistrate Pemberton sentenced her to 14 days imprisonment and added she would be treated as a rogue and vagabond if brought before him again. He said hard labor would be imposed as well as a prison term.

★ ★ ★

Richard Cheesman, who was thrown from his wagon a few days ago, died today in Royal Hospital. He never recovered from the coma into which he was thrown by the fall and paralysis set in gradually extending over the whole body.

★ ★ ★

The closing in of the sheds on the Hudson's Bay Co.'s wharf was completed today. Sliding doors have been fitted all round so they will act as storehouses during the winter.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Richmond, the police officer who shot himself while leaning on his gun, will be discharged from the hospital, it was learned today.

LONDON — Dennis Farr marched into an art auction with instructions to buy a James Barry painting for London's Tate Gallery.

Farr is assistant keeper at the Tate.

The painting was the 18th century picture of King Lear weeping over the dead body of Cordelia, his daughter.

Bidding started Wednesday night with a low bid by Farr. His bid was quickly topped by a man on the other side of the room.

Farr upped his bid. So did the other man.

But finally, the hammer fell and the Tate representative had the painting for £350 ($1,050).

Then, out of curiosity, Farr decided to find out the name of his opponent in bidding. It turned out to be John Rickett, an art expert.

Rickett revealed that he wanted to buy the painting so he could put it out on permanent loan to, of all places, the Tate Gallery.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—In his weekly news letter to constituents, Governor John Dalton of Missouri listed some causes of death, as reported to the state vital statistics bureau.

They included:

"Don't no. Died without the aid of a physician."

"Died suddenly, nothing serious.

"Deceased died from blood poison, caused by a broken ankle, which is remarkable, as his automobile struck him between the lamp and the radiator."

SANTA MONICA, Calif. — President Kennedy's sister, Patricia Lawford, Wednesday was ordered by a judge to visit injured children in a hospital and survey wrecked automobiles as a penalty for driving without a valid operator's licence.

. . . unique sentence

The sentence was imposed by municipal Judge W. Blair Gibbens who rose to national prominence by sentencing traffic violators to sweep city streets, visit morgues and hospital emergency wards and view traffic crash films.

Her lawyer entered a plea of guilty to the misdemeanor traffic charge in behalf of Mrs. Lawford who was mute during the court hearing. She was cited last Sept. 15 when she was involved in a minor collision here while driving with expired licence.

SEATTLE—World's Fair visitors threw away nearly $65 a day according to records completed Wednesday.

They threw the money into the various pools and fountains on the fair grounds.

Volunteers collected $7,615 from the pools of the Federal Science Pavilion, which will be used for upkeep of the now privately-managed complex.

More than $3,600 from other pools and fountains will be turned over to UNICEF, the United Nations agency that helps sick and hungry children.

GLASGOW—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery spoke up loudly Tuesday in favor of rewriting some hymns.

Speaking at the opening of a hymnal printing plant, Montgomery said:

"We always sing, 'O paradise, O paradise, how I long for thee.'

"But we don't really long for that. We long to stay on here a bit longer. I'm sure you will all agree with that."

Then he added:

"I would like to see some author who might write—'O paradise, O paradise, I have a little shop, and just as long as profits last, here I mean to stop'."

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld.—The earwig, a yellowish insect, has become so common in some parts of this city that living in the areas "is becoming intolerable," a resident complained to city council Wednesday.

W. R. Dawe said in a letter to the council that he has obtained only "slight relief" from the insects by keeping a light burning at both front and rear entrances of his home.

The earwigs first appeared in the city about 20 years ago, and the blame has been fixed on British Columbia wood used in home construction by the St. John's Housing Corporation.

Litter Crackdown Ordered for City

City police commission today ordered a crackdown on litterbugs for the second time this year and Police Chief John Blackstock promised action.

The point was raised by a Chamber of Commerce and City Hall request for vigorous enforcement of the anti-litter bylaw.

Commissioner William Hamilton noted that the commission ordered a crackdown this summer "and so far as I know nobody yet has been taken to court."

Chief Blackstock said he will have to rearrange shift strengths on the force to put more men on the street during the worst litter periods of the day.

"Leave it to me, I'll handle it," he told the commission.

. . . PLAYBOY CHARGE

La Presse to account, said Valade's wire, and had already protested to the executive of the parliamentary press gallery.

"Charpentier was rarely present at the conference," the wire claimed, "and his allegations that the Canadian parliamentarians were not attending to their duties is not in accord with the facts."

COUNTER-CHARGE

In the House, Laniel accused Charpentier himself of having been drunk on the plane returning from the conference.

Speaker Marcel Lambert, after the complaints had been aired, took the complaints action under advisement. He was expected to announce his decision today.

When Caouette called for a rebuke to Charpentier, New Democratic MP Douglas Fisher laughingly commented, "call him (Charpentier) before the bar of the House."

The delegation in question was attending the NATO parliamentarians' conference, an annual meeting attended by representatives of the parliaments of NATO member-countries. The conference ended 10 days ago.

Outside the House two members of the delegation were questioned about the Charpentier reports. Judy La Marsh (Lib.—Niagara Falls) said: "I've never chased a woman in my life." Said Valade: "Charpentier was as drunk as a skunk from Ottawa to Soest."

The delegates are transported each year to the conference by an RCAF plane. It has been the custom for the delegation to take as their guests two members of the Ottawa press gallery—one French speaking and one English speaking—to cover their deliberations on NATO matters.

In his story, Charpentier suggested it might have been better if all delegates were "spending nights at Pigalle and sleeping during the day," instead of only some delegates.

The Canadians who did show up at conference sessions, said the reporter in his story, were pitiful in contrast to delegates from other countries.

One Socred MP, he said, made a two-minute speech in which he exhorted NATO member countries to reform their monetary systems.

And one Conservative, Valade, tried to put on the record a speech on the common market once made by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

The president of the committee, U.S. Senator Jacob Javits, pointed out that the prime minister was not present, Charpentier said. When Valade tried to have the text of the speech inserted in the official report of the committee, an exasperated Sen. Javits told Mr. Valade he could supply copies to anyone who might be interested in the speech.

The chairman of the Canadian delegation, William Skorevko, was quoted as saying MPs got appointed to the delegation for meritorious party service, rather than for their knowledge about NATO.

After the furore, Charpentier said he was standing by his story.

"I have nothing to retract," he declared.

La Presse today published the text of a telegram from Gerard Pelletier, its editor-in-chief, replying to Mr. Valade:

"In a democratic country, a newspaper has no apologies to give when it expresses opinions, even if these opinions offend certain politicians. It also does not have to retract when it publishes information which it has every reason to believe is exact, even if the publication of this information appears to offend certain politicians. Your denial is too vauge and too general to constitute an acceptable counter-proof with regards to facts described by La Presse."

The Ottawa Journal says today the greatest lesson learned by Canada's 15 representatives to the NATO conference was that they could not truly represent their country there.

In a report by Gordon Dewer who attended the meeting, the newspapers says the senators and MPs did not have the background or experience necessary to engage in committee debates or plenary sessions.

The newspaper quotes Mr. Skoreyko as saying the trip was nothing more than a junket with positions on the delegation handed out by parties "as a plum for the members who have done the right things."

Mr. Skoreyko said this may have been true even in his own case and that he may have approached the trip in that light. He said that in his report to the government he would recommend a degree of permency in the Canadian delegation.

'WE WERE UNTUTORED'

"We were up against some of the top men from the United States, United Kingdom, France and Germany," he said. "But we were untutored, lacking the extensive briefs which might have enabled us to deal with these men on the same level."

The United States delegation consisted of prominent politicians such as Senators Estes Kefauver, George Smathers, Homer Capehart and Harry Byrd. Most of them had taken part in the conference for three to seven years.

They were accompanied by a staff of eight top experts and researchers in the fields of foreign relations, economics and defence.

There was no such aid for the Canadian delegation although it was given some help by the Canadian permanent staff at NATO, headed by George Igatieff.

Red Note 'Moderate'

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union, in moderately worded notes to the United States, Britain and France, called formally today for a German peace settlement. It was the first such appeal since the Cuban crisis.

The identical notes asked for "normalization of the situation in West Berlin," but contained neither a time limit nor any proposals.

The notes, published by the official Tass news agency, were in connection with the trial in West Berlin of the West German "association of victims of the Nazi regime," which is accused of being a Communist-front organization.

. . . BENNETT

"And why did he leave his own name out? These in my opinion are persons who are most responsible."

Answered Mr. Strachan: "I shouldn't even answer his silly statements but, in order to educate him, I will."

He said Mr. Neale's statements had been twisted by editorial writers into inflammatory remarks.

As for himself, he said he made a speech at Duncan Monday appealing for reason. "There was nothing inflammatory in that speech."

Mr. Strachan said he had predicted labor trouble on the basis of labor department records and conciliation reports.

If Premier Bennett had taken the trouble to look at the same records, he, too, would have known there was trouble coming.

Mr. Perrault suggested the NDP leader had " a change of heart" in attacking trade unionists and naming two of them.

VIRTUE "OF SORTS"

(Mr. Braaten represents the Pulp and Sulphite Workers, Mr. Lebourdais the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers and both are members of the NDP.)

"While late repentance is counted as a virtue of sorts it is significant that Mr. Strachan, who claims to be the political spokesman for organized labor, has been the last person to speak out against the violence, against the name calling, against threats and intimidation and against those among his NDP lieutenants who have urged the bypassing of the legislature," Mr. Perrault said.

"We call once again for an economic productivity council to bring together labor and management in a climate of unity and amity. We call again for positive measures such as improved conciliation and arbitration procedures to advance the cause of labor-management co-operation."

NEWS ANALYSIS

West Looks Hopefully For Kremlin 'Shifts'

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

Something strange has developed in Kremlin policy since the Cuban crisis. Some of the things going on have world diplomats blinking in astonishment.

Possibly the shock Moscow's leadership sustained when it looked down a nuclear gun barrel in the Caribbean showdown was far deeper than many in the West realized. The results could prove world-shaking.

While Western statesmen are alert to the possibilities of a Communist "sudden shift" which could change the picture overnight, they seem to scent something exciting in the wind. The attitude is one of caution, of wary lookout for traps. But doors probably will be kept open to permit exploitation of whatever may be hopeful in Kremlin policy.

Undoubtedly President Kennedy will discuss such matters with Prime Minister Macmillan when they meet Dec. 19.

COULD AFFECT PEACE

U.S. State Secretary Rusk, in a speech in New York recently, saw the possibility of "unpredictable" events in the offing which could profoundly affect world peace. Was he referring to a sudden inward turn of Soviet policy?

Since the Cuban crisis, Premier Khrushchev has directed much Soviet attention to vast economic problems, involving a far-reaching reorganization of industry and agriculture. Without conquering such problems the Communists can hardly hope to bring the economies of the Soviet Union and its satellites to a condition of invulnerability.

That will take time and some lessening of tension. Might this include Khrushchev to turn his back on the more explosive cold war issues?

West Berlin, potentially the most explosive issue of all, suddenly is being played down by the Soviet press despite four years of Khrushchev threats and pressure against the West's presence there.

Before the Cuban crisis Soviet propaganda called Berlin the world's most dangerous issue.

On the long series of Soviet-U.S. exchanges on the Cuban situation, the Russians at times seemed almost scornfully to ignore Cuba's regime, as if regarding the crisis purely a matter between the two big powers and none of Fidel Castro's business.

All this can cost Moscow heavily in terms of world Communist leadership.

The Kremlin is accused by the Red Chinese, Albanians, North Koreans, North Vietnamese and others of selling out the world movement. Recent satellite party meetings illuminated the deep cleavage.

Minority groups in many of the world's Communist parties are supporting the Chinese policy of reckless support of revolution everywhere. The Italian party, for example, Europe's strongest outside the Soviet Union, is opening its annual congress Sunday on a note of quarrelling between pro-Khrushchev and pro-Chinese elements.

HE WAS NOT 'EMPLOYED' MAGISTRATE RULES

VANCOUVER (CP)—Magistrate Bernard Isman ruled Wednesday that a man may invest his money in building a house for sale and collect unemployment insurance at the same time.

He made this ruling in acquitting Joe Pal of Mission on charges of making 16 false statements to obtain unemployment insurance.

Pal, in his own defence, admitted building the house in Mission while living in Vancouver, but did not consider it employment.

"I would have gone back to my job in a mill if I had been called," he said.

The magistrate said Pal was in the same category as an unemployed person who spent his time buying and selling stocks in the hope of making a gain.

DRIVING CHARGE

Police Officer To Stand Trial

RCMP marine constable charged with dangerous driving following the death of a mother of five in a traffic accident Sept. 15, will be bound over Dec. 3 for trial.

Malcolm J. La Freniere, of the RCMP vessel Victoria, was only occupant of the car which collided with the vehicle in which Mrs. Doris Bendall, 512 Fraser, was a passenger.

She died as a result of injuries received in the crash which occurred on Esquimalt Road at Macaulay about 9:10 p.m.

Preliminary hearing on the dangerous driving charge ended Wednesday in Esquimalt police court, but Const. La Freniere must appear again Dec. 3 for formal commital.

WEAK CASE

Magistrate William Ostler said the case against Const. La Freniere was not strong "by any means." He indicated he would commit him, because the question of "reasonable doubt" did not enter into a preliminary hearing.

"Were I trying the case, it might be different," he said.

Driver of the car in which Mrs. Bendall was a passenger, Miss Elizabeth Harrison, 448 Admirals, and Kenneth Bendall, husband of the deceased, also a passenger in the car, both testified they remembered nothing of any accident.

Miss Harrison said she had picked up Mr. and Mrs. Bendall and was driving them to a restaurant in Victoria about 9 on the evening of the fatal crash.

KNEW NOTHING

She remembered no accident, and was unaware of one until she woke up in the hospital emergency ward.

Mr. Bendall, who was riding in the back seat, also said he didn't know what happened until about 4 a.m. Sept. 16, when he came to in hospital and was told his wife was dead.

Sgt. James Owens of the Esquimalt police testified La Freniere's car was over the double line on the wrong side of the road.

Both cars had been damaged heavily on their right front.

SKIDDED

Sgt. Owens said tire burns on the road made by the Harrison car indicated it had skidded 10 feet before the impact, and then had been pushed back some eight feet by the force of the collision.

There were no skid marks evident made by the La Freniere car, he said.

He also said dust and dirt knocked from under the two cars by the impact were under the La Freniere vehicle.

$8 MILLION SHELLED OUT FOR PROBES

OTTAWA (CP)—There have been 31 royal commissions since Nov. 15, 1948, and they have cost $8,112,033—so far.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said in a return tabled Wednesday for Maurice Rinfret (L—Montreal St. Jacques); and Frank Fane (PC—Vegreville) that 21 royal commissions were appointed by the former Liberal government between 1948 and 1957 at a total cost of $3,818,318 and that 15 have been appointed by his government at a cost so far of $47,293,715. Four of the latter have not yet reported and no costs for them were given.

Most expensive royal commission since 1948 has been the Glassco royal commission on government organization. It has cost $2,677,469 to date and still has to make three of its planned five reports.

. . . FULTON

When he was ready to make a statement, he said, all correspondents would be notified.

HEAVY PRESSURE

The public works minister has been under heavy pressure from B.C. Progressive Conservative party officials to fill the vacant leadership job.

The leadership convention opens next Thursday. Among B.C. Tories who have visited Ottawa to urge Mr. Fulton to accept the draft have been former Tory Leader Deane Finlayson and former Vancouver Burrard MP John Taylor.

They are convinced that if Mr. Fulton becomes their "strong man" they have a chance to overthrow the Social Credit government of Premier W. A. C. Bennett, whose success at the polls has resulted largely from support given him by Conservative-minded voters.

They feel Mr. Fulton could get those votes back into the Tory fold.

LAWYER

Mr. Fulton, 46-year-old Kamloops lawyer, comes from a line of successful B.C. politicians—his grandfather, A. E. B. Davie, and his great-uncle, Theodore Davie, were premiers of B.C. His father, Frederick John Fulton, held cabinet jobs as provincial secretary, attorney-general and minister of lands and works in the McBride government between 1901 and 1909.

Mr. Fulton has held the Kamloops seat in the Commons since 1945. He served in the Second World War overseas with the Seaforth Highlanders and headquarters of the First Canadian Division for five years.

He is married (to the former Patricia Macrae of Winnipeg) and has three daughters.

'It Will Put Us In Office' —Strachan

Davie Fulton will put the New Democratic Party into office as the next B.C. government, opposition leader Robert Strachan predicted today.

"The erosion of the Social Credit vote will certainly make the NDP the next government," he said.

"Irfespective of that, though, I feel that Mr. Fulton will be able to make a contribution to B.C.'s political scene, as he undoubtedly did to the federal scene."

Mr. Strachan said he was pleased that B.C.'s politics could attract a man of Mr. Fulton's calibre.

"I am naturally pleased if the provincial Conservatives can obtain a leader of his calibre, because a resurgence of Conservative strength in B.C. can only come from the present discredited Social Credit party."

Premier Bennett refused any comment on the news about Mr. Fulton, and adopted an attitude of apparent disinterest.

Pope Suffering From Anaemia

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John is suffering from a stomach disorder that the Vatican said today has "provoked a rather intense anaemia." Roman Catholics around the world were asked to pray for his recovery.

A Vatican communique said the anaemia—a blood deficiency—resulted from an aggravation of symptoms of "gastropathy, for which the pontiff has been for some time under necessary medical and dietary treatment."

One medical authority here said the term "gastropathy" could mean a simple stomach disorder or a serious ailment, such as an ulcer.

Pope John was 81 just last Sunday. The medical authority said anaemia could be serious in a man his age—but not necessarily.

Vatican sources reported that prelates here for the ecumenical council were being told informally that they might have to remain in Rome after the council recess Dec. 8.

These reports underlined the apparent seriousness of the Pope's condition. So did the publication of the statement that Roman Catholics had an "obligation of special prayers" for the Pope's speedy recovery.

Car Crushes Woman

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mrs. Constance Pearson, 41, of nearby Deep Cove died Wednesday night when her auto rolled backwards and pinned her in a ditch in the driveway of her home. Mrs. Pearson had just opened the passenger-side door when the auto began rolling, throwing her into the ditch.

SPORT FISHING DROP CAUSE FOR CONCERN

A decline in the quantity of salmon on Vancouver Island is causing concern to Island conservationists and a Victoria Chamber of Commerce committee.

"The coho run has about halved in the past 10 years," said Sam Lane of the chamber's tourist trade group. "If the present trend continues, the sport fishing industry could be wiped out."

Mr. Lane urged that the federal and B.C. governments should be advised of the decline.

The matter was discussed by officials of the Amalgamated Conservation Societies of Vancouver Island and the Chamber's tourist trade group.

BACKED BY COURT IN U.S.

Railroads Start Trimming

CHICAGO (AP) — United States railroads steamed ahead today with plans to eliminate 65,000 so-called featherbed jobs as union leaders sought a way to sidetrack the drastic work cuts.

The carriers were given another green light Wednesday by the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in their fight to eliminate jobs they claim are unneeded and effect a saving of more than $592,000,000 a year.

Leaders of five operating rail unions, representing the men who actually man the trains, studied the Appeals Court decision to map plans for the next move in the dispute which began in 1959.

Three Appeals Court judges upheld an earlier ruling in U.S. district court that a union injunction suit to stop the carriers from effecting the rules changes did not properly state a cause for a permament injunction.

The Appeals judges also ruled that a temporary injunction issued by U.S. district court Judge Joseph Sam Perry in October, preventing the rules changes until the Appeals Court acted, was proper.

Charles Luna, president-elect of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, said his union plans to take the case to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Luna said the five unions—firemen, engineers, trainmen, conductors and switchmen—will meet Monday in Washington to decide on their next joint move.

The Honor of Mr. Green

PREMIER BENNETT'S LATEST attack on Mr. Howard Green was uttered "off-the-record" at a press conference. Naturally, this newspaper's representative did not report those remarks since they were confidential. Less scrupulous correspondents reported them and they were carried by the wires across the nation. Mr. Bennett was treated outrageously by those who broke his confidence, a high crime in journalism. On the other hand, his remarks about Mr. Green, which should never have been published, are also outrageous.

In effect, Mr. Bennett says that Mr. Green is sabotaging Canada's interests in the Columbia River controversy; that the minister of external affairs has advised the United States government to demand a lower price for Columbia power than the provincial government is demanding. Thus, we are asked to believe, Mr. Green is holding up the great international power project to spite Mr. Bennett.

Mr. Green says this is untrue and merely Mr. Bennett's alibi for frustrating the whole scheme. Anyone who knows Mr. Green will believe him. No doubt he has made mistakes, and no doubt his government was unwise to sign the Columbia treaty before it reached final agreement with Mr. Bennett, but Mr. Green's word, we think, is as good as any man's in politics. To say that he would sell out Canada's interests is simply preposterous, a very low blow.

The facts, which Mr. Bennett would like to forget, are that he agreed to the Columbia treaty as written and on this agreement it was signed by Prime Minister Diefenbaker. Then Mr. Bennett changed his mind without notice and refused to accept the plans approved by the Canadian and American governments. He insisted that all the Columbia's downstream power be sold to the United States, whereas the Canadian government's major purpose was to bring this cheap fuel into British Columbia. Hence the present deadlock.

Now Mr. Bennett suggests that some eminent American arbitrate his quarrel with Ottawa. That is to say, the federal government must admit its incapacity to manage Canada's external affairs and hand them over to a foreigner.

Does Mr. Bennett seriously suppose that any Canadian government would do that? Such a notion comes oddly from a premier who accuses Mr. Green of sacrificing Canadian interests to the United States.

The doubtful wisdom of the Columbia treaty in certain respects —the question whether Canada has made the best possible bargain with its neighbor—is another matter to be discussed, in due time, by a committee of Parliament, if the treaty is ever submitted to it. This, too, is increasingly doubtful, Mr. Bennett having successfully brought the power project to the edge of collapse.

But there is no use discussing the Columbia at all without taking the Peace into account. From the beginning Mr. Bennett was determined to dam the northern river as his first priority and if the Columbia seemed likely to get in his way he was prepared to sacrifice it.

This he is doing now by insisting on terms that the federal government regards as unthinkable and has frequently denounced, terms that the United States has not accepted. The Peace scheme is going ahead, contrary to the expectations of the federal government which under-estimated Mr. Bennett's determination. The Columbia scheme is stalled indefinitely, perhaps forever.

This doesn't worry Mr. Bennett in the least for all his crocodile tears. Yet his plans for the Peace remain mysterious.

He has no visible market for the gigantic block of power to be developed in the north, though he obviously expects the United States to buy it at his own price when the United States so far has refused to buy Columbia power at a similar price. Mr. Bennett says he can get all the money he needs, several hundred millions if necessary, from Wall Street, to build the Peace scheme but of this there is no proof and obviously investors will be skeptical at least until the suit surrounding his expropriation of the B.C. Electric is settled.

Where does all this leave us? It leaves us with the Columbia scheme in suspense and the Peace scheme going ahead without known customers or assured finances. It leaves British Columbia consumers compelled to buy Peace power when they could buy downstream Columbia power which, according to the federal government, would be the cheapest in America.

FROM WASHINGTON — By JOSEPH ALSOP

The Sum Is Very Interesting Indeed

THE wires from Moscow, these days, are burdened with amiable "yoo hoos" from the Kremlin ramparts, all aimed at President Kennedy. According to report, the President's private letters from Nikita S. Khrushchev are also full of friendly expression. The current Kremlin line was probably best summed up by a long, obviously authoritative article in the official Izvestia by Nikolai Polyanov. Although Polyanov is the leading Moscow analyst of German affairs, he did not even mention the never-ending Berlin crisis. Instead, he listed other outstanding questions, like the nuclear test question, and added:

Alsop

"Probably the world has never been near such an important turning point as today. The ending the Caribbean crisis could also become the beginning of the end of other disputed problems."

Dropping Hints

In addition to writing to the President, Khrushchev has been dropping the same sort of hint all over Moscow, with his usual elephantine delicacy, both on social occasions and in private talks with Western diplomats. Having caught the muggers before the preparations for the mugging were quite complete, in fact, we are now being invited to take tea with them, with the garrote tactfully hidden under the tea table.

In exchanges between nations, it is almost as foolish to give way to righteous indignation as to expect enduring gratitude. Therefore, the fact that an exceedingly Machiavellian international mugging was attempted in Cuba by the Soviets should not debar this country from exchanges with Moscow that promise a useful result.

The mugging must be borne in mind, however. So must the fact that the super-Machiavellian cover and deception plan led Khrushchev himself to send a grossly, flagrantly untruthful personal message to the President of the United States.

No Precedent

Since the 16th century, there has been nothing between chiefs of state quite like this Khrushchev message that the Soviets would never implace in Cuba weapons capable of "reaching American targets." It was sent after work on the Cuban missile bases had already started. And the junior Soviet diplomat with New Frontier friends, who was charged with carrying the message, was even required by both Khrushchev and Mikoyan to write the very words in his notebook, in order to make them seem more convincing.

It is known that this episode of the false message has left a strong mark on President Kennedy's thinking. This is certainly one of the reasons why there are few signs in the inner group of American policy-makers, of the extremely woolly response to the happy outcome of the Cuban crisis that is rather widespread elsewhere.

As we have just prevented Khrushchev from doing great harm to us, so the woolly argument runs, it is urgent to be very nice to Khrushchev, no doubt as balm for his natural feelings of frustration. When simply stated in this manner, the argument answers itself.

There is also a more sophisticated version of the argument, that we must be nice to Khrushchev, in order to strengthen his hand against the cross, frustrated Stalinists. There is enough in this line of reasoning to justify the attempt that is now going on, to find some formula which can be claimed by the Soviets as a final settlement of the Cuba question, without including the iron-clad "no invasion" pledge that we cannot give without on-site verification in Cuba.

But even this line of reasoning must be taken with a large grain of salt.

In the first place, Khrushchev is still, quite evidently, in solid, unchallenged control of affairs in Moscow. In the second and, more important place, there is no doubt at all that the Moscow hardliners and warhawks are precisely the people who have been most disconcerted and weakened by the Cuban episode.

If the attempted mugging had succeeded, it would have been their triumph. Its failure has disproven their central argument, that the United States is weak of arm and will, and therefore safe to push around.

In this connection, the total cessation of the old hard-line talk about Berlin is highly significant. This talk had been getting uglier and uglier. But since the Cuban crisis there has not been a whisper of it.

Without Illusions

Add up all these considerations, and the result of the sum is very interesting indeed. It is not urgent to be nice to Khrushchev. It is not prudent to forget that message to the President. It is perfectly idiotic to suppose that the Soviets will not gouge our eyes out at Berlin, if and when they ever think they can do so with impunity.

That is one-half of the sum. But the other half of the sum is that the Soviet hardliners have undoubtedly been diminished and discomfited, while the Kremlin's respect for the United States has been proportionally increased.

These last features of the situation strongly favor East-West negotiations about outstanding questions, so long as the negotiations are entered into with no damp-handed eagerness to be "nice," but with a serious purpose to find mutually beneficial solutions.

China's Objectives

By HEDLEY RHODES, from Hong Kong

CHINA'S decision to cease fighting along India's border regions, abrupt as it was, came as no surprise to most observers in Hong Kong. Intelligence experts studying the dispute have long believed that Peking's motives for attacking India were more political than military.

Judging by the relatively small numbers of troops engaged, the nature of the terrain, and the length of supply lines, there seemed to be little likelihood of a full-scale Chinese invasion of India.

As the events of recent years in the Indian frontier area are reconstructed, it appears that purely localized Chinese activities developed into more significant political moves.

Original Interests

Originally, the Chinese were interested in certain border districts for specific reasons. The Ladakh area, for example, is essential to their communications between Tibet and Sinkiang Province. In the North-East they wished to control routes through which they thought Tibetan rebels might be supplied.

The greater momentum of Chinese aggression in the past months, however, is said to stem from various new factors, some related to the international scene. To a large extent, it is thought that the Chinese drive into India is part of the worsening relations between Peking and Moscow. Exponents of this theory explain that the Chinese bitterly resented Russian economic and military aid to India, especially since Soviet assistance to China was greatly reduced last year.

According to the latest statistics, Soviet exports of machinery and industrial installations to China dropped from 453,500,000 roubles in 1960 to 97,300,000 roubles in 1961. On the other hand, Soviet exports of the same equipment to India increased from 22,700,000 roubles in 1960 to 48,500,000 roubles last year.

Posing Choice

The Russians also promised delivery of the latest MiG-21 fighter aircraft to India but reportedly refused to give the Chinese anything better than the older MiG-19 models. By increasing friction with India, the Chinese were believed to be confronting the Russians with the choice between supporting a Communist ally and the Nehru Government, which Peking calls a "stooge of the imperialists."

In the more immediate attacks on India, the Chinese are also thought to be reacting to Mr. Khrushchev's retreat in the Cuban crisis. Unlike Mr. Khrushchev, whom they have obliquely referred to as a "weakling" and an "appeaser," the Chinese are trying to show the Communist bloc and the rest of the world that they are tough.

This desire to display toughness is considered to be partly a reflection of China's internal economic difficulties. By their military action against India, the Chinese are, in effect, telling the world that despite the industrial setbacks and food shortages, they are still a power.

Arousing Spirit

At the same time, it is thought that the Chinese moves were also calculated to arouse the nationalist spirit, particularly among Chinese living abroad. Though he bitterly opposes the Peking regime, Chiang Kai-shek openly supports the Chinese claim to the border areas of Northern India. Thus, Chinese nationalism transcends ideological differences.

A Close Sympathy

THE ROYAL FAMILY OF THE Netherlands has close ties with Canada. For this reason, the death of Queen Mother Wilhelmina at the age of 82 provides an occasion in this country for the expression of more than perfunctory concern and sympathy.

It was to Canada that Wilhelmina's daughter Juliana, now the Queen, came to seek refuge during the war, and it was in Canada that her granddaughter, Princess Margriet, was born. The episode has been happily commemorated by the massive gift of tulips which make a blaze of seasonal color in Ottawa each year.

But the association is still closer, for Canadian troops found ready acceptance and friendship in Holland, and the postwar years have brought thousands of Netherlands emigrants to Canada—many of them to Victoria—where their many excellent qualities have won them a sincere welcome and a respected place in Canadian life.

It has been a trend which Queen Mother Wilhelmina must have fully approved. Her convictions of the basic brotherhood of man and the need for equality and co-operation have long been known, and it will be the memory of these ideals which form her epitaph.

A Decision Needed Soon

THE QUESTION OF THE RE-election of U Thant as secretary-general of the United Nations seems inevitably to become a part of most discussions of international affairs. It has been both the bargaining factor affecting decisions on other matters and the cause of bargaining in other fields.

Soon it must be decided, for the present session of the UN Assembly lasts only until Dec. 21, and the secretary-general's tenure of office (U Thant is filling out the term of the late Dag Hammarskjold in an acting capacity) ends next April.

One of the fundamental arguments has been that raised by Russia—that the secretariat should be a three-man body, representing East, West and uncommitted nations. It was in support of this proposition that Russia attacked Mr. Hammarskjold, at times savagely, and until now has refused to confirm U Thant in more than an acting capacity.

The concept is unacceptable to the West, since it would give the Eastern member of the so-called "troika" secretariat a veto on policies even though they had been agreed on by the Assembly. It would become one more means by which the Soviet Union could block action to which it was not favorable. It would, in the Western view, wreck the United Nations.

It is obvious, of course, that the UN must have a secretariat; there must be a staff and a manager to handle the multitudinous activities of the world organization. A stalemate over appointment therefore cannot be permitted to last too long —and U Thant has indicated that he would not retain the position unless he received a full appointment, rather than a temporary, stop-gap office.

In this connection, few arguments could be raised against his choice. Coming from relative obscurity, he has grasped his responsibilities and carried out his duties in a most admirable manner. Even Russia can find no fault with his handling of the Cuba problem, for instance, and while the Congo still poses many difficulties he has made slow headway with the many complexities he so suddenly inherited.

Now comes word that Russia has changed its stand, finds U Thant acceptable and will agree to his reinstatement for a full five-year term. This, if borne out when the matter is debated tomorrow, will constitute a major step forward.

It will ensure that the work of the United Nations will not falter through lack of a man in charge; and it indicates—perhaps even more importantly in the broad view—that Russia is still pursuing its policy of a more co-operative co-existence, with all that this implies for world peace.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Doubts Fairness

The adoption of a particular position in relation to a matter of public interest is a right to which your newspaper is certainly entitled.

The pro-amalgamation editorials appearing recently in your paper, however, cast serious doubts upon the fairness of your newspaper's position in relation to the matter of the proposed amalgamation of Saanich with Victoria.

For example, your November 24 editorial entitled "The Old vs. the New" makes the statement that those who oppose change in Saanich (amalgamation in this case) are the "old guard" —you mention Mr. Casey and Mr. Passmore to illustrate your point.

This statement is simply not true, Mr. Editor, and since you must have known otherwise, it must be assumed that this was an unworthy endeavor to discredit these men by the use of an odorous cliche — not to mention the thousands of voters who have elected them to office during their many years of service.

The fact of the matter of which again you must surely have been aware, is that Mr. Casey and Mr. Passmore have been and are strongly supported in their opposition to amalgamation by Councillors Cook, Todd and Ostler, all young men of from one to four years' service on the council.

On what grounds do you label any of these men as "old guard"? On what basis do you advise your readers that these men look backward, not forward?

Have you not read your own newspaper's reports of the tremendous commercial developments and the numerous municipal improvements in Saanich during the last four or five years—the new police and fire station, new municipal public works centre, the Quadra Street and Cloverdale Avenue reconstruction and the funding of a quarter-million dollars for a new municipal hall, to mention just a few?

It is disappointing, Mr. Editor, to find the position of our "home paper" so far removed from the facts on such an important issue.

'Picasso Confession'

If, as Tony Emery says in his column of November 10, the "Picasso confession" was a pure fabrication by Giovanni Papini, published in "The Black Book" in 1951, why has there been no repudiation by Picasso himself? Had one been forthcoming, surely Mr. Emery would have quoted it in order to substantiate his story.

It is doubtful if any man of integrity would have allowed such opprobrious statements ot go unchallenged, even if they savored of balderdash.

Not Paul Robeson

May I have the opportunity of correcting an error in the titling of a painting by me in the current exhibition at the Art Gallery and reproduced in your paper of Saturday, Nov. 24, as "Oil Study of Paul Robeson."

It is in no way your error as I am told that it bears this ticket on the wall of the Gallery, unknown to me.

This painting was done by me about 30 years ago from a favorite studio model, Mr. Theocretes Simmons of Jamaican descent.

I have never had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Paul Robeson, or been closer to him than across the footlights when he played "Othello" or gave that wonderful Gershwin program here many years ago.

Innocent By-Standers

From the newspaper article in the Victoria Times of Nov. 23, one might think that my firm, which submitted the lowest tender on the Juvenile Detention Home, may have been involved in the irregularities mentioned by Alderman Griffin re procedure for obtaining quotations from sub-constractors.

I wish to make it quite clear that the confusion and 'mix-up which I am sure was due to honest misunderstanding, lay between the Victoria Builders' Exchange which received the bids from the sub-contractors, and the sub-contractors. All general contractors, including myself, were merely innocent by-standers.

NOTHING in Communist fiction is more remarkable than the recent emergence of Albania to a place in the sun. Here is a country that was considered until recently the Yemen of Europe. Yet now, to judge by Soviet and Chinese press statements, it plays so great a role on the world stage that it must, according to the point of view, be either a leader of civilization or the spearhead of the forces of darkness in global conflicts.

All this must be somewhat confusing to the Albanians. A modest people, they used to claim little of the present although they did assert, on doubtful evidence, that Alexander the Great had been one of their boys.

Convention requires of course, that Mr. Khrushchev should bash the Albanians whenever he is incensed by the behavior of the brotherly Chinese. Similarly, it is accepted practice in Peking to discern in the Albanians all those splendid qualities which are so deplorably lacking in their Soviet comrades. Instead of calling a spade a spade, the good Communist calls it an Albanian.

It must appear to thoughtful, properly brainwashed Albanians a standing wonder that so small a nation has produced two such outstanding leaders as Alexander and Mao Tse-tung.

OTHER HAZARDS

We know far more about the effects of radiation than we do about many other health hazards, because of its usefulness and its importance as a research tool. If we knew as much about air pollution, for instance, we might find ourselves having to employ far more stringent measures than we do even for radiation. I do not mean to suggest that we should relax our present control of radiation exposure, or our attempts to get more information. But we do have to try to see radiation in the perspective of all the other factors in life that can affect our health and well-being. If we do not, we stand to lose a great deal, in a wasteful diversion not only of effort but also of thought.

—L. F. Lamerton, of the staff of Britain's Institute of Cancer Research.

Gerald Waring ...REPORTING

OTTAWA—The thoughtful observer of Conservatism in Action, the record of the Diefenbaker government over the last five years, cannot but be favorably impressed by the changed attitude of the administration towards the sanctity of contract.

In May of 1958 the cabinet authorized the National Gallery to buy a Breughel landscape for $350,000. After the owner of the painting, Baron A. von Polnitz, had accepted the Gallery's offer, the cabinet repudiated the deal. Its reason is inconsequential: it thought it had enough money set aside to pay for the painting, and when it found it didn't, it wouldn't ask Parliament for more. So it chose to dishonor the contract created by offer-and-acceptance.

In June of 1961 the cabinet authorized Agriculture Minister Hamilton to sign a contract with an agency of the Communist Chinese government to sell Peking huge amounts of wheat, flour and barley. On Oct. 22, after the Chinese had launched a military offensive against India, Social Credit leader Thompson asked the government to suspend wheat deliveries to China for the duration of the aggression.

This "boundary dispute," said Prime Minister Diefenbaker, "should not induce us to break an existing contract . . . I am sure the hon. gentleman," he added with a touch of reproof in his voice, "would be the last to ask the Canadian people to break an existing contract."

★ ★ ★

Those observers who put high value on the role of honor and morals in political affairs will also be encouraged by the changed attitude of Mr. Thompson. Whereas a month ago he called for repudiation of a solemn covenant between us and our good trading friends, the Chinese Reds, on Nov. 23 he told the Commons that Social Crediters "are not opposed to selling wheat to Communist China as such."

What he criticizes, he said, is Peking "unscrupulously" diverting some wheat to Albania and East Germany, and the Canadian government not trying to fill non-Communist bellies first.

Statistics, incidentally, show that China bought 72.3 million bushels of Canadian wheat in the last crop year. It diverted 2.2 million bushels to Albania. According to rumor, which is probably correct, it also diverted a small amount to East Germany—but this scarcely merits the adjective "unscrupulous."

In the general debate last Friday, neither Liberal leader Pearson nor NDP leader Douglas criticized sales to China. They are "not only necessary but desirable," Mr. Pearson said, warning only against "overextension of credit" to China.

★ ★ ★

It would, of course, be regrettable if our wheat were filling the bellies of Chinese soldiers killing Indians, as the Danish ambassador to Peking, Mr. Bertelsen, indicated a fortnight ago. But if we were to allow sentimentality to prompt us to dishonor our contract, the Chinese would be angry, and might not pay us the $96 millions they owe on wheat we've sold them.

Then too, the prairie voters who elected 42 Tory MPs last June would be angry, and Mr. Diefenbaker might not win the next election. Indeed, any party that fails to endorse wheat sales to China would be unlikely to win many prairie seats.

Fortunate indeed is a country in which all political parties hold the sanctity of contract in such high regard.

THE LIGHTER SIDE — By DICK WEST

Touche, Diane

WASHINGTON (UPI)—For the past few weeks I have been in sporadic communication with a breathless young woman who operates a gift counselling and shopping service in New York.

West

Actually, I could not swear that she is a breathless young woman because I have never met her personally. But she certainly does write young and breathlessly.

In her first letter, suggesting that I might want to avail myself of her services, she wrote:

"I leap to guarantee that gifts personally selected by the fabulous Diane Mitchell (that's me!) will not only be of interest to your column's clientele but will assure each of your devoted readers from North Carolina to Southern California of a perfect Christmas."

I sent that sentence to a laboratory to determine its octane content and it proved to be 10 per cent more volatile than aviation gasoline.

It was not Diane's literary style that ignited my interest, however. It was her modus operandi. As far as I know, she has the only shopping service based on psychoanalysis.

Her clients are supplied with a "personality check list" on which they are invited to delineate the quirks and character flaws of the person for whom a gift is to be selected.

The check list includes such entires as "extrovert," "sensuous," "aggressive," "intellectual," "taciturn," "cuddly," "placid," "snob," "scary," "arty" and "shy."

Upon seeing that, I decided to test the fabulous Diane's psychological powers. I wrote to her and requested that she suggest a gift for a cuddly snob who is aggressively sensuous.

In a few days she sent me a telegram which said: "Male or female?"

I conceded that round to Diane and composed a second challenge. I told her that the "cuddly snob" was a male and that I also wanted a gift for a female, "a shy extrovert who is intellectually scary."

I am now in receipt of her reply and here is what she recommends:

For the female: "A myna bird who can recite all of the Edgar Allen Poe poems in a Texas twang."

For the male: "A Mae West jacket with a built-in music box which continually plays 'I am waiting for you in the lobby of my heart' when not submerged in water."

These suggestions impressed me as being so desperately appropriate they left me breathless. I can only say "Touche, Diane, and Merry Christmas."

Adventists Start Appeal Saturday

Victoria Seventh-Day Adventist Church will participate in the 59th annual world mission appeal Saturday with house-to-house calls accompanied by recorded Christmas music.

Leading the volunteer workers participating in the four-week city-wide drive is Stan Jewkes, church home missions director.

The goal here is $4,590.

Funds will go toward extending welfare, disaster aid, and educational services at home, as well as a widespread medical, welfare and educational ministry in 195 other countries.

The local church operates a health and welfare centre at 1117 Blanshard St. Persons in need of assistanee or knowing others needing material aid may phone GR 7-2463.

GIVE TIME, MONEY

On a world basis, Adventist workers in 1961 gave 7,593,047 hours in welfare services to 7,179,073 persons. More than $1,545,000 in cash, some 6,706,493 articles of clothing, and 4,192,288 food baskets were contributed. Approximately 50 per cent of this aid was given in North America.

Seventh-day Adventist members themselves contributed more than $99,902,355 last year toward the support of their world church program, in addition to welfare activities.

AMALGAMATION FORUM

For

I am convinced that the major problems of Victoria and Saanich are of equal concern to the residents of both municipalities. Urban renewal, major roads and parks, logical zoning and land use demand our concerted attention before it is too late.

Saanich is today reaping the benefits of the amalgamation of school boards. The cost of our new schools, classroom additions and land purchases is being shared by the four municipalities of Greater Victoria. Alone, Saanich could not have provided these facilities.

A "yes" vote on the referendum would authorize the council of Saanich to negotiate with Victoria and the provincial government for mutually acceptable terms of union.

If these terms then received the support of 60 per cent of the ratepayers in each municipality, amalgamation would follow and we would be better able to cope with our common problems.

STANLEY A. MURPHY,
4650 Vantreight.

For

At the polls next week, Saanich taxpayers will face one of the most vital issues to be presented to them in many years.

Taking a careful and unemotional look at the question, these voters realize that the controversy can be boiled down to this: should voters in Saanich be denied the right to study terms of amalgamation between our municipality and Victoria? The several hundred members of the Saanich Vote Yes Committee on Amalgamation — ranging from those who are strongly in favor of joining with the city, to others who require more information before reaching any conclusions, are united in the opinion that the final decision should be ours. We must see terms of any proposed amalgamation before casting an informed ballot next year.

We want to know what would happen to such major items as: the municipality's debt; garbage collection; major road construction programs, curbs, sewers and street lights. In spite of good progress during the past several years, we contend that Saanich must face up to very large expenditures if we are to reach the standards already well-established in other sections of Greater Victoria. We are not content with bi-weekly garbage collection (a situation which shocks newcomers to the municipality). We look for an end to open ditches, where storm drains should have been installed long ago; and a street-lighting system which is inadequate. It appears to us that recent improvements in the more favored sections of Saanich have not yet caught up with our rapid growth and development. Nor are they likely to, if we continue as a separate municipality, with over 90% of the cost of services charged to residential tax bills alone.

To us the question of local autonomy is no longer valid. Saanich is an integral part of Greater Victoria. Many decisions reached by Victoria City Council now have a direct effect on us, but we have no voice—no influence in shaping decisions reached by the city.

For the above reasons I would strongly urge the electors of Saanich to vote "Yes" on the amalgamation referendum on Dec. 6.

R. W. DENSON,
Chairman, Saanich "Vote Yes" Committee on Amalgamation.

Against

It is difficult to understand Reeve Murphy's motives in wanting to hand Saanich over to Victoria. He seems to be pulling reasons out of a hat. He is wrong if he thinks he can convince the voters that amalgamation will solve all the problems of Saanich, including planning, garbage collection, roads, drains, etc., just by joining with Victoria. Everyone knows that Victoria has many more problems of its own.

We are told to look into the far future for the benefits of amalgamation, but what of the immediate future? No terms of amalgamation can prevent the disaster that will come to Saanich if it is amalgamated with Victoria. The taxes will be higher, and the problems of the downtown area will receive all the attention first. Let's all get out and vote "No" to the referendum.

A. E. DYSART,
451 Walter Street.

Against

Dick Batey, CJVI commentator, in hammering home the desirability (in his opinion) of amalgamation, stressed the savings to be made by having only one executive council for the combined municipalities.

Savings of that kind are too picayune to be considered seriously just now: there is a more vital aspect to this centralization of authority which Saanich taxpayers should consider. If Saanich relinquishes its autonomy, what assurance would the taxpayers have of a genuinely proportionate representation on the council? The mere stipulation that a Saanich representative must reside in that area would guarantee nothing.

Meanwhile, what is the "real" object of amalgamation? Reeve Murphy of Saanich gloomily forecasts "tremendously high development costs" for that municipality. Victoria has reached the point where it must curtail services, borrow, or make a drastic increase in the mill rate.

Reeve Murphy is of the opinion that amalgamation will solve these problems. "A unified approach," he says, "will cost more but be worth it." Splendid! All that is needed is for each to take in the other's washing and "the night will be filled with singing and the cares that infest the day will fold up their tents like the Arabs and as silently fade away!"

ROBT. J. HOWARD,
4158 Carey Road.

From all the fire and smoke, some facts about amalgamation emerge very clearly to me at least. It will cost Saanich residents more money. To say it will save money by avoiding duplication of services is to beg the question. It will still take the same number of police, firemen, office workers and managers to take care of the same, or according to Parkinson's Law, the greater amount of work that would be involved in serving a number of people whether amalgamated or autonomous.

No one was fired when the school boards amalgamated. On the contrary, the number of employees increased at once.

A Vancouver alderman has pointed up an even greater objection. He says Vancouver eldermen cannot grasp the important matters in city management as they are too large and complex. It is therefore left to the various departments to make recommendations, and aldermen in many cases serve merely as rubber stamps. This is definitely not a good way to handle the business of the people. I have yet to see tangible advantages to Saanich in the proposed amalgamation.

M. P. PAINE,
3620 Quadra Street.

Against

Municipal government is the grass roots of responsible public administration. Every citizen, whatever his or her financial, educational or social status, should have as many opportunities as possible to actively participate in deciding the policies and expenditures within the community.

By remaining independent, Saanich residents will remain free of outside pressure groups; and if we secure councillors who have pride and confidence in the ability of their own administration, we may continue to plan and develop our municipality at less cost than by marrying Victoria.

Much has been said regarding the geographical togetherness of Greater Victoria. Let it be known that the City of London, England, the home of democratic government, is actually very small but closely surrounded by nearly one hundred separate municipalities. Like Greater Victoria some Greater London services, such as water and health, are maintained on a metropolitan basis, although the local authorities continue to control the policies which develop the character and improvements in their districts. Thus maximum public interest and participation is secured in civic affairs.

Amalgamation of Saanich with the City of Victoria would, under the Municipal Act, probably force Oak Bay and Esquimalt municipalities to follow suit; thus dealing a further blow at the individualism, without which democracy will never amount to anything.

DENIS H. BEASLEY
4360 Gordon Head Road.

For

The proponents of amalgamation of the municipalities creating a Victoria metropolitan area have a strong point when they claim that the overall cost of government will greatly reduce the tax bill of the ratepayer.

How can we be sure that this is the case?

Some obvious savings are apparent such as the centralizing of all essential services, to wit: law enforcement, fire protection, town planning.

In all adult experience the change will not be popular to those who see their own interests jeopardized. All through history the majority's interests are paramount to the will of a few but only after the minority have demonstrated their standpoint.

By far, the salient point to consider in striving for "peaceful co-existence" is the top bargaining position, attained when discussing municipal affairs with senior governments. This will, for instance, minimize the problems such as the coming transportation hot potato may bring.

The last election which featured the domicile of the chief magistrate will no longer be an election issue.

Victoria's greatest asset is its trees and a view of the sky overhead. Support the long-range view in making this a truly integrated city unhampered by those who will not even begin to piece the jigsaw puzzle together.

ROBERT BAIRD,
1310 May Street.

U.K. Protests Ship Subsidy By Canada

LONDON (CP) — The British government will make further representations to the Canadian government about Canada's subsidies to its Canadian shipbuilding industry.

Vice-Admiral John Hughes-Hallett, parliamentary secretary to the transport ministry, was urged in the House of Commons Wednesday to protest to Canada and Australia because their shipbuilding subsidies hurt Britain's shipbuilding industry.

Hughes-Hallett replied that Australia's subsidies were for strategic reasons and further protests would not be useful. But discussions with the Canadian government would continue.

"The facts of life are that you cannot prevent any other country subsidizing what they regard as an infant industry to get it started," he said.

Labor Favors Centennial Precinct

Unanimous support of Victoria Labor Council is behind the permanent Centennial civic precinct project, secretary-treasurer A. W. Toone said Wednesday.

He said council endorsed the project at its last regular meeting, and urged ratepayers to vote "yes" to authorize borrowing up to $960,000 over a maximum 10 years for the project.

Mr. Toone, who described the three-year plan in detail to members of the council, said it is aimed at "development and revitalization to avert decay in the city centre."

"This is taking the proper progressive view . . . preventing decay of the downtown section," said vice-president E. T. Staley.

"It will pay off divindends to the people of Victoria," he added, pointing out that neglect of the centre of the city can result in a ring of new development around a rotten core, which has happened in other cities.

He congratulated Mr. Toone, who is a labor-endorsed alderman of the city, for his work on city council and his efforts aimed at redevelopment.

It remains for labor unionists to get out and vote for both their candidate and the plebiscite, he said.

Sask. Medicare Reaches Personal Payment Stage

REGINA (CP)—The complex machinery that runs North America's first universal medical care insurance plan slipped into high gear this week as Saskatchewan residents approached Friday's deadline for payment of their personal premiums.

The plan has been in operation since its birth July 1. In subsequent months the province's 950,000 residents financed it almost unconsciously through sales tax revenue. Three-tenths of the five per cent tax went toward cost of medical care plan.

More tangible evidence that it takes money to operate the plan will be the $12 annual premiums for single persons and $24 for families.

With few exceptions all residents are required to become beneficiaries of the scheme by paying the premiums and registering. Medical care premiums are paid in conjunction with premiums for the Saskatchewan Hospital Services Plan, in operation for 17 years.

The penalty for non-payment of the premiums could be a fine on summary conviction. Under the hospital plan non-payment also meant loss of coverage until arrears were paid. However, under a moratorium on hospital plan arrears, Health Minister A. E. Blakeney said residents would not be prevented from obtaining 1963 hospital benefits because of arrears.

Family Premium $72 a Year

SHSP premiums are $24 for single persons and $48 for families. The total medical care-hospital service premium will be $36 for single persons, payable in two equal installments if desired, and $72 for families, payable in four equal portions. A beneficiary also can pay his premiums in one lump sum.

Hospital plan officials, on the basis of past experience, expect few stragglers to be owing their premiums Friday.

Total amount realized from premiums is expected to be about $13,000,000 for operation of the hospital plan and $7,000,000 for operation of the medical care plan. Another $10,800,000 is expected annually from the sales tax for medical care plan operation.

A person who has paid his premium and registered as a beneficiary of the medical care scheme is insured for a host of medical services, including the diagnosis and treatment of illness, surgical procedures including pre- and post-operative services, care of his wife during pregnancy and after delivery, services of specialists when the patient is referred by a physician, administration of anaesthesia and laboratory services provided in doctors offices.

He is not insured for plastic surgery for cosmetic purposes, health examinations for marriage or employment, provision of eye glasses or dental work, artificial limbs, drugs, special duty nurses, ambulance service, or treatment of venereal disease or tuberculosis.

Municipalities Pay for Needy

Payment of premiums for needy persons is handled by the municipalities in which they live.

Doctors can receive payment for services directly from the Medical Care Commission, which administers the plan, through a voluntary health agency such as Medical Services Incorporated, or by billing the patient directly. The patient can seek reimbursement from the commission if he pays the bill.

In all cases the patient can choose his own doctors and the method of payment must be mutually acceptable.

If the doctor bills the Medical Care Commission directly the commission will pay him at the rate of 85 per cent of the fee schedule of the College of Physicians and Surgeons. A patient seeking reimbursement from the commission also is paid at a rate of 85 per cent of the fee schedule.

If both the doctor and the patient are members of a voluntary health agency the bill will go to the agency for payment and the agency then will seek reimbursement from the commission at the 85 per cent rate.

Beneficiaries of the medical care plan are given cards on which is printed a registration number for each member of the family plus personal information about the head of the family.

Card Presented to Doctor

This card is presented at the doctor's office when treatment is required and the number will appear on the doctors's bill.

When the bill arrives at the Medical Care Commission offices, the information on it is transferred in the form of punches to a card that will be fed into a computer. Doctors submitting their bills direct to the commission do so on punch cards that are all ready to be run through the computer.

The computer is programmed to check the cards to see that they have all necessary information and that the information is logical. For example a card that had the date February 30 on it would be rejected and corrected.

The computer then checks to ensure that the amounts of payment demanded on the bill is logical in view of the such factors as illness treated and the number of visits made. The computer prints cheques for the amount of the bills that are accepted.

The Medical Care Commission, now with a staff of 170 persons, processes about 6,000 claims each working day. The commission plans to reach a rate of 8,000.

Psoriasis New "Break Through"

A new lotion, now available in Canadian drug stores, shows great promise as a palliative for the skin condition known as psoriasis. The ingredients, among which is 5-Gloxyldiureid and a Picis Carbonis solution have been brought together in a stainless, pleasant to use, economical lotion. It is marketed under the trade name of Psorantyl. Literature to physicians on request.

MEETINGS with Prime Minister Diefenbaker and External Affairs Minister Green were held by Golda Meir, Israel's foreign ministry, in Ottawa today. On second day of her Canadian visit she was also to attend afternoon session of Commons. Before leaving for Montreal Friday she will have breakfast with Canadian labor leaders and visit Ottawa's mayor, Charlotte Whitton.

Mail Now! It's Later Than You Think

It's later than you think.

Dec. 8 is the deadline for Christmas mail intended for the United States and distant Canadian points such as Newfoundland, the Maritimes and North West Territories.

Dec. 13 is the general out-of-town deadline. Local or Victoria-addressed mail should be posted by Dec. 17.

The deadline has passed for surface mail addressed to world points, but air mail delivery by Dec. 24 is still open.

Air mail closing dates for parcels (letters in brackets) are: Philippines, Dec. 5 (7); Fiji, Dec. 6 (14); Australia, Dec. 6 (12); Japan, Dec. 7 (13); Europe, Dec. 8 (10); Hong Kong, Dec. 9 (13); Britain, Dec. 10 (13); New Zealand, Dec. 11 (13).

Fifth Term Set for Sooke School Trustee

School trustee Mrs. Isabelle Reader, of Colwood, was elected to her fifth two-year term on Sooke school board this week.

Each time has been by acclamation, by which two other vacancies on District 62 board of trustees were filled on Monday, nomination day.

It makes Mrs. Reader second in seniority on the board, topped only by Glen Lake member John Williams.

Stan Hiscock, another incumbent, and newcomer R. E. Fitton, of Sooke, took the other vacancies, the latter created with retirement of John Roberts, also of Sooke.

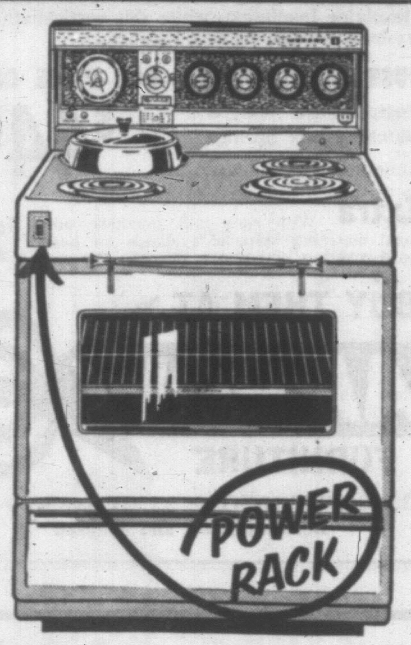
IT'S NEW!! IT'S DIFFERENT!!

MOFFAT FIESTA
ELECTRIC RANGE
New Features!! New Value!!
No Other Range Offers So Much Convenience



MOFFAT 30" RANGE WITH POWER-RACK! Model 30G100W

Easy to cook with, easy to clean! Built to last! Check these features:

- Exclusive POWER-RACK elminates oven-rack handling!
- Luxurious weedtone backresting with full-width fluorescent lighting!
- Easy to clean. Oven door, elements, rings and bowls all lift off in seconds!
- Automatic clock control and electric minute-minder.
- Super king-size oven, rotisserie, barbecue and Kabob unit, all clock controlled.
- Extras: warming drawer, thermo-fryer, deepwell cooker, Roastmeter with buzzer.

NOW ONLY..... $398.88

The POWER-RACK. At the touch of a button, oven door closed, you can raise or lower the oven-rack to the exact height you want it for perfect broiling, searing, browning or baking. No mitts! The oven door is glass; the inside is brightly lit. Extras include a power-driven Rotisserie, and a Roastmeter to buzz you when the roast is ready. And this oven tells no lies—temperature settings are accurate!

CLEANING. Design is functional in the truest sense: clean lines for beauty; simple construction for easiest cleaning; quality workmanship for length of life. Elements, pans, rings and racks lift out handily, fit back snugly. Fiesta owners spend less time cleaning . . . have more time to spend on actual cooking or with their families.

The WARMING SHELF . . . Thermostatically controlled, and conventionally positioned at the back of the cooking surface for maximum useful space. Keeps food and plates warm; ideal for defrosting frozen foods. The four-element cooking surface glides out to give you more work-space than other ranges. Fully automatic controls are within easy arm-level reach. Optional extra: vent hood (2 models) to do away with odors and fumes.

The LAZY SUSAN. Yet one more exclusive Fiesta feature, underneath the cooking areas. Here, in the most convenient spot imaginable, is all the space you could possibly need for storing pots, pans, lids and mitts. There's even a rack for paper towels. Just open the Lazy Susan with a touch of your foot! Unquestionably, the Fiesta is the foremost range designed and made in Canada.

No other range gives you a power-driven oven-rack for perfect broiling or baking. No other range gives you an open warming shelf. No other range gives you a practical Lazy Susan for storing pots and pans on the spot. One of these features alone would make the Fiesta outstanding. All three serve to place the Fiesta in a position of peerless leadership. Look at its beauty, examine its features.

Minors Can Consume Liquor in Own Home

PRINCE ALBERT (CP) — Giving liquor to a minor in Saskatchewan is legal providing the liquor is not illegally consumed and providing it does not contribute to the delinquency of the minor, Attorney-General R. A. Walker said Wednesday in an interview.

He defined a minor as any person under 21 years old. These persons, he said, cannot legally consume liquor anywhere but in their own homes.

The law prohibits minors from entering licensed premises, Dr. Walker said, and the law governing liquor consumption outside the home or licensed premises applies to all residents.

Earlier this month, police chiefs from throughout Saskatchewan met with R. S. Meldrum, deputy attorney-general, to seek a tightening of the Provincial Liquor Act.

Reg. Brooman, Prince Albert police chief, said the chiefs asked that several parts of the act, including the parts dealing with providing liquor to minors, be revised.

Mr. Walker said it has been suggested there should be laws against parents giving liquor to minors. "This could only be enforced if police were to walk into private homes without warrants. A law that states you can't give your child a drink at Christmas or New Year's is ridiculous."

Polluted Streams Big Problem

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Wednesday night the cleaning of Canada's polluted streams and rivers is a "major problem that transcends provincial areas or federal jurisdiction."

Mr. Diefenbaker told the closing banquet of the federal-provincial tourist conference that "If we go on as we have proceeded in the last 25 years, in this nation in 1985 we will have no unpolluted streams."

This, he said, is something "above all else that must be attacked as a national problem."

Liberal Blames Socreds For Intellectual Drought

Social Credit government has caused an intellectual drought which could prove disastrous to B.C.'s economic future, a man trying to win a seat at next January's legislative session said here Wednesday night.

"Social Credit offers us little thinking when we are confronted with big problems," said Dr. Pat McGeer, Liberal candidate in the Vancouver Point Grey by-election to be held Dec. 17.

Dr. McGeer, 35-year-old University of B.C. neurologist, was addressing the annual meeting of the Oak Bay Liberal Association at Oak Bay Municipal Hall.

"The present government does not understand the necessities of these times. They are failing to develop our vital human resources while they pour money into projects that leave many of us in doubt regarding their economic feasibility," he said.

RELUCTANT

He said the Socreds are reluctant to invest in the minds of the people and won't recognize anything but political achievement.

"Our future depends upon ending the intellectual drought imposed upon the province by the present government."

While he criticized the government for lack of aid to universities and schools, original ideas to stimulate new industries and create new skills, Dr. McGeer also laid part of the blame on big business.

It is "a cowardly lion" in providing investment capital, he said.

He added in an interview that big business was "dull, unimaginitive and stodgy" and backward technically. It was not turning enough of its profits back into research and development of better products.

He told the Oak Bay meeting that the Socreds had helped create reluctance on the part of investors by the method of its B.C. Electric takeover.

One of his suggestions for co-operation by government and business was development of industrial projects around Victoria and Vancouver universities.

This is being done at Harvard, California and other U.S. universities. "Could not the same happen in Victoria or Vancouver?

"I can assure you it will not as long as the university purse strings are held by anti-educational forces.

"It seems to me inconceivable that a wealthy province such as B.C. should find itself financing higher education in a manner which places us near the bottom in all of North America."

Development of a more diversified economy offering more jobs depends upon industrial know-how plus "a heavy wager on human genius," said Dr. McGeer.

He said Liberals would provide financing "second to none in this nation" for universities and vocational schools; business incentives, aid for research and a province-wide economic development commission.

Consulates Closed

HONG KONG (AP) — The last two Soviet consulates in Communist China, in Urumchi and in Kuldja, have been closed, the South China Morning Post reported today. The British-owned daily said its information came from an arrival from Peking. It was not known whether the Soviet consulates were closed voluntarily or by order of the Chinese Communist authorities.

BETWEEN WHITE HOUSE-KREMLIN

Fast Radio Link Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States is trying to establish a radio teleprinter link with its embassy in Moscow to speed private communications between the White House and the Kremlin, it was learned today.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said that existing means of private communication could not have handled the Cuban crisis exchanges between President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

When the chips were down, Rusk said in a television interview last night, both Kennedy and Khrushchev turned to public communication as the fastest.

But since then, it was learned, the U.S. state department has approached several foreign governments with a request for the right to operate radio transmitters in American embassies in the capitals of those countries.

CADILLACS AND SCHOONERS

SIU Leaders' Jaunt Described at Probe

By ROBERT RICE

OTTAWA (CP) — President Hal C. Banks of the Seafarers' International Union of Canada (Ind.) made an all-expenses-paid trip to Puerto Rico in 1960 to rig a sailing schooner and fight the Teamsters' union.

The four-month trip by Mr. Banks and two union aides was admitted by Leonard J. McLaughlin, SIU executive vice-president, under cross-examination Wednesday before Mr. Justice T. G. Norris' federal investigation of labor strife on the Great Lakes.

Mr. McLaughlin insisted that he did not know how much the Puerto Rican sojourn cost the SIU — although commission counsel Charles Dubin suggested the "expedition" must have been a "pretty expensive proposition."

The story of the Puerto Rican yacht owned by the SIU of North America as a training ship for Puerto Rican youth — was told at the 56th session of the federal inquiry.

SHIP CADILLAC

Mr. Dubin said SIU records — checked by commission investigators in recent weeks — show that a 1960 Cadillac was shipped from Canada to Mr. Banks in Puerto Rico.

He asked why Mr. Banks needed a luxury car when he could easily have rented an automobile on the Caribbean island.

Mr. McLaughlin said he didn't know the details of the Cadillac incident, but would check and find out.

On another issue, Mr. McLaughlin explained why he received two $2,000 cheques earlier this year from the SIU for "organizing" expenses.

He said he got the cheques, endorsed them and turned them over to Gilbert Gauthier, head of the SIU's marine engineer's division. Mr. Gauthier turned the money over to an organizer for the Marine Engineer's Beneficial Association, an American union that had tried unsuccessfully to break into the Canadian labor field in 1961.

CAN'T EXPLAIN

Mr. McLaughlin agreed that the transaction was not businesslike, but could not explain why the money was handed to MEBA in such a complex, roundabout way.

After almost two weeks on the witness box, Mr. McLaughlin was excused Wednesday, subject to recall for further cross-examination when certain SIU records are produced before the federal inquiry.

He was the 120th witness to give evidence before the one-man commission of inquiry in its 56 days of public session since the investigation began in mid-August. More than 2,000,000 words of testimony have gone into the formal record, with more than 530 exhibits on file.

RECREATION CENTRE IN CIVIC PRECINCT DESCRIBED

Old Folks Told What's Good for Them

About 400 of Victoria's senior citizens were told Wednesday what was good for them and only one of them objected.

The occasion was the presentation by Aldermen Mrs. Lily Wilson and A. W. Toone of the city's plan for the permanent centennial project — a landscaped square that would renew the deteriorating area about City Hall.

The main interest of the oldsters was in the plans for a senior citizens' recreation centre. Judging by their applause they generally endorsed the scheme as it is now proposed.

Only P. H. Davey, 76-year-old president of No. 3 Aged Pensioners' Association, objected that the new centre will be too small.

But when the chairman of the meeting in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Kirk Hall told him he had talked long enough he was drowned out in the applause that greeted the chairman's remark.

Taxes Will Rise With or Without Amalgamation

Saanich taxes will rise with or without amalgamation with Victoria, anti-amalgamationist Leslie Passmore told 60 people in Lake Hill Women's Institute Hall Wednesday night.

The former councillor and candidate in Dec. 6 municipal elections was one of nine speakers who took the platform in a campaign meeting sponsored by Saanich and Elk Lake Voters' Associations.

Reeve Stanley Murphy, a pro-amalgamation campaigner but not a candidate this year, corroborated that under amalgamation at least, Saanich taxes would rise.

"I do think taxes will rise . . . they will be all that the traffic will bear at any time," he said, adding, "but let's get something for them."

PART OF DUTY

He explained that his stand for amalgamation was based on part of his statutory duty as reeve, to make recommendations to council for the "peace, order and good government of the municipality."

The reeve said it was time Saanich got its roads and major parks in shape for the future, and "what we will have in 20 years rests with you."

Mr. Passmore noted a major additional burden for Saanich residents under amalgamation would be the cost of sewerage extension.

The provincial health department would order that Victoria — including Saanich — cease dumping raw sewage into the sea as is now done.

PLANTS NEEDED

He said there would have to be treatment plants as Saanich has undertaken in the Gordon Point area, and Saanich residents would have to help pay the heavy cost.

Donald C. Mathison said he takes no adamant stand on amalgamation until he sees the terms, and that only on the terms will the people be asked to make the final decision.

The candidate said:

"We'll never know if amalgamation is good or bad until we see the facts laid out before us."

He recommended a committee of municipal representatives, chartered accountants and a qualified mediator to examine the question first.

WASTE OF MONEY

Referendums such as the question "Do you favor amalgamation with the city of Victoria?" are frustrating and a waste of money, he said.

Incumbent Robert Chard said the Deutsch report makes a prima facie case for amalgamation, but an investigation is not precipitous: another vote of the electorate would be needed if a recommendation was founded.

C. H. MacMillan said he opposes amalgamation and scattered development of the municipality, and that a new municipal hall is needed.

"Amalgamationists have mounted a frenzied campaign," and "people are practically being brain-washed over it," complained incumbent Harold Todd.

BETTER POSITION

He outlined a number of aspects of amalgamation that "the amalgamationists don't tell you," from predicted higher city taxes, increasing city responsibilities and the relative better borrowing position of Saanich to the fact that Victoria levies a rate of 55 mills compared with 41 in Saanich.

Coun. Gregory Cook, against amalgamation, took the position that at least discussion should be on equal terms, that Saanich should not be considered as a junior partner to the city.

CAN'T PRODUCE

Incumbent Joseph Casey, also anti-amalgamation, noted the people attending the meeting were "too old to believe in Santa Claus," that the people advocating amalgamation can't produce "pie in the sky."

"These Moses that are going to lead us out of the wilderness that they think we're in; they're not going to lead us anywhere. They don't have to tell you how to vote no," Coun. Casey said.

Last candidate, Lionel Speller, could not be present due to illness of his wife.

Ambridge Heads Heart Foundation

QUEBEC (CP)—The Canadian Heart Foundation chose Wednesday industrialist Douglas White Ambridge, 64, as president to succeed Rt.-Hon. Louis St. Laurent.

The new president retires Feb. 1 as president and general manager of Abitibi Power and Paper Company Limited.

Other officers include honorary secretary Arthur Fouks, Vancouver; honorary treasurer A. D. Atkins, Calgary, and D. E. Kilgour, Winnipeg, a vice-president.

COCOA BEANS SEIZED

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An estimated $18,000,000 worth of contaminated cocoa beans was seized here Wednesday by U.S. deputy marshals. J. Shafie Creamer, assistant U.S. attorney, said the condition of the beans from Brazil, Nigeria and elsewhere in Africa was "the worst we have seen." A Food and Drug Administration agent said the beans were contaminated by larvae and moths.

$1 Million Drug Cache Seized

MONTREAL (CP)—A cache of uncut narcotics valued at more than $1,000,000 in the underworld market, was seized by the RCMP in a series of city-wide, daylight raids Wednesday.

Four men were arrested in the raids, which also netted three unregistered firearms and a quantity of counterfeit money with a face value of between $6,000 and $8,000.

Starting at 7 a.m., RCMP officers fanned out over the Metropolitan Montreal area to raid cafes, warehouses, apartments, rooming houses and private homes.

One squad raiding a warehouse discovered a trunk containing slightly more than 91 pounds of codeine phosphate, a narcotic.

Police identified those arrested, all Montrealers, as Real Boyte, 27; Fernand Desjardins, 37; William Cureck, no age given; and Aime Aube, 28.

The RCMP spokesman said the narcotics seized had a wholesale value of the legal market of about $35,000. After adulteration, it would bring more than $1,000,000 in the underworld, depending on the "going price" for drugs.

Police said they believe the codeine phosphate is part of a shipment taken from P. E. Cornell Company — a wholesale drug firm — in an armed robbery last Aug. 3.

Disease Feared at Sons' Camp

(Times News Services)

HOPE — A medical health officer warned Wednesday that frozen water and sewer pipes would force Sons of Freedom Doukhobors out of their camp and added that there is danger of disease and fire.

Dr. A. S. Arniel said the camp opened to the sect by the Seventh Day Adventists was "never intended for winter accommodation."

He said water pipes will soon freeze and septic tanks and sewage disposal equipment already is inadequate for the 1,000 or so occupants.

He had informed fire officials about the hazard at the camp where buildings and tents are heated by wood stoves.

A number of elderly Freedomites lived in an unheated section of a bake house and used small camp stoves for heat.

"It's a great hazard and I've warned them but they say the old folks won't move because they don't want to be split up. They could die there."

Meanwhile, Dr. Arniel, director of the upper Frazer Valley health unit, received authority to order hospital treatment for 72-year-old Mrs. Tina Rezansoff, a Freedomite who had gone without food for 16 days.

DISPUTE SETTLED

VANCOUVER — Negotiators got rid of a long standing obstacle Wednesday and agreed on a proposal to settle a dispute within the coastal towboat industry.

A spokesman for the National Association of Marine Engineers of Canada (CLC) said company officials have agreed to protect the jobs of 90 deckhands threatened by recent changes in steamship inspection regulations.

The two sides had been negotiating for a year and the union voted last week to set a strike date for the 300 tugboat engineers involved. The question of wage increases had previously been settled.

CAUSE UNKNOWN

VANCOUVER (CP) — A coroner's inquest Wednesday night failed to shed any light on the cause of a crash that killed three persons in nearby Surrey Nov. 18.

The jury found pilot John Minor, 36, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Dick, 42, and her granddaughter Roberta Britain, 3, of Victoria, died accidentally.

Jury members were unable to say why the light plane crashed.

SEEKS INJUNCTION

VANCOUVER — Contractor Tom Goode says he has instructed his lawyer to apply for a court injunction to halt mystery picketing of a project he is working on.

Two pickets visited the apartment block Tuesday and four men working there quit work.

One picket turned up Wednesday. He declined to give his name, but said he went to the union hall in the morning and was given $6 to picket the apartment project.

He declined to give his union affiliation, but admitted to the contractor and a reporter he did not know why he was sent to picket the project.

The pickets have been carrying signs saying: "Non-union men are working on this job."

Mr. Goode said he does not know of any non-union men working on the project. Former Liberal MP for Burnaby-Richmond, he said he suspects politics are involved in the dispute.

He charged two union officials recently threatened to harass him politically. He didn't name them.

INJUNCTION GRANTED

VANCOUVER — Mr. Justice T. W. Brown Wednesday granted Zellers Limited an injunction restraining demonstrations in the firm's department store at nearby Whalley.

The supreme court justice, however, rejected a request that the injunction apply to the firm's other stores in the province.

Mr. Justice Brown said in granting the injunction too many injunctions were being granted in labor matters.

Zellers applied for the order to end nuisance tactics used at the store which has employed non-union employees following a strike by the Wholesale Clerk's Union.

'Economic Crimes'

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Eight Cubans have been sentenced to prison terms ranging from five to 30 days for "economic crimes," Havana radio said today. Offences included slaughtering livestock without permission, peddling goods on the streets and possessing more than 25 pounds of farm products.

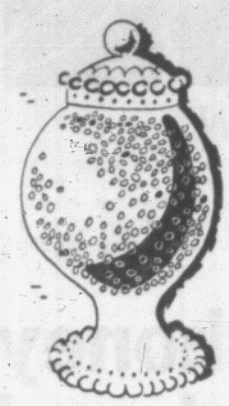
How Many Beans...

Perhaps you, too, stood outside a store window in your youth and tried to estimate the number of beans in a display.



Guessing the circulation of a newspaper was once quite a game for advertisers, too.

But the Audit Bureau of Circulations took all the chance out of this game. A.B.C. auditors don't stand outside and estimate—they come inside the publisher's office and count.

When the auditor is finished and his precise findings published, well there's just no room for guessing.

Cramps Kill Kidd's Gamble In Rugged Games' Marathon

Hal Malone
LOOKS AT SPORTS

If you read the newspapers carefully you will have by now the impression that last Saturday was "goat day" for two Canadian athletes.

On the plains of this country a very good football player tried a tactic which failed.

"Harvey Wylie," blared headlines, "today put Winnipeg Blue Bombers into the Grey Cup."

Mr. Wylie's sin was to kick a football off the side of his foot. When it went awry Farrell Funston descended on it and Calgary's Grey Cup dreams sank into the Red River.

Under nature's sun lamp at Perth, a sensitive and superb runner, Harry Winston Jerome, had the effrontery to lose a race. That he tore a muscle in his left thigh seemed no concern of people who pitched lances at his pelt.

Two Victorians Felt the Effect

One would gather, listening to the flannel mouths, that losing at Perth rocked up there with the Bay of Pigs fiasco as an example of what civilization has come to.

Though the Wylie and Jerome incidents happened 8,000 miles apart, they had a profound effect on two Victoria people who live less than 18 miles apart.

Reports of Jerome's "collapse" left Mrs. M. C. Sumpton, 10849 Derrick, Deep Cove, "sick at the stomach." She knows something about Harry Jerome. She should. She is his grandmother.

Two months ago she had phoned this essayist in distress and anguish over an article on her grandson which appeared in a national weekly publication. The story dealt with Jerome's "failure" at Rome.

He had pulled up with a leg injury, attested to by a doctor, but "overlooked" by the Jerome-is-a-bum club.

This week, a rather distraught Mrs. Sumpton said: "Some people feel badly about Harry not winning for Canada. I wonder why those same people can't have a feeling for Harry. Even if he was expected to win, wouldn't getting beaten merit some consideration for him, apart, that is, from the injury he suffered in the process?"

She had a point . . . and one last remark: "You tell him when you see him his grandmother doesn't believe he quit."

The Wylie Family Plays the Game (s)

Then there was William Wylie, now of 1620 Elm, MP for Medicine Hat for 12 years. Mr. Wylie is retired but he packs a punch on the telephone.

"You wrote," he said, "as if you were surprised that my nephew Harvey threw that touchdown pass." (This was in the first game of the WFC playoffs which the Stampeders won, courtesy of "passer" Wylie).

"I thought you should know that when Harvey played at Montana State he set a bundle of records—playing OFFENCE."

Uncle Bill filled in the biographical details on his nephew . . . one of six children, five of them boys . . . "four of the boys went to U.S. colleges on athletic scholarships covering football, hockey and track." The other—and oldest brother—Bob is and has been one of Alberta's best on the golf course. The only girl, Artoria, was a shining light in Alberta track circles.

'When You Fall the Valley Is Deep'

Before last Saturday Harvey Wylie was recognized as one of the best defensive men in football. This year he was the west's nominee for the Schenley award as the best Canadian. Twenty-four hours ago the selectors made it official. Harvey Wylie, they said, was the best Canadian in 1962.

Wylie and Jerome hit many peaks of excellence as Canadian athletes. Without Wylie Calgary might never have quarrelled with Winnipeg. Jerome? He shares the world's record for 100 yards. Twice he's run it in 9.2.

Can't they have a bad day? Can't Kennedy commit a boo-boo. Is man perfect?

Ted Hunt, the B.C. boy who excels in rugger, football, lacrosse and common sense, said it best of all . . .

"When you fall from a peak the valley is deep . . . far deeper than if you are mediocre and never achieve the heights of greatness."

TRIPLE TROUBLE FOR REDMEN

Coach Ron Mahoney (left) of Winnipeg's West End Rams discusses strategy with stars he expects will give Nanaimo Redmen triple dose of trouble in Little Grey Cup football game Friday night at Royal Athletic Park. Absorbing Mahoney's words are (left to right) quarterback Don Brewster, fullback Jim Grant and halfback Ray Mackus, who was voted most valuable player this season in Manitoba Juvenile Football League and shared scoring title with Grant. Redmen and Rams tangle in third annual cup game at 8:30 p.m. (Times photo by Bill Halkett).

No Wonder Rams' Mahoney Doesn't Fear Big Redmen!

By DOUG PEDEN

When Ron Mahoney says he isn't worried about reports on the size of the muscular young men who work along the line for Nanaimo Redmen, he makes you believe it.

"We had the smallest club in our league this season," he says. "We're used to playing bigger clubs. I don't think we'll get pushed around."

When Mahoney says "we" he refers to Winnipeg's West End Rams, who arrived in Victoria Wednesday for a Friday night date at Royal Athletic Park with the Redmen, kings of Vancouver Island's juvenile football realm.

As champions of the Manitoba Juvenile Football League, Rams earned the berth against the Island monarchs in the third annual battle for the "little Grey Cup," which will be at stake when the two clubs lock horns at 8:30 Friday.

Mahoney is no stranger to Victoria. He brought the Rams out here in 1960 for the first cup game and managed to squeeze out a 7-6 triumph over an Island all-star club, getting the winning point with only 40 seconds remaining.

A 'REAL SOCKER'

"I'll never forget that game," he commented before chasing Rams through a loosening-up drill, Wednesday afternoon at Macdonald Park. "It was a real socker."

Fort Garry Lions had an easier time last year, making it two straight for Manitoba by trimming Oak Bay Farmers.

Veteran of the coaching wars at the tender age of 25, the dark-haired Mahoney has chalked up an impressive record in his seven seasons as head man of the Rams. In each of those seven years, the West End crew has reached the Manitoba final, twice winning the title.

"This," says Ron, "is the best all-around club we've ever had. This is a team with no second-stringers. Anybody can go in and do a good job."

The record of the 1962 edition of the Rams supports Mahoney's words. On their way to the crown, they beat Fort Garry in four straight league games and then slapped the icing on their gridiron cake by clobbering the 1961 Little Grey Cup champs 39-8 in the provincial final.

SHARED CROWN

In 13 games, Mahoney's Maulers scored 390 points, yielded only 40, and ended up with seven of the league's eight top scorers.

Brightest of the bunch was halfback Ray Mackus, winner of the Manitoba League's most-valuable-player award. At that, Mackus was forced to share the scoring title with another Ram, fullback Jim Grant.

Mahoney, quick to say he has several other backs who can pack the ball with authority, has both talent and depth at the important quarterback spot. Expected to start Friday is passing whiz Don Brewster, a 19-year-old six-footer who is also a deceptive ball-handler and a fair runner.

'HERE TO WIN'

Also on hand for signal-calling duties is stocky Russ Meckling, 18, who favors a running game, which accounted for slightly more than half of the West End touchdowns this year.

Like all solid football clubs, Rams have a lot of strength in the line although the defensive unit averages only 180 pounds.

"We don't have a big club," says Mahoney, who sent his charges through another light drill this morning and planned a short scrimmage late this afternoon. "But the boys in the line know how to do their jobs and they work together.

"We have respect for the Redmen. I hear they're big but we don't expect to get scalped. We're out here to win this thing."

Toronto Boy Gives Up After 22 Torrid Miles

PERTH, Australia (CP)—Bruce Kidd gambled today and lost.

The amazing 19-year-old Toronto distance runner, who convinced his coach he had a better chance to win his second gold medal of the British Empire Games by running in his first marathon than in the more familiar mile, had to be pulled out of the gruelling test after 22¼ miles when he suffered cramps in his side.

Brian Kilby, a 24-year-old British draughtsman, won the race of slightly more than 26 miles with the fastest marathon in B.E. Games history — two hours, 21 minutes and 17 seconds.

Dave Power of Australia was second in 2:22:15.4 and another Australian, Rod Bonella, third in 2:24:07.0. Veteran Gordie Dickson of Hamilton, Ont., finished 12th in 2:44:17.

Although Kilby's clocking was the best for the Games, no records are officially recognized for the event because of variations of terrain at different venues.

"I quit!" Kidd snapped as he piled into a car carrying his coach, Fred Foot of Toronto, who was cruising alongside anxiously watching for any sign that he was faltering.

"Come on Bruce," Foot had said moments before. "Slow down to a walk and cool out. You're coming in."

Kidd graciously accepted the compliments of reporters clustered around him as he ducked into the car. During the ride back to the stadium, he said his first marathon was fun. "It was really enjoyable."

He suffered no ill effects except stiffness in his legs.

Dickson, who finished about three miles behind Kilby, said he had no excuse. "I just didn't run well."

The Calgary-born veteran who had an achilles tendon operation about a year ago said: "I couldn't relax and run properly. The leg was okay in practice during the hot weather the last week or so. But when the weather cooled today the leg wouldn't loosen. But I must repeat that I have no excuse."

Kidd was believed to be the youngest to attempt the painful, foot-slogging route over unyielding concrete roads.

Nothing Like It In 53 Years

He convinced Foot that he could win the marathon and decided to shoot the works in the longer distance instead of the mile. Kidd, with a best time of 4:01.4, had wanted to be the first Canadian to break the four-minute barrier in the mile, but he couldn't do it here and still have his choice of events. The qualifying heats of the mile got under way this afternoon.

"In all my 53 years connection with sport I've never heard of a 19-year-old boy competing in a big-time marathon," Jack Davies, commandant of the Canadian team, said shortly before the race started in 64-degree weather and rain that snapped a heat wave.

The previous fastest marathon time was Power's 2:22:45.6 in the 1958 Games at Cardiff, Wales.

Only 12 of the original field of 20 finished the race. Foot said later Kidd was in good condition.

Kidd, who won the six miles Saturday and was third in the three miles Monday, had withdrawn from the mile—in which preliminary heats were run this morning—in order to enter the marathon.

Today's track and field events included eight other finals.

Dave Steen of Burnaby, B.C., a six-foot-four giant weighing 216 pounds, made the best heave of his career—58 feet, 8¾ inches—to take the bronze medal in the men's shot-put.

Pat Dobie of Saskatoon, 23, a pretty brunette, picked up Canada's first points in women's track and field when she finished fifth in the javelin throw.

Miss Dobie, who also is entered in the women's discus, exceeded her own best-ever performance in competition with a throw of 145 feet, 9½ inches, but was nearly 20 feet behind the winner, an English girl.

Seraphino Antao of Kenya and Dorothy Hyman of England swept both the men's and women's sprints at the Games.

Antao, who had beaten Vancouver's Harry Jerome in the 100-yard dash final last Saturday, took the 220 today in 21.1 seconds. He won by about three yards over David Jones of England and John Du Freeze of Rhodesia, the silver and gold medallists respectively.

Antao 'Missed' Harry Jerome

Jerome was forced to withdraw from the 220 trials earlier this week because of a leg injury. Antao commented today that he would have been happier if Jerome had been in the final "because he can always give very tough competition."

Miss Hyman, a miner's daughter, sped to a 23.8-second victory in the women's 220, four yards ahead of Australians Jovee Bennett and Margaret Burvill. The world record-holder in the distance, Betty Cuthbert of Australia, could do no better than fifth in the six-woman field.

Martyn Lucking of England won the men's shot-put with a heave of 59 feet, four inches and smashed the Games mark of 57-8 set by Arthur Rowe of England in 1958. Mike Lindsay, also of England, took the second-place silver with a toss of 59-2¼. Lindsay and Steen also were under the games record.

The men's hop, step and jump went to Ian Tomlinson of Australia, who leaped 53 feet, two inches—a Games record bettering his own standard of 51-7½ set in 1958. Another Australian, John Baguley, was the silver medallist (52-9¼) and Fred Alson took the bronze (52-7).

Jamaica's George Kerr won the men's 440-yard final in 46.7 seconds, with England's Robbie Brightwell and Amos Omolu of Uganda second and third respectively in a close finish.

Bill Crothers of Toronto, the only Canadian to survive the preliminary 440 heats, was eliminated in the semi-final earlier today. Crothers finished fifth in 48.2 in the heat Kerr won in 46.9.

In the weightlifting events, Cosford White of Montreal won Canada's third silver medal in the middle heavyweight class. The 27-year-old Barbados native hoisted a total of 900 pounds to finish second to world record-holder Louis Martin of England, who lifted a total of 1,035 pounds in the snatch, press and jerk. This was 22¾ pounds short of his world record but well above the previous Games record of 890 pounds that White also broke.

Parfitt Star Of MCC Win

TOOWOOMBA, Australia (Reuters)—An unbeaten innings of 128 in 120 minutes by Peter Parfitt helped the touring Marylebone cricket team beat Queensland Country XI by seven wickets in their one-day match here Wednesday.

Parfitt reached his century with 16 fours to his credit and ended the match with two sixes.

With the MCC scoring at the rate of 100 an hour, the batting looked good in the team's last match before the first test against Australia, which starts Friday, but the bowling was disappointing. In nearly 3½ hours, the MCC bowlers claimed only two wickets.

The Country XI later ran up 202 for four declared in as many minutes.

Tenpinners Plan Changes In Rules

Proposed changes in constitution, bylaws and tournament rules will be discussed by the annual meeting of the board of directors (league representatives) of the Victoria Tenpin Bowling Association.

Voting will be by league representatives, but all bowlers are invited to attend the session, scheduled for 9:15 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 5, at the Ingraham Hotel.

Also up for discussion will be a plan to switch the date of the annual meeting to April or May of each year.

Canadians Lose

GALASHIELS, Scotland (Reuters)—North and South England beat the visiting Canadian rugby team 24-12 here Wednesday.

The Canadians fought hard to the end, scoring half their points in the last few minutes.

Barrie Burnham of Vancouver gave the Canadian side an early lead with a penalty goal, but Chisholm scored a try and converted it himself to put the home team ahead.

Mounties Get the Axe As Minors Revamped

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—The International Baseball League and Pacific Coast League absorbed the old American Association and will operate as 10-team leagues starting in 1963, minor league chieftain George Trautman announced today.

Under the absorption announced by Trautman, the American Association's five remaining clubs will be merged with the two other triple A leagues.

Vancouver Mounties of the PCL, which lost a major league working agreement, was dropped from the new lineup as three American Association clubs — Denver, Dallas-Fort Worth and Oklahoma City—were added. Continuing in the PCL will be San Diego, Tacoma, Seattle, Hawaii, Portland, Ore., Spokane and Salt Lake City.

The International, which already had eight teams, will add Indianapolis and Little Rock. The other teams in the league are Toronto, Richmond, Va.; Rochester, N.Y.; Atlanta, Buffalo, Columbus, Ohio, Jacksonville, Fla., and Syracuse.

The International twice rejected American Association proposals Wednesday to add clubs to its roster. But the major leagues, operating through their farm directors, put the heat on the International League and forced the additions.

The major leagues will pay part of the extra travel costs involved for the two remaining enlarged triple A clubs.

This left just 20 triple A teams, something which the majors desired under their plan for a vast reorganization of the minor league structure.

The American Association had been a pillar of baseball since 1902. The association operated without a franchise change until 1952 but in recent years it has been shaky.

Trail Coach Isn't Afraid of Soviets

WINNIPEG (CP) — Coach Bobby Kromm of Trail Smoke Eaters isn't too concerned about Russia's national team in the world hockey championships next February.

He watched the Russians beat Winnipeg Maroons 3-0 Wednesday night in an exhibition game here.

"I think we would be more concerned about the Swedes in the world championships," he said. "They would be more experienced."

The Russians, in beating the Maroons, showed beautiful passing. However, Kromm felt they over-passed in spots.

He also noted that the Russians were very young—averaging about 23 in age—and he wondered how they would do against a well conditioned senior team in Canada about February.

NEED TWO YEARS

Kromm, whose team will be the Canadian representatives in the world hockey championships in Stockholm next year, said the Russians were an "excellent young hockey team."

"They are two years away from being a very, very good hockey team."

He was disappointed in the Maroons—his own Smoke Eaters were much younger—but he admitted that the Maroons would show better with more work.

Pirates Trade Don Hoak

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Pittsburgh Pirates Wednesday announced the trade of a third regular infielder.

They sent third-baseman Don Hoak to Philadelphia Phillies and in return got outfielder Ted Savage and first-baseman Pancho Herrera.

CANADIAN CYCLISTS . . . . . COMPETE SATURDAY

Wild Ready for Long Grind

Former member of the Daily Times staff and now a Vancouver resident, Jim McKeachie travelled to Perth, Australia, with Canada's British Empire Games team. Here are McKeachie's comments on the moods and hopes of the Canadian cyclists.

PERTH, Australia — Victoria's young Bill Wild and Jack Ferguson of Vancouver have impressed other members of Canada's British Empire Games contingent while sweating through heavy daily training for one big event.

Nobody in this village of athletes by the Indian Ocean has worked harder than the two British Columbia cyclists in efforts to reach top condition.

Wild and Ferguson make up half of the four-man cycling team that will be chasing gold, silver and bronze medals in the gruelling 120-mile road race on Saturday, final day of the 10-day Games.

Starting at 7 a.m., the cyclists will have to make 31 trips over the 3.8-mile course around Perth's King's Park.

"It's a worthy course," said the 22-year-old Ferguson. "A typical road-racing course—plenty of ups and downs, and some flat stretches."

"And the surface is quite rough all the way," observed the husky Wild. Just 20, Bill has been equally impressed with the beauty of Perth and the quality of food served in Games Village cafeteria.

Wind has been making the training rides tough, but the Canadian pedallers note that "it's the same for everybody."

The two British Columbians, with teammates Maurice Gagne, Quebec City, and Jean Garon, Charlesbourgh, Quebec, haven't been in any of the track events taking place in the new Lake Monga velodrome. Ferguson is the only experienced track rider and it was decided that the team would concentrate on the road event.

Tapering off now, the Canadian cyclists have been training with a 40-mile jaunt each morning and going about double that distance in the afternoon. Sometimes they have stayed out for about five hours, riding over 100 miles.

All appear fit and ready. Wild has been bothered by headaches on some mornings, but he is quick to say "it's nothing serious."

Cordova Bay Teams Drop Two Decisions

Cordova Bay minor basketballers took a double drubbing Wednesday in the Saanich Suburban Basketball League.

Saanichton tripped the Bays 34-22 in a juvenile boys' game, and Sidney midgets nipped the Bays 8-7 in a preliminary.

Outstanding Grid Trio Picks Hamilton to Win

TIME OUT! By JEFF KEATS

"Cleverest stick-handler in the league!"

TORONTO (CP) — Canada's three outstanding football players of the year were named Wednesday night and all picked Hamilton Tiger-Cats to beat Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the Grey Cup game Saturday.

The awards, to be presented at a big party today, went to hard-running halfback George Dixon of Montreal Alouettes as player of the year, safety Harvey Wylie of the Calgary Stampeders as the top Canadian and Hamilton's John Barrow, a middle guard and defensive tackle, as the outstanding lineman in Canada.

Dixon who faced the Ticats in the two-game total-points playoff which Hamilton won to enter the cup finaly, said:

"Winnipeg has picked up too many injuries at a key time. They don't look as good as they have in the past."

And Wylie, who scruffed the kick that gave Bombers their dramatic, last-minute passage to the Grey Cup, said:

"I may still be a bit hot under the collar about the way we lost the western final, but I have to pick Hamilton.

"Winnipeg is in bad physical condition and I understand Hamilton is not."

Barrow also chose Hamilton, but was a little reluctant to be too definite.

"I have a feeling the game is going to be wide open and high-scoring," he said.

The awards, decided by football writers and broadcasters across Canada were the first for all three, although Barrow was runner-up to tackle Frank Rigney of Winnipeg as outstanding lineman in 1960.

Dixon, who edged Tommy Joe Coffey of Edmonton Eskimos for his award and $2,000 presented by a distillery, scored 15 touchdowns for 90 points.

He broke the Eastern Conference rushing record held by Dave Thelen of Ottawa since 1960, hammering his way for with Thelen's 1,407 and averaging 7.2 yards a carry.

The soft-spoken 26-year-old native of Bridgeport, Conn., who joined Montreal in 1960, was bubbling as he received the award.

"It is without a doubt the finest thing that has ever happened to me," Dixon said. "It is the culmination of my finest year."

"Not making it to the Grey Cup was a disappointment to the team, but we went farther than a lot of people expected and this is gratifying."

For Wylie, downcast and blaming himself for Calgary's defeat last Saturday, the award came as a personal vindication and a crown to a great year.

BEATS JACKSON

The diminutive 28-year-old Calgarian ran a record 875 yards from his safety position and was selected over Russ Jackson of Ottawa Rough Riders. Leo Lewis of Winnipeg, set the record at 853 yards in 1957.

"I'm very pleased with the award," Wylie said, "But I'm very sorry the team isn't here with me.

"They should be. We should have won."

Wylie, who attended Montana State University, became eligible for the award this season. Previously, only Canadians who played their formative football in Canada were eligible.

Barrow, 26, is a tough veteran of many seasons and since he joined Hamilton in 1957 he has been named every year to the Eastern Conference all-star team.

The hulking defensive tackle had to overcome an early-season knee injury and was chosen over linebacker Wayne Harris of Calgary.

"It is a great honor. I'm very glad about it," Barrow said.

Both Wylie and Barrow received $1,500 in Canada savings bonds with their awards.

VANCOUVER PLANS BID

VANCOUVER (CP) — The city of Vancouver will make a bid through the Pacific Coast Curling Association to play host to the Canadian curling championships in 1965.

Dormans Prove Strength

There is nothing dormant about Dormans in the Independent Hockey League.

Doormats the first part of the season Dormans have meshed into a smooth machine over the last few weeks.

They demonstrated their improvement and strength Wednesday, walloping Kings 8-2 at Memorial Arena. Victory pulled Dormans into a first-place tie with Kings.

In the second half of the doubleheader Duncans turned on Northwesterns 3-1. The loss left the losers embedded in the league cellar with only three points to show for seven outings.

Pender Carries Fight to Court

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul Pender, stripped of his piece of the world heavyweight title by the New York State Athletic Commission, has moved in Supreme Court to set aside the ruling on the ground it was "arbitrary, capricious and without warrant."

A hearing was set for December 7.

Ticats' Zuger A Great One

HAMILTON (CP)—Rookie Joe Zuger could develop into one of the all-time great quarterbacks in Canadian football history.

The 22-year-old youngster from Arizona State College already has produced strong evidence of great potential in his first year with Hamilton Tiger-Cats. Saturday, when he steps on the field for the Grey Cup game between the Tiger Cats and Winnipeg Blue Bombers, the baby-faced signal caller has the chance to show what he can do in Canada's biggest football game of the year.

The six-foot-two, 190-pound son of a truck driver in Homestead, Pa., lacks experience that would be helpful in such a pressure-packed game but he says it doesn't give him an extra minute's worry.

"It's just another game—only bigger," he said Wednesday in an interview. "There's no substitute for experience, yet I don't feel that nervous that I'll choke up."

SHOWS NO JITTERS

Last week before he led the Ticats to victory over Montreal Alouettes in the second game of their total-points playoff for the eastern crown, he also showed no sign of the jitters.

"It doesn't help a football player to be nervous," he said. "I learned that in high school. I haven't been nervous since."

The icy-veined Zuger burst out as the newest star in Canadian football the night of Oct. 15 when he fired a record eight touchdown passes in leading Hamilton to a 67-21 triumph over Saskatchewan Roughriders in a sensational debut as a starting quarterback.

Zuger has been the starting quarterback ever since his record-breaking performance and he now has directed the Ticats to six straight victories, including the last four games in the Eastern Conference regular schedule.

GET TICATS GOING

After first-string quarterback Bernie Faloney, the country's outstanding player in 1961, was knocked out of action for good in September, he was used in spot situations to relieve Frank Cosentino, who had been understudying Faloney for three years.

The Tiger-Cats' attack never did jell properly with both Zuger and Cosentino sharing the quarterback load. Only when Zuger took over the starting job did it really start to operate in full gear.

The triple-threat star is an accomplished passer, both long and short. Along with his fine running ability he uses the threat of the option pass-run play with great effect when he rolls out. He ended the regular season with 15 touchdown passes, completing 64 of 105 passes for 1,070 yards, a competition average of .610 and and average gain of 10.2.

An outstanding kicker also, he was second in the league in punting with an average of 43.4.

COUNTS ON ZUGER

Hamilton coach Jim Trimble said he plans to go all the way with Zugar against Winnipeg Saturday. However, he is leaving himself an opening in case Zuger is having an off day.

"Any quarterback can have a bad day, which is why Cosentino will be ready to go if necessary," Trimble added.

He doesn't think the Tiger-Cats are on the spot going with a rookie quarterback.

"He's a rookie in years only," the outspoken Trimble said. "If he was going to be nervous it would have shown in the playoff against Montreal. There's no reason for it now."

Trimble indicated Wednesday that all the talk about Winnipeg's injuries since the Bombers defeated Calgary Stampeders for the western title might be a smoke screen. He plans to find out quickly just how badly crippled a team it is.

"Whether these players come in lame, half deaf or blind, they better be ready," Trimble said.

FLAT SWING

Note that today's illustrated golfer, in taking the club back to the top of the backswing, has allowed the shaft of the club to flatten out and point behind him. It should be pointing down the fairway in the general direction of his shot.

This flat swing generally causes the golfer to swing beyond the ball and causes a shank.

Instead, the swing should be more upright for this iron shot. The hands should not get lazy at the top of the swing and let the shaft flatten out as it has done in the drawing.

Make sure the clubhead moves back and up—not just back and around.

FEDERAL PLAN HURTS B.C. SPORTS COUNCIL

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Amateur Sports Council which had a $10,000 surplus in 1961 expects a deficit of $7,200 this year.

The council, which performs a discreet bill-paying service for deserving amateur athletes in the province, has been hard hit by a federal measure designed to subsidize Canadian amateur sports.

Treasurer Merv Ferguson said in an interview Wednesday:

"When the federal government announced its $5,000,000,000 plan a lot of companies and individuals who had been consistently generous in supporting our work suddenly felt Ottawa could do the whole job for us and their help was no longer necessary.

"But, this is far from true and unless the true picture is known we could face trouble in the future."

TIME OUT! By JEFF KEATS

"Cleverest stick-handler in the league!"

TORONTO (CP) — Canada's three outstanding football players of the year were named Wednesday night and all picked Hamilton Tiger-Cats to beat Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the Grey Cup game Saturday.

The awards, to be presented at a big party today, went to hard-running halfback George Dixon of Montreal Alouettes as player of the year, safety Harvey Wylie of the Calgary Stampeders as the top Canadian and Hamilton's John Barrow, a middle guard and defensive tackle, as the outstanding lineman in Canada.

Dixon who faced the Ticats in the two-game total-points playoff which Hamilton won to enter the cup finals, said:

"Winnipeg has picked up too many injuries at a key time. They don't look as good as they have in the past."

And Wylie, who scruffed the kick that gave Bombers their dramatic, last-minute passage to the Grey Cup, said:

"I may still be a bit hot under the collar about the way we lost the western final, but I have to pick Hamilton.

"Winnipeg is in bad physical condition and I understand Hamilton is not."

Barrow also chose Hamilton, but was a little reluctant to be too definite.

"I have a feeling the game is going to be wide open and high-scoring," he said.

The awards, decided by football writers and broadcasters across Canada were the first for all three, although Barrow was runner-up to tackle Frank Rigney of Winnipeg as outstanding lineman in 1960.

Dixon, who edged Tommy Joe Coffey of Edmonton Eskimos for his award and $2,000 presented by a distillery, scored 15 touchdowns for 90 points.

He broke the Eastern Conference rushing record held by Dave Thelen of Ottawa since 1960, hammering his way for with Thelen's 1,407 and averaging 7.2 yards a carry.

The soft-spoken 26-year-old native of Bridgeport, Conn., who joined Montreal in 1960, was bubbling as he received the award.

"It is without a doubt the finest thing that has ever happened to me," Dixon said. "It is the culmination of my finest year."

"Not making it to the Grey Cup was a disappointment to the team, but we went farther than a lot of people expected and this is gratifying."

For Wylie, downcast and blaming himself for Calgary's defeat last Saturday, the award came as a personal vindication and a crown to a great year.

BEATS JACKSON

The diminutive 28-year-old Calgarian ran a record 875 yards from his safety position and was selected over Russ Jackson of Ottawa Rough Riders. Leo Lewis of Winnipeg set the record at 853 yards in 1957.

"I'm very pleased with the award," Wylie said, "But I'm very sorry the team isn't here with me.

"They should be. We should have won."

Wylie, who attended Montana State University, became eligible for the award this season. Previously, only Canadians who played their formative football in Canada were eligible.

Barrow, 26, is a tough veteran of many seasons and since he joined Hamilton in 1957 he has been named every year to the Eastern Conference all-star team.

The hulking defensive tackle had to overcome an early-season knee injury and was chosen over linebacker Wayne Harris of Calgary.

"It is a great honor. I'm very glad about it," Barrow said.

Both Wylie and Barrow received $1,500 in Canada savings bonds with their awards.

FLAT SWING

Note that today's illustrated golfer, in taking the club back to the top of the backswing, has allowed the shaft of the club to flatten out and point behind him. It should be pointing down the fairway in the general direction of his shot.

This flat swing generally causes the golfer to swing beyond the ball and causes a shank.

Instead, the swing should be more upright for this iron shot. The hands should not get lazy at the top of the swing and let the shaft flatten out as it has done in the drawing.

Make sure the clubhead moves back and up—not just back and around.

FEDERAL PLAN HURTS B.C. SPORTS COUNCIL

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Amateur Sports Council which had a $10,000 surplus in 1961 expects a deficit of $7,200 this year.

The council, which performs a discreet bill-paying service for deserving amateur athletes in the province, has been hard hit by a federal measure designed to subsidize Canadian amateur sports.

Treasurer Merv Ferguson said in an interview Wednesday:

"When the federal government announced its $5,000,000 plan a lot of companies and individuals who had been consistently generous in supporting our work suddenly felt Ottawa could do the whole job for us and their help was no longer necessary.

"But, this is far from true and unless the true picture is known we could face trouble in the future."

Bell to Head City Bowlers

R. A. Bell was elected president of the Greater Victoria Lawn Bowling Association at the association's 20th annual general meeting.

John Martin was named first vice-president and Eric Turner was elected second vice-president. H. O. Thomas was selected as secretary-treasurer.

The meeting regretfully accepted the resignation of George Bett, secretary-treasurer since 1955. Appreciation of Bett's efforts was shown when the meeting elected him honorary president.

Dormans Prove Strength

There is nothing dormant about Dormans in the Independent Hockey League.

Doormats the first part of the season Dormans have meshed into a smooth machine over the last few weeks.

They demonstrated their improvement and strength Wednesday, walloping Kings 8-2 at Memorial Arena. Victory pulled Dormans into a first-place tie with Kings.

In the second half of the doubleheader Duncans turned on Northwesterns 3-1. The loss left the losers embedded in the league cellar with only three points to show for seven outings.

Pender Carries Fight to Court

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul Pender, stripped of his piece of the world heavyweight title by the New York State Athletic Commission, has moved in Supreme Court to set aside the ruling on the ground it was "arbitrary, capricious and without warrant."

A hearing was set for December 7.

Trafalgars and Kings Breeze to Hoop Wins

Kings and Trafalgars had a ball along the Senior B basketball thoroughfare Wednesday.

Defeated only once this season Kings ripped Navy 84-34 in a men's match at Mount View.

Joe Patterson and George Bennett were a two-man wrecking crew for the winners, scoring 21 points each.

Trafalgars, the class of the women's division, rolled to a 51-32 victory over Independents.

Sylvia Campbell, with 15 points, led the winners.

Independents—Sharon Donald 1, Joan Winterburn, Marg Beallieu 1, Millie Colquhoun 10, Verona Schappell 6, Gay Findley 3, Glenda Joyce, Joy Speight 2, Pat Shields 3, Cherryl Slater, Marlene Mitchell 6. Total—32.

Ticats' Zuger A Great One

HAMILTON (CP)—Rookie Joe Zuger could develop into one of the all-time great quarterbacks in Canadian football history.

The 22-year-old youngster from Arizona State College already has produced strong evidence of great potential in his first year with Hamilton Tiger-Cats. Saturday, when he steps on the field for the Grey Cup game between the Tiger Cats and Winnipeg Blue Bombers, the baby-faced signal caller has the chance to show what he can do in Canada's biggest football game of the year.

The six-foot-two, 190-pound son of a truck driver in Homestead, Pa., lacks experience that would be helpful in such a pressure-packed game but he says it doesn't give him an extra minute's worry.

"It's just another game—only bigger," he said Wednesday in an interview. "There's no substitute for experience, yet I don't feel that nervous that I'll choke up."

SHOWS NO JITTERS

Last week before he led the Ticats to victory over Montreal Alouettes in the second game of their total-points playoff for the eastern crown he also showed no sign of the jitters.

"It doesn't help a football player to be nervous," he said "I learned that in high school. I haven't been nervous since."

The icy-veined Zuger burst out as the newest star in Canadian football the night of Oct. 13 when he fired a record eight touchdown passes in leading Hamilton to a 67-21 triumph over Saskatchewan Roughriders in a sensational debut as a starting quarterback.

Zuger has been the starting quarterback ever since his record-breaking performance and he now has directed the Ticats to six straight victories, including the last four games in the Eastern Conference regular schedule.

GET TICATS GOING

After first-string quarterback Bernie Faloney, the country's outstanding player in 1961, was knocked out of action for good in September, he was used in spot situations to relieve Frank Cosentino, who had been understudying Faloney for three years.

The Tiger-Cats' attack never did jell properly with both Zuger and Cosentino sharing the quarterback load. Only when Zuger took over the starting job did it really start to operate in full gear.

The triple-threat star is an accomplished passer, both long and short. Along with his fine running ability he uses the threat of the option pass-run play with great effect when he rolls out. He ended the regular season with 15 touchdown passes, completing 64 of 105 passes for 1,070 yards, a completion average of .610 and and average gain of 10.2.

An outstanding kicker also, he was second in the league in punting with an average of 43.4

COUNTS ON ZUGER

Hamilton coach Jim Trimble said he plans to go all the way with Zugar against Winnipeg Saturday. However, he is leaving himself an opening in case Zuger is having an off day.

"Any quarterback can have a bad day, which is why Cosentino will be ready to go if necessary," Trimble added.

He doesn't think the Tiger-Cats are on the spot going with a rookie quarterback.

"He's a rookie in years only," the outspoken Trimble said. "If he was going to be nervous it would have shown in the playoff against Montreal. There's no reason for it now."

Trimble indicated Wednesday that all the talk about Winnipeg's injuries since the Bombers defeated Calgary Stampeders for the western title might be a smoke screen. He plans to find out quickly just how badly crippled a team it is.

"Whether these players come in lame, half deaf or blind, they better be ready," Trimble said.

UN BUZZING

Showdown 'Soon' On Katanga Feud

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Diplomatic sources said today a showdown is imminent on the issue of bringing Katanga province back into The Congo.

They pointed to a number of developments, notably a report that the Soviet Union has agreed to go ahead with election of Burma's U Thant to a full five-year term as United Nations secretary-general.

In his capacity as acting secretary-general in the last year, Thant has staked his career to an unusual degree on the success of The Congo operation and diplomats say he would not be a candidate unless the project worked out to the credit of the UN.

Paul-Henri Spaak, the veteran and energetic foreign minister of Belgium, was scheduled to fly back to Brussels today after consultations with big - power representatives here and President Kennedy in Washington.

The talks—including a conference between Spaak and Britain's Sir Patrick Dean—were mostly secret but diplomatic sources said a paper was presented to Thant setting out so-called new steps for dealing with Katanga and its self-styled President Moise Tshombe.

SUBMIT RESOLUTION

In a related development, Canada and eight other countries — including the United States and Britain—submitted to the UN secretariat Wednesday night a resolution demanding the acceptance of peacekeeping costs by all UN member countries.

The measure asks that the UN General Assembly accept the advisory opinion of the World Court at The Hague, delivered in June, that peacekeeping costs should be levied on all members on the same basis as regular UN assessments. So far the Soviet Union, France and many other countries have shied away from such costs.

Reports said Spaak and Ambassador Adlai Stevenson of the United States had been talking about threatening a blockade of Katanga's transport and communications and withdrawal of some 700 Belgian specialists working in the province's public services.

At the United Nations, the air was filled with rumors and diplomats—notably Canadian diplomats—refused to give details of plans against Tshombe on the ground it would merely tip off the secessionist premier, regarded as one of the wiliest politicians in Africa.

But there was no secret that the objective was to get agreement from Tshombe that Union Miniere, the big copper and cobalt company in his province, should shift part of its export revenue to Adoula's central government.

Tshombe has maintained Katanga's secession since July, 1961, with $40,000,000 a year in taxes paid by Union Miniere, on its exports through Portuguese Angola and Northern Rhodesia, a British colony.

Adoula Wins Tight Vote

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI) — Premier Cyrille Adoula narrowly survived a confidence vote forced in the lower house Wednesday by opponents who charged his government was dominated by "American imperialists."

The strength of the opposition raised fears that the Congo's new federal constitution, drawn up by United Nations experts as part of the plan for ending the secession of Katanga province, would fail to win approval in parliament.

Little Bit of Olde Japan

The mayor of Otaru in northern Japan expects that his city and Victoria "will become more intimate after this."

What's this?

It's the fact that Otaru has become Victoria's sister city.

In a brotherly spirit, the Jaycees of Victoria, through their president Eric Charman, have adopted Otaru as a sister.

The adoption took place last week when Mr. Charman visited Otaru on his way home from the International Junior Chamber of Commerce convention in Hong Kong.

To strengthen the family ties Otaru's Mayor Yogoro Adachi hopes to visit Victoria soon, he said in a letter to Mayor R. B. Wilson.

Teen-Agers Killed

GLENBORO, Man. (CP) — Four teen-agers, enroute to a hockey game in Winnipeg, were killed Wednesday night when their car crashed into the rear of a semi-trailer loaded with bales of hay, 1½ miles east of here.

CLEOPATRA PREMIERE SET

NEW YORK (AP)—Cleopatra, the most expensive moving picture in history, will open in June in New York and 100 other United States and Canadian cities.

An announcement Wednesday by 20th Century-Fox did not name the specific date or cities. The company estimates the film cost $35,000,000.

Foxy Casey Twists Jest To Buss Wife of Reeve

Saanich "war horse" Coun. Joseph Casey twisted an afternoon jest by the reeve's wife to political advantage when he faced ratepayers in a campaign speech Wednesday night.

Speaking at Lake Hill with other 1963 council candidates, anti-amalgamationist Casey referred to the launching a few hours earlier of the government ferry Queen of Saanich, attended by Mrs. Stanley Murphy, wife of the pro-amalgamation reeve.

Mrs. Murphy was quoted by Mr. Casey as saying, when given a memento by Premier Bennett:

"I hope my husband's wishes do not come true because if they do there will be no more Saanich," which others who attended took as a joke.

"I rushed over and shook her hand and kissed her," Casey gravely told ratepayers. "I told the reeve he'd better start amalgamating his own home."

To which Reeve Murphy replied:

"We are well amalgamated. We have five children."

He said his wife had been so overwhelmed at receiving a presentation from Mr. Bennett himself, she didn't realize she put in an extra "no" or "not'" in her reply.

"That sly old Irish fox took advantage of a slip of my wife's tongue to run over and buss her," the reeve said.

Mrs. Murphy later explained that what she really meant to say was "If my husband has his way there will be no more Saanich and this beautiful ship will be a perpetual reminder of the municipality."

Successful Bids For Gas, Oil Rights

EDMONTON (CP)—A $121,968 bid for petroleum and natural gas rights on several sections of land about 18 miles west of Drumheller was accepted at an Alberta government sale from Texaco Exploration Company.

Other successful bids at the sale, which brought the government more than $390,000, includes $118,000 from Sun Oil Company for 2¼ sections about 50 miles southeast of Red Deer and $101,000 from United Petroleum Corporation for 7¼ sections near Stettler.

Kenneth M. Bosence, 3415 Browning, was fined $20 in city police court Wednesday for being a minor in possession of liquor.

He admitted having a case of beer in his car which was stopped by police on Fort Street the evening of Nov. 16.

OTTAWA HAS NO POLICY ON FLUORIDATION

OTTAWA (CP)—Health Minister Monteith indicated Wednesday the government will not commit itself on the policy question of whether fluoridation of municipal water systems is a good thing.

Stanley Haidasz (L—Toronto Parkdale) asked in the Commons whether the federal health department recommends fluoridation, and said there was a lot of public interest in the question at this time of year. He apparently was refyerring to a number of municipal referendums being held in conjunction with local elections.

Mr. Monteith said the role of the department in the public health field did not extend to making recommendations on such subjects. The department has made a number of scientific surveys and presents the facts without recommendation.

Artist also paints in modern style.

Painter of Cathedral Ceilings Survivor of Slowly Dying Art

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Survivor of a dying art is Herman Richter, who has painted splendid pictures on the walls and ceilings of churches and cathedrals in many parts of Europe and North America.

In Victoria the 70-year-old Mr. Richter recalled that he served a four-year apprenticeship to his art in Brunswick, Germany, after leaving high school and serving one year in the army.

He deplores the passing of the apprenticeship system (which produced fine craftsmen) and says there are few people left who are capable of painting pictures in color on the ceilings of churches.

"But then," he said, "our modern churches are so plain and austere that very little art is needed. This to me is regrettable. It seems to rob the church of so much color and romance that has come down through the centuries."

WORKED IN EUROPE

A wiry, active man of benign countenance, Mr. Richter and his wife have been staying with Mrs. Richter's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Cedric Jones, at 2467 Mowat.

After the apprentice years, Mr. Richter took his art to cathedrals and churches all over Germany, Austria and Switzerland between 1900 and 1914.

Then, only a few months before the outbreak of the First World War, he migrated to Chicago and practised his painting in many churches of the United States and a few in Canada.

It wasn't everyone's choice of a job. The big cathedrals were often freezing cold in winter and the ceiling work had to be done from an aerial platforms rising to dizzy heights above the floor.

"But it was always fascinating," Mr. Richter said, "and you had something to show for it afterwards—a massive painting or decorative design that could be enjoyed by generations of churchgoers."

NOT ORIGINALS

With the modesty of the true craftsman, he was careful to explain that these pictures were painted from "blueprints." They were not originals such as were created in Rome by the great Michelangelo (1475-1564).

"He was the greatest of all church artists," said Mr. Richter, "an inspired genius."

He possesses many fine color prints of church decorations, including an album of church interiors which originated in France between the 11th and 16th centuries.

One of these is an unusual portrait of Christ painted some time in the 11th century. In contrast to more modern conceptions, the eyes have a fierce blazing light in them.

Mr. Richter presented these French prints to Greater Victoria Art Gallery before leaving for Phoenix, Arizona, this week.

Lawyers Ask Inspection Of City Jail

A newly-formed justice committee of the Victoria Bar Association today asked city police commission permission to examine the city jail.

Lawyer David Hummell said the committee had no intention of seeking a "complaint session" but felt it would like to see jail facilities in view of recurring complaints from clients of defence lawyers.

Mr. Hummell stressed that since many of the clients are convicted for criminal offences their statements may be untrue and "quite exaggerated."

"Or non-existent," replied Mayor R. B. Wilson, who doubles as police commission chairman. He said the commission would study the request for permission to see the jail.

"The commission last month went through the entire building from top to bottom," said the mayor.

"Apart from some painting needed, we were quite satisfied with the facilities in the building."

(The commission awarded a $778 contract to paint the courtroom, charge office and traffic office this morning.)

The mayor said since Saanich has been holding its own prisoners in its new jail, the city lock-up has "excess capacity" which might be used to create better client interviewing and prisoner visiting accommodation.

Edmond St. Jorre, acting president of the bar association, and Mr. Hummell had complained of insufficient facilities for lawyers and said they had heard complaints about food, bedding, and non-segregation of prisoners in the jail.

Ship Drags Anchor; Sudbury Standing By

A 6,900-ton New Zealand freighter was reported in distress off Discovery Island shortly before noon today as gales gusting to 70 miles an hour lashed the lower Island.

Due to the storm the B.C. Ferries link between Swartz Bay and Tsawwassen broke down for the first time since inaugurated 2½ years ago. Reason was loss of a pile windbreak in fire two weeks ago.

All B.C. ferry services have been suspended until the weather improves.

Last ship to leave the mainland was Mv City of Vancouver, which arrived at 9 a.m. and has remained tied up at Swartz Bay since.

The City of Victoria was being buffeted by high winds in her berth at Tsawwassen as three inches of wet snow blanketted the Lower Mainland and produced blizzard conditions in the Gulf of Georgia.

B.C. Pilotage Authority sent a boat to investigate trouble reported by the general cargo carrier Ss. Waitemata of Wellington, a regular visitor to B.C. ports on the North Pacific-Antipodes freight run.

Another freighter was reported to be standing by and Island Tug and Barge Ltd. despatched Sudbury II to assist. Latest report had the freighter dragging anchor.

The RCN was asked to stand by with vessels and helicopter in the event a rescue operation was required.

Winds in Haro Strait off the Oak Bay waterfront were reported to be at 50-60 knots.

Snow on the lower mainland was the first of the season. It was reported as traces at Comox, on the Island, and the weather office said with moist air and temperatures below 40 degrees there could be snow on upper levels of the lower Island today.

Gales began here overnight and by dawn were averaging 20 miles an hour, was increasing to 45 and more, with gusts to 70.

Force was expected to drop later this afternoon as winds shifted to the west with 40-degree temperatures.

Over-all weather this weekend will be patchy, with varying winds, rain and sunshine, and rising winds Saturday, the weather office predicts.

Around town this morning, linemen were kept busy putting up broken power and telephone connections but there was no report of damage to property.

Ambulances May Be Held To Speed Limit

Use of sirens in emergency vehicles and permission to exceed speed limits may be withdrawn following a study now underway by the Motor Vehicles Branch, it was learned today.

B.C. Medical Association sparked the study by claiming many emergency vehicles were abusing their right to exceed the speed limit, Ray Hadfield, deputy superintendent of motor vehicles, said.

He said it was a fact that more persons were hurt in the province due to speeding ambulances than there were lives saved.

"It is felt that ambulances, using the siren as an excuse, are travelling too fast without real reason," he added.

Dr. Robert M. Peet, chairman of the traffic saftey committee for the B.C. Medical Association, said today a recommendation had been made at the last medical convention in Harrison Hot Springs, that ambulances should observe speed limits.

The committee also recommended sirens should not be used except in real emergencies.

The Motor Vehicles Branch, following this, has installed a tachograph in the ambulance of Saanich Fire Department.

The graph records speeds of the vehicle and when the sirea is used.

Mr. Hadfield emphasized the installation was only for observation purposes.

However, he said the test could be extended to fire engines and police vehicles as well, although he said it was felt these had a greater need for speed than ambulances.

"We feel many ambulance drivers were violating any trust they may have had in using sirens," he said.

The test will be conducted about two or three weeks, it is expected.

Mr. Hadfield admitted on the basis of the test, some recommendation might be made by the branch to the appropriate minister, that changes be made in the Motor Vehicles Act to limit speed and siren use by emergency vehicles.

Project Support

Chinatown Lions Club added its support to the city's Centennial Year project at meetings held Wednesday.

City planner Roderick Clack, who drew the plan, and Ald. A. W. Toone, chairman of urban renewal, gave an illustrated talk to Lions.

ARTHUR MAYSE

Democracy at work, a fascinating spectacle always, is best observed at the grass-roots level of municipal politics. Down there, the machine runs with a good, homely clank and clatter. The link between the taxpayer and those who will set his mill rate is direct, the issues of a sort you can get your teeth into.

The other night, Win and I made two of about 75 Saanichites who straggled into St. George the Martyr's church hall at Cadboro Bay, where the amalgamation hot potato was to be juggled yet again.

In 11 years, we have gone to a great many meetings of various sorts in that hall. We are familiar with the feel and fit of its chairs; we know that whoever we settle by is unlikely to be a complete stranger.

That's one of the nicer features of close-to-home democracy in action. There's a chumminess, a community of interests.

★ ★ ★

Dave and Meliss Hill are there ahead of us, empty chairs beside them. For years we lived only a whoop and a holler down the road from each other; we remember a birthday party enlivened by hornets, and the orchard raid that left a certain small boy dangling by his pants seat from a neighbor's fence.

Not far away, under a hat that only she could wear with distinction, sits Ursula Jupp. "Jolly Mrs. Jupp," the children used to call her. Each winter she treated them to a bonfire with hot dogs and cocoa, herself where the sparks flew thickest, merry as the kids who shared her bounty.

Each district has its local historian. Ursula Jupp is ours. She has tales of earlier children — grandparents now — who once galloped their horses on the Arbutus Cove sands, and knows in detail the complex history of the Appleton estate.

★ ★ ★

Most of us in the hall are middle-aged or elderly. The young marrieds don't often turn up at a church hall political meeting, even though this vexed question of amalgamation, whichever way the cat jumps, is going to affect their lives.

Their time for church hall meetings on rainy nights will come later, when the children are older and family roots sunk deeper in the community.

★ ★ ★

The hall is already decked for Christmas with streamers, tinsel at the windows, and colored globes mounted on evergreen sprays. Back of the platform is an enormous wreath of Saanich holly. Each speaker, as he steps forward to make his pitch, is framed head and shoulders in the bright red and prickly green of Yule.

This doesn't indicate that we regard these men as emissaries of Santa Claus. By no means! Down on democracy's ground floor, we like our politics hearty. Reeve, councillors and candidates will be called hard names before voting day; a few names will fly tonight as our speakers come out for or against union with Victoria.

The chairman has alloted them seven minutes each, and holds them to it. From seasoned campaigner to neophyte, they make the most of their time.

The press gets the dust whacked out of its hide while the unperturbed reporters take notes at their table. This thumping of the newspapers is one of the amiable exchanges between agents of democracy without which no rally would be complete.

★ ★ ★

Chambers of commerce, senior and junior, are attacked and defended. Grim warnings are hurled about what will happen if we amalgamate, or if we don't.

The hall, chilly at the start, becomes warmer. Looking around, you can almost see on people's faces the questions they'll ask later.

After the last speaker has retired from the holly wreath, the questions come pell-mell. Some are ingenuous, some loaded. Here in the question period, it seems to me that democracy in practice becomes most impressive.

No holds are barred. If you think a man's a turncoat, up and tell him so. Tempers crackle, sparks fly, and freedom of speech gets a fine, healthy workout.

★ ★ ★

Then the meeting is over and we go out to our cars and home by familiar roads which I suspect will remain much as they are whether Saanich takes the amalgamation plunge or not.

The meeting—75 district people in a suburban hall—was no earth-shaker. It didn't enlighten us as much as we'd hoped, and will settle no great issues. But it was a manifestation of democracy at work, and therein lay its virtue.

HULL 99 NOW 'QUEEN'

By FRANK RUTTER

Hull 99 made it to the ocean Wednesday.

In the process Hull 99 acquired a name and a reputation.

The name is Queen of Saanich; the reputation is one of the fastest jobs ever done in Victoria Machinery Depot's Dallas Road shipyard.

The occasion was the launching of the new Queen as the latest ferry for the government's Toll Authority service between Vancouver Island and the mainland.

Pausing to give the new ship a special salute was the Black Ball ferry Coho, outward bound for Port Angeles, and the government lighthouse tender Estevan. They both "stooged around" for about 15 minutes, awaiting the launching.

The last lick of paint was brushed on the new ship's bottom only minutes before the ceremony.

And while the christening speeches were being made, sparks flew as a VMD welding crew kept right on working on her sister ship only yards away in a parallel slip.

One of the reasons for speed is the government contract calling for a penalty of $1,000 each day completion is overdue.

SISTER SHIP

Queen of Esquimalt-to-be, the sister ship, will be launched in January.

VMD president Harold Husband told 200 guests Wednesday Esquimalt is very appropriately Hull 100, as she will be the first ship launched in the company's hundred birthday year.

"Then, of course, we're going to try for 200," he said.

Queen of Saanich, weighing 3,000 tons, will carry 115 cars and 1,000 passengers.

She is the fifth ship launched for the ferry service started by the government June 15, 1960, and will go into service between Swartz Bay and Tsawwassen next April.

Two others are under construction and two more promised next year.

When all are in service, Premier Bennett told the guests, B.C. will have a fleet of 19—"the largest ferry fleet of the type in the whole world."

"Of all the things this government has done we get more credit for the ships than anything else," he said.

Work Starts Next Year On 2 Ferries

Tenders will be called before the year's end on the two new government ferries for the Nanaimo-Horseshoe Bay run, Premier Bennett said at the launching Wednesday.

This means work will start early in the new year on the Toll Authority vessels, to be of the "Queen Class" like Queen of Saanich, launched at VMD.

Mr. Bennett, addressing about 200 guests at the launching, also announced the name of the ferry being built at Burrard Dry Dock in Vancouver for the service from the Gulf Islands to Tsawwassen. She will be called Queen of the Islands.

The premier said business—and profits—were booming on the government's ferry services.

He repeated an earlier promise that all the profits would be spent on the ferry service, and none of the money would be used for other purposes—in the Toll Authority or anywhere else.

The first ferry service, between Swartz Bay and Tsawwassen was started June 15, 1960. Since then on that route alone government ferries have carried 870,736 cars and trucks and 2,851,839 passengers, the premier said.

Collision Kills Woman On Highway

An 81-year-old woman was killed instantly when in collision with a car while crossing the Pat Bay Highway Wednesday night.

Mrs. Daisy Hargreaves, Aberdeen Hotel, was hurled 57 feet by the impact, police said.

She was crossing from west to east on the highway near Elk Lake, when she was struck by a car driven north by Mrs. Marjorie Sam of Mount Newton Cross Road about 5 p.m.

She was wearing a long dark coat at the time.

Witnesses said the driver of the car "didn't have a chance" of seeing her.

VISITING FRIEND

Mrs. Hargreaves was on her way to visit a friend at 5099 Patricia Bay Highway, when she was struck outside the house.

Police said there was no crosswalk in the area.

They also said they were satisfied the car was not exceeding the 50 mph speed limit.

The body was removed to McCall Bros. funeral home. Funeral arrangements are awaiting decision by the coroner on the need for an inquest.

The deceased is survived by two daughters, Mrs. A. K. Hughes, 3697 Elliston, and Mrs. Marian Ives Ucluelet; two grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

She also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Nellie Edmonson, Powell River, and Mrs. Mary Rossborough, Campbellton, NB.

FRIDAY MEETINGS

Victoria Lions Club: 12 noon, Empress Hotel. Dr. J. L. Heffernan, "Your Doctor's Dilemma."

City Librarians Form Institute

Victoria librarians organized their own professional association Wednesday night.

There is only one other such group in Canada, composed of Ontario librarians.

One of the first aims of the new Institute of Victoria Librarians will be to encourage action on the recently completed study of Greater Victoria libraries by Dr. Rose Vainstein. She urged a metro system with branches in each municipality.

Thirty-five members attended the first meeting of the new institute at St. Luke's Church hall.

They represent the provincial and Victoria Public Libraries, Victoria College, Royal Roads, the Public Library Commission and school libraries.

MEMBERSHIP

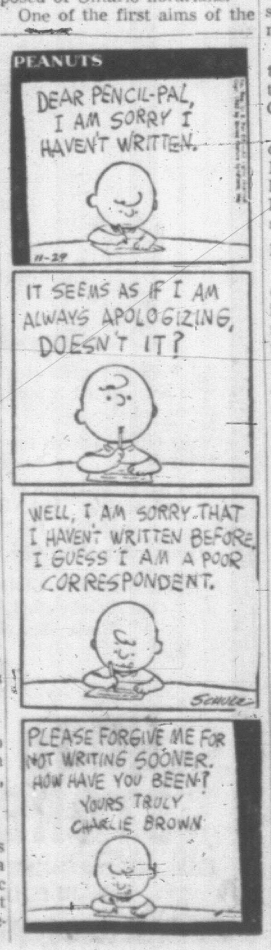
Jim Mitchell, of the provincial library, chairman of the institute's organization commitee, said he hopes for 40 members.

Aims of the institute are to deal with local library problems, improve service and the status of librarians and hold seminars.

Mr. Mitchell said the group will study the Vainstein report and encourage action on it by local councils.

Seven executive council members were elected:

Mrs. Isabel Goodwin and Terry Curran of Victoria Public Library; Ann Vandervoort and Denis Godson of Victoria College; Joan Moore and Mr. Mitchell of the Provincial Library and Cecil Whitlock of Royal Roads Library.



Legion Plans Dinner

Canadian Legion, Dockyard Branch No. 172, will hold a dinner for members who served in the First World War Friday, Dec. 7, at the Legion Hall at 6:30 p.m. Those wishing to attend are asked to notify the secretary-manager by Dec. 4.

LEGAL AGE PROBLEM

'Most Students Are Drinkers'

Students of Victoria College and University of B.C. have raised the question of the legal age for drinking alcoholic beverages. They are considering a petition to the government to reduce the age below the present 21-year limit. Times college reporter Leslie Millin did some investigating on the drinking habits of the under 21s and has put his findings into a two-part article, the second of which follows:

By LESLIE MILLIN

Most high school students in Victoria either drink fairly frequently or have at least experimented with liquor by the time they graduate.

So a sampling of teenagers told The Times when questioned about their attitude to liquor and teenage drinking.

Of 28 young people interviewed, five said they had never had a drink and did not wish to do so until they reached the legal age of 21.

The other 23 said they had been "playing around" with liquor or "drinking pretty steadily" since they entered high school.

What do they drink, and where do they get it?

Most drink hard liquor—whisky, gin, or vodka—and most of them either buy it from a bootlegger or else buy it from a government store by posing as persons over 21. Some get an older person to buy it for them.

Very few will risk buying it by the glass in a beer parlor or cocktail lounge for fear of being caught in a police raid.

One teenager, a 17-year-old boy student at Oak Bay High School, said he only drank with his parents at home.

Others drank at teen parties or in parked cars.

Half a dozen who said they often drank in beer parlors were teenagers who had quit school and were working or were looking for work.

"I work for my living," said one, "I don't see why I can't spend my money as I want. That includes buying liquor.

"Getting it isn't a problem.

"I can take you to five places within two blocks of here (Yates Street) where I can buy a bottle, and I'm two years under age."

Two teenagers admitted they had made use of the beer home delivery service to obtain beer for parties.

A call to either of the two delivery service numbers will send beer to any home.

When it arrives, a teenager answers the door and says the parent who ordered it can't come and sign for it, and takes delivery himself.

Clerks in some of the government liquor stores are not too fussy about identification; some of the teenagers noted.

"They've never asked me in the Humboldt Street store," said a male Victoria High School student, "but I was thrown out of the Johnson Street store the only time I tried there."

Most, however, admitted they patronized the bootleggers at least part of the time—the round of cab companies, grocery stores, and restaurants that will supply liquor to anyone for a price.

Most also confessed that they usually drank it in parked cars, late at night, swallowing rye or gin directly from the bottle without mixing.

One girl, a Victoria High School student, said she buys liquor in the government stores quite frequently for her male escorts.

"They never asked me for identification, I don't know why.

"I get tired of it, sometimes. I wish the boys could buy their own."

City police commission today said alleged bootleg sales to teen-agers reported by The Times will be thoroughly investigated.

Light-Weight Luggage For Future Travellers

By PENNY SAVER

Christmas and graduation days are the times of the year when every boy and girl hopes that Mum and Dad will start them off with a piece of luggage, or add a piece to the set they started last year.

The most important feature to keep in mind when buying luggage nowadays is the weight.

Every time I look at luggage there seems to be a better and lighter set than the time before. Today was no exception.

What appealed to me this time was the five-year guarantee on the covering and the shoulder strap "busy bag" which replaces that old awkward train case.

Frame is made of aircraft aluminum, hinges are rust-proof and the lid stays up when opened. Armor-tough covering comes in red, beige or blue.

The "busy bag" is about the size of a large tote-bag and the handle can be either short or worn over the shoulder. Inside is plastic lined and there is a small removable cosmetic bag in one pocket. Price is $20, but remember Christmas comes but once a year.

If you would like to buy luggage, but at a lower price, there are many other varieties of feather-weight, vinyl-covered cases to choose from—prices start at $10.95 for a train case.

In the same store there are smaller gift items that you may be interested in seeing. One is set of four leather correspondence clips for $2.50, marked answered, unanswered, paid and unpaid.

Another gift that would be appreciated especially by nurses, secretaries and students is a ball point pen and magnetic clip. Clip is mother of pearl disc, a little larger than a quarter, which you pin onto your lapel. The pen is white with a magnetic band which sticks to the clip. This is an attractive gift item for only $1.95.

TODAY'S RECIPE

YULETIDE PUDDING
(With Suet)

Two and three-quarter cups fine dry bread crumbs, 1 teaspoon salt, ¾ cup brown sugar, ½ teaspoon cloves, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ¾ cup scalded milk, 6 eggs (well beaten), 2 cups grated suet, 1 cup seeded raisins, 1 cup currants, ¾ cup ready-cut mixed peel, ¾ cup chopped glace cherries, 1 tablespoon grated orange rind, ¾ cup chopped apples, ¼ cup orange juice.

Blend bread crumbs with salt, brown sugar and spices. Add scalded milk and stir well, then let cool. Add well-beaten eggs, suet, fruits and orange juice, combining thoroughly. Turn into grease and floured mold, filling not more than two-thirds full. Cover loosely with scalded pudding cloth, parchment wrung out of cold water on heavy aluminum foil. Tie down securely. Steam four hours in closely-covered steamer.

BE SMART—

Ring in December with a furry, flattering hat confection, and captivate the stagline in nothing flat! The colors have it in this terrific little toque of luxurious red fox and merry orange felt. A chipper look is achieved in a white swansdown, blithely bedecked with a long black feather.

DEAR ABBY . . .

It Depends on the Definition!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I graduated from business school a month ago and have been looking for an office job ever since. I am turned down everywhere because I am too good-looking! I am told they are afraid the men will spend more time at my desk than at their own. I am flattered to hear this, but do you think it is fair that I should be turned down because I am not ugly? I have to support myself. What do you suggest? TOO BEAUTIFUL

DEAR TOO: Take a good look at yourself. Are you "beautiful" or just provocative, distracting and perhaps a little too come-hitherish? A well-groomed, refined-looking beauty should have no difficulty landing a job.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am 12 years old. I had my eyes checked last year and the doctor said I was near-sighted but I didn't need glasses yet. Yesterday I couldn't read what was on the blackboard and it was only about eight feet away. Everything looked like one big blob. The girl who sits across from me let me use her glasses and, Abby, it was wonderful. Everything was plain again. I told my mother this and she said, "Don't bother me—you are always wanting something!" How can I convince my mother I really need glasses? CAN'T SEE

DEAR CAN'T: Mothers sometimes develop an immunity to their children's requests. Perhaps if your teacher called your mother and told her you should have your eyes checked again, she'd listen.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: We have some neighbors with whom we are fairly friendly. They have two children. One is married and is living away from home, and the other is in a mental institution. When we meet I always inquire about BOTH children. My husband says I should not ask about the one in the mental institution as I KNOW he is mentally ill. I am inquiring as to his PHYSICAL condition, which I think is only right. Would it be better not to mention the one in the institution at all? Our neighbors speak of the one in the mental institution as though he were in an ordinary hospital and they don't seem a bit embarrassed by my question. NO MALICE

DEAR NO: Inquire about both children. In this enlightened age one does not pretend that a person who is in a mental institution is not among the living.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO GLEN OLDEN: The quickest way I know of losing a friend is to tell her something "for her own good."

* * *

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

First Machine Stitch Hem, Then Do Roll Hem by Hand

"Dear Eunice:

"I have a pattern that calls for a rolled hem. I'm uncertain about how this is done and need your help."

Mrs. G. F. S.

Dear Mrs. G. F. S.:

This is a very tiny finish to a garment that is done by hand. There is a little trick that will make this hand hemming easier. Machine stitch about ¼ inch from the cut edge of your garment. Trim the excess fabric to about ⅛ inch from stitching line. Carefully roll this edge and hand-whip tiny invisible stitches. The machine stitching is especially helpful when hemming sheer fabrics such as chiffon because it keeps the edge from stretching.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Life Can Never Be Dull if One Is in Tune With Nature

Every day is a surprise package. We do not know what it holds but it is ours and it is all we have. It may contain hardships, fear, discouragements, frustration and even grief, but it may also bring us surprises in new opportunities, new friends and all of the wonderful small, rewarding, inspiring and amusing things which happen each day if we are aware of them.

Lowman

Such things as a friendly telephone call, an unexpected compliment or thoughtfulness directed toward us, a note of appreciation or a humorous happening all add zest to daily living. Too often we are so preoccupied with our own thoughts that we miss the lift these pleasures could give us.

We should feel deeply grateful that we can enjoy the ever-changing panorama and the varying moods of nature. We should give thanks that we can react to the first snowfall of winter, to the first flower of spring, to sudden showers which refresh the atmosphere with subtle aromas, to a blood-red sunset, to the buzz of bees on a lazy summer day, to the mountains, the sea, palm trees and evergreens. Life could never be dull if one is in tune with nature.

Really we should not ask for anything else if we have good health which adds zest to life just as herbs add flavor to a special dish. Good health is worth working for.

Convict Beginnings of Australia Led to a Deep Loyalty to Crown

In a fast-moving talk Rev. Bruce J. Molloy treated the Women's Canadian Club to a vibrant picture of Australia at meeting held in the ballroom of the Empress Hotel, Wednesday afternoon.

Using the Australian song, "Bound for Botany Bay" as an example, Mr. Molloy asserted, "We Australians are always ready to acknowledge that our country was founded largely by convicts and have no hesitation in acknowledging our humble and inauspicious beginnings."

"Songs," continued the Australian minister, "tell a great deal about a country and this song is proof of our pride in our country's beginning."

Many of the convicts, he explained, were not criminals but political prisoners or men who had disagreed with policies of English officials of that day.

The other two songs that told a great deal of Australia, he said, were "Waltzing Matilda" and "Advance Australia."

"The first describes our pastoral stage and latter, our intense loyalty to the crown."

Touching on the question of whether Great Britain should or should not enter the Common European Market, "This decision is Great Britain's alone. Huffs and puffs of political and economical fortune will make no difference to Australia's loyalty. If Great Britain's joining causes hardship, it will be just another problem that we'll have to beat."

Heat, distance and drought were the chief deterrents to women, living in the back country, the speaker stressed. "It's mainly a man's country, but woe betide any man that hasn't the greatest respect for women there. In the "outback," they're always "ladies" —never women."

Picnic races are the centre of outback social life Rev. Molloy told his audience. "They sometimes last a week. Everyone fancies and races his own horse (no money is passed though!) and in addition, there are kangaroo and clay pigeon shoots. Church services are often held in intermissions and although they often call the minister "devil chaser," it's a sign of affection, not disrespect."

Australians' excellence in sports was, he stressed, due to the fact that they spent most of their time outdoors.

"In our schools, students have to swim 50 yards before they're allowed to participate in any other sport. In Australia, everyone swims and plays tennis. These sports are a necessity, rather than a luxury."

Describing the standard of living as high, Rev. Molloy said that wealth was more evenly distributed there with the majority living on the same level.

"There are few servants but the outskirts of our cities are full of row upon row of small, neat houses, each with it's own green lawn and profusion of roses and geraniums."

Speaker was introduced by Mrs. F. M. Corbett and thanked by Dr. Olga Jardine.

Mr. and Mrs. Barry Rintoul were married in mid-October in Fairfield United Church with Rev. N. K. Johnston officiating. Mrs. Rintoul is the former Saby Kathleen Perfect, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Perfect, 3865 Cadboro Bay Road. Mr. Rintoul's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Barry Rintoul.

Festival Gives Many Ideas in Decoration

Mrs. George R. Pearkes, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor presented prizes in all classes at conclusion of Festival of Christmas Decorations held in the Georgian Lounge at the Empress Hotel, Wednesday afternoon and evening. She was received and introduced to the audience by Mrs. A. E. Cooper, general convener. Festival was sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary to the Family and Children's Service. Mrs. N. Blackmore was co-convener.

Small cones, painted old gold and highlighted with green ribbons, won first prize in miniature trees for Mrs. Rex Humphries. Pastel toned powder puffs "for the bathroom vanity" arranged by Mrs. A. T. Lowen and Mrs. John Bailey, won second prize.

POINSETTIAS

Outsized white pointsettias with red leaves as background won first in door displays for Mrs. Charles Thom; second prize went to Mrs. W. Foster for a swirl of gold painted leaves and colored wool fruits.

A new class for New Year's tables saw Mrs. A. W. J. Smith take first prize with top hat, cane, white scarf and champagne glass as centrepiece. Mrs. Ernest Peden used a blue and white theme to win second prize. White tissue carnations, whitened laurel leaves and tiered candles in colored glass holders were in the arrangement.

Traditional colors of red, green, gold, in pine cones, leaves and candles placed Mrs. T. T. Vaulkhard as first prize winner in the mantel display. Mrs. Gray Russell won second prize with a striking arrangement of copper tray, birds and copper and green leaves.

SHADOW BOX

An oval shadow box with white chrysanthemum and leaves against a red background was used by Mrs. Agnes McConachy to win first in novelties.

A gold-colored base topped with red baubles and candles was used by Mrs. Clara Walker, the second prize winner.

St. Joseph's Hospital student nurses' entry of a kneeling Bambi made of ivy leaves and with a perky holly berry headpiece, won first in the children's party class. Mrs. J. Woodward won second prize.

Gift wrapped package prizes went to Mrs. K. R. McNeill and Mrs. Joan Smith.

Winners in the student section were: table centrepiece, Linda Laverdure, first; Wendy Harris, second; novelty display, Carolyn Zaph, Janet Hollier; gift wrapped package, Daria Brown, Susan Sinkinson; door display, Carol Flack, Linda Kolodinsky and Ernel Lindstrom; miniature tree, Pat Barker, Ruth Jorgenson and Marilyn Mearns; mobile, Trudy Amman, Janice Janes.

In charge of adult entries was Mrs. R. R. Wilde; student entries, Mrs. L. E. Booth and Mrs. O. Holland; tickets, Mrs. Pete Sallaway; raffle, Mrs. Ruth Forbes and Mrs. A. Saunders; planning, Mrs. G. Forbes; gift stall, Mrs. F. M. Waller and Mrs. O. Holland.

Judges were Mrs. G. A. Wiggan, Mrs. Shirley McAree, Miss K. F. Ede and Mrs. O. S. Haughton.

Christmas Door Decorating Hints

During the Christmas season decorating your front door is one way of saying "Merry Christmas" to visitors, for Christmas is a time of warm welcome.

The traditional lighted Christmas wreath makes a handsome addition to the decoration of the door. The whole effect can be highlighted by a floodlight placed in a swivel-type holder overhead and pointed so that the deep green of the wreath and red of the ribbon are emphasized in a soft white light.

If the lines of your doorway are such that light directed upward would bring out the symmetry of the lines and cast interesting shadows, use a more elaborate type of wreath, and place evergreen boughs under the cornice of the porch roof. Entwine colored lights on a string in the evergreen boughs. Two floodlights concealed behind some bushes that flank the doorstep will throw their beams upward and bathe the entire ensemble in an interesting pattern of light and shadow.

TREES HELP

If you happen to have an evergreen tree on either side of the doorway, frame the door with evergreen roping. Place two lighted bells, tied together with a bright red or green ribbon over the door. Decorate the evergreen trees and the roping with strings of lights and metal foil ornaments. Then place two floodlights at each side so that the light sparkles on the ornaments and gives general illumination.

Tall glowing candles are a lovely addition to any doorway as a symbol of the Christmas spirit. These candles can be made from sections of pipe, plastic or mailing tubes. Place an outdoor string inside the tube so that a red light can be used for the "flame."

ON THE STEPS

Interesting effects can be created if you have a stairway to your porch. Buy a rope of greenery and wire it along the railings. Entwine colored lights. Decorate your doorway with styrofoam balls and stars wired to an 8-inch strip of chicken wire and tack to the frame. If you have a porch roof, lights may be strung in a corkscrew fashion about the pillars. Try using a variety of colors, but if you prefer a dramatic effect, use one color of lights only.

Another interesting composition of evergreen and lights can be created by framing your doorway with evergreen boughs entwined with colored Christmas lights. Place a creche of silhouetted figures above the door. A star lighted from behind tops the display. To focus attention on the creche light is used behind the figures as well as illumination from a floodlight placed on the lawn.

If you plan to use floodlights in your decorating scheme this year, make sure they are weatherproof.

Remember, floodlights must be used in proper proportion to achieve the right effects and shadows. It is also important to know the effect one color produces on another. For instance, a green light on a red decoration would change the decoration to a nondescript brown. On the other hand, to enhance the natural green of evergreens, a pale green floodlight should be used. The safest procedure, if not the most interesting, is to use white light on colored objects.

Alderman Mrs. Lily Wilson will officially open the Christmas tea and bazaar, arranged by St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society at Holyrood House on Saturday, December 8 from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. There will be stalls of home cooking, jams, jellies, aprons, door prizes, a Christmas tree and Santa Claus to make the draws. Tickets are available at Horseshoe Newsstand, 1231 Government Street, or Scottish Hand Loom Weaver, 2534 Estevan Avenue.

Cash for Cats

Approximately $600 was realized when the Cats' Protection League held a successful Christmas tea and bazaar in the Britannia Hall. Mrs. J. M. Hunter was convener of affair which was opened by Mother Cecilia Mary of the Good Shepherd Shelter.

Mrs. I. D. Woods was in charge of kitchen arrangements, assisted by Mrs. A. Carmichan, Mrs G. Farmer, Mrs. F. Baynton, Mrs. B. Perkins and Mrs. H. Maurice. Serviteurs were Mrs. T. Unicume, Mrs. D. Wilson, Mrs. W. Lee, Mrs. F. Munro and Miss N. Ferguson.

Others conveners were: Superfluities, Mrs. G. Larrigan, Miss J. Knight and Miss V. Lawrenson; aprons, Mrs. E. Sproxton, Mrs. S. Holm and Mrs. T. Gunterman; home cooking, Mrs. F. Kriegel and Mrs. O. Dugdale; plants and books, Mrs. E. Griswold and Mrs. M. Woodcock; literature and memberships, Mrs. J. Jackson, Miss O. Bessi and Mrs. T. Kerswell; raffle, Miss G. Owen, Miss E. Pearson and Mrs. H. T. Hardinge; receipts, Miss W. Hughes and Mrs. R. Wilds.

LITTLE HOPE FOR 'NINA'

LAS PALMAS, Canaries (UP)—A port official said today crewmen of the Nina II have little hope of survival—even if the tiny vessel is still afloat—unless they are located by Friday.

The replica of the smallest ship in Christopher Columbus's "fleet," which is trying to duplicate his historic voyage, has not been sighted since Oct. 11.

ARGUE FIRES CHARGE AT AGRICULTURE MINISTER

'Toughest Political Machine West Has Ever Seen'

ARGUE
. . . resolution talked out

OTTAWA (CP)—Liberal farm spokesman Hazen Argue says Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton has created the "toughest political machine that Western Canada has ever seen" out of the Prairie Farm Assistance Administration, a federal agency.

"I have it from some very good people who work for the administration that they have been told in no uncertain terms that unless they will go out and carry on organizational activity for the Tory party they will be fired," Mr. Argue charged in the Commons Wednesday.

There were angry denials from Progressive Conservative back-benchers.

"A shameful attack on people who are serving this country properly," said Jack Horner (PC—Acadia).

Eldon Woolliams (PC—Bow River) said Mr. Argue must have had a nightmare while looking at the old files of the late James G. Gardiner, former Liberal agriculture minister.

Mr. Argue, MP for Assiniboia, said: "Under the Prairie Farm Assistance Act the minister of agriculture has a tough, Tory political machine. . . . This machine is working in all parts of Western Canada where the act applies. . . .

"What I have been saying now is no attack directed at the good people who are operating Prairie Farm Assistance. It is an attack on the minister, an attack on a government that says to these people, if you have an opportunity to do a job for us you have to do a political organizational job for the Tory party or we will fire you."

Mr. Argue also charged that certain Conservative MPs give three lists to Prairie Farm Assistance administrators: One of names of persons who ask for jobs as inspectors, one of names of political partisans recommended by the MPs, and one of names of persons who are to get the appointments.

He asked that administration of the act be examined by a Commons committee.

Mr. Argue dropped his charges into a debate on his own resolution to double payments to Western farmers for crop failures. The resolution was talked out.

DIEF STILL SEEKS QUEBEC LIEUTENANT

Bertrand Rejects Offer

OTTAWA (CP)—The search for a strong Quebec lieutenant for Prime Minister Diefenbaker seems destined to go on a while longer.

Informants say that overtures to Jean-Jacques Bertrand, 46, former Union Nationale cabinet minister in Quebec, have halted with word that Mr. Bertrand prefers to remain in provincial politics for a few years.

Suggestions that Mayor Jean Drapeau of Montreal might be willing to join the federal Progressive Conservatives have not gained favor in the highest political circles here.

And a fresh report that Maurice Bellmare, Union Nationale member of the legislature for Champlain constituency, might be invited to Ottawa through a seat in the Senate or a vacancy created in the Commons, is being dismissed abruptly.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker himself will not comment on such reports.

But it is known that some overtures were made to Mr. Bertrand and the others to ascertain whether they would be interested in joining the Diefenbaker cabinet in Ottawa. The overtures had various degrees of official support within the Conservative party, it was understood.

In the case of Mr. Bertrand, the feelers started going out as long ago as last summer, after the federal election in which the government lost three Quebec ministers and won only minority control of the Commons.

ROMANIA'S CERAMICS

"Scalp tension, a sign of the times, is one cause of your hair loss," says trichologist M. D. Harrison to balding man. Harrison directs the famous Harrison Hair and Scalp Specialists, whose main office is in Vancouver. He will be here to advise men how to correct hair troubles by home treatment.

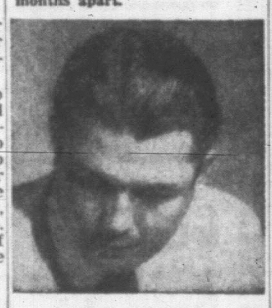
How to save and improve your hair demonstrated by expert here today and tomorrow

New home treatment methods for preventing baldness—and growing thicker hair—will be demonstrated in Victoria today and tomorrow, November 29 and 30.

This news was released here today by M. D. Harrison, internationally famous director of Harrison Hair and Scalp Specialists.

In his announcement, Harrison said that he himself will conduct the Victoria clinic. He will personally examine hair-worried men and women from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. today and tomorrow, November 29 and 30, at the Hotel Sussex.

Leonard A. Floyd before and after scalp treatment. Unretouched photographs made four months apart.



Examine You Free

"I want to make it clear that you incur no charge or obligation by seeing me," director Harrison said.

"Your only obligation is to yourself—to free your mind of worries about hair loss, dandruff, itching, or other scalp disorders, by learning how to take care of your hair. If your trouble is beyond the scope of Harrison Home treatment, we will frankly tell you so. But less than five per cent of the people we examine are 'hopeless'."

Offers No Cure-All

Harrison emphasized that his new home treatment is neither "mail-order" nor "cure-all."

"We always make a personal examination before suggesting any treatment," he pointed out. "There is no one cure-all that will correct every one of the 18 scalp disorders that cause most baldness."

Harrison said that sometimes your treatment must be changed after a few weeks to get best results. "For this reason, you mail regular reports of your hair progress to the Harrison headquarters in Vancouver.

"Also, your scalp condition is checked personally by a Harrison trichologist at regular intervals."

Who Can Be Helped?

Will this new treatment cure baldness? "No," said Harrison sincerely. "We can not help men who are slick-bald after years of gradual hair loss. But where your scalp still grows hair, we can at least save and improve what you have. Usually, we can grow more hair even where you have only 'fuzz' now."

The important thing is: Don't wait until it's too late!

Best evidence of the success of Harrison treatment is the phenomenal growth of the organization behind it. Harrison and his affiliates maintain treatment clinics in Canada, the U.S. and Mexico. And their staff trichologists regularly do extension work in more than 100 other cities.

Satisfy 95%

"Our biggest problem is not in doing what we claim to do," declared Harrison. "We satisfy more than 95 per cent of our patients, and have records to prove it.

"But to overcome the average man's initial skepticism is sometimes difficult. He's usually quite desperate—and baldish—by the time he nerves himself to see a Harrison trichologist. He's tried everything. So he starts consoling himself with one of the old superstitions about hair: That baldness is hereditary; that men naturally lose hair as they get along in years; that nothing can be done to stop hair loss—and a lot of other notions that we know are not true today.

Free Scalp Examination

See Mr. Harrison in person. Learn how baldness can be stopped, and new hair grown on your own scalp. The new Harrison method permits you to actually stop your baldness and regrow hair in the privacy of your own home.

For a free examination and discussion of your hair problems ask the desk clerk at the Hotel Sussex today or tomorrow between 1 p.m. and 8 p.m. for Mr. Harrison's suite number.

You don't need an appointment. You won't be embarrassed or obligated in any way. Examinations are given in private.

DOLLAR NOW AT 77 CENTS

OTTAWA (CP) — Consumer price index records show that purchasing value of a dollar was worth 100 cents in 1949 against 77 cents now, the Commons was told Wednesday.

The government said it has no figures of its own on the relative purchasing value of the dollar for various years but relies on the price index.

Old Ways of Life Disappearing As Prosperity Comes to Europe

By RICHARD O'REGAN

BONN (AP)—It used to be that Horst Pfaff gave up his seat to ladies in crowded streetcars.

He doesn't any more.

"Ever since I went to a barber shop and found I had to have my hair cut by a girl, I consider women my equal," he says. "They can stand."

When he arrived at his bank and left in the evening, he used to make a ritual of shaking hands with 30 other employees.

"This was a good old German custom. But the manager said 'Nobody gets any work done—you're so busy shaking hands.' So we gave that up, too," Pfaff said.

Old European ways of life are breaking down. There is a great upsurge and ease in travel. Mass production and advertising means Europeans have similar wants. Prosperity has brought an extraordinary improvement in the European standard of living during the last 10 years.

HAVE MORE LUXURIES

West Europe's 300,000,000 people are better off than they or their ancestors ever were, despite large areas of poverty in Greece, southern Italy, Spain and Portugal.

Millions who never would have dreamed of such luxuries a few years ago now are buying automobiles, television sets, washing machines, refrigerators.

Or take housing. Before the war, the highest aspiration of the average European was a two or three-room apartment in the city. On Sundays, he would muster his entire family with rucksacks on their backs, take the street car to the city outskirts and go for a long hike.

Now, many Europeans in large cities aspire for a small villa in the suburbs. As a result, satellite towns and communities are developing.

Take the role of women as another example.

Thirty-four per cent of German women now are working. They used to retire quietly to the corner and never butt into private conversations of their husbands. Now they not only talk, but also take an active part in politics.

Frau Schmidt and Madame Robert used to go out before each meal to purchase the makings. They would have a nice chat with the little storekeeper around the corner and select something from his limited supply.

Now supermarkets, department stores and mail order houses are springing up. The housewife gets a better selection, including ready-to-serve frozen foods, but no gossip.

Of all the new changes in Europe, sociologists say the most significant is taking place in family life.

Father no longer is the iron-handed absolutist of old. French fathers shout and expostulate with their young and hold them to a series of rigidly regulated duties, but the extreme discipline of a generation ago is declining.

Many Parisian fathers no longer go home to lunch—an almost unheard of development in French family life. But many small Swiss cities close up like a jail from 12 to 2 p.m. while everybody goes home. Streets are deserted. Not even telephone switchboards in big companies are manned. The noon-day meal is still sacred there.

GREAT RAILWAYS

There are about 5,000 Canadian National Railway stations in Canada and about 3,000 belong to the Canadian Pacific Railway.

FUND TO HELP the people of India in their border war with Red China is being started here by Kuldeep Bains. Mr. Bains said a tentative objective of from $40,000 to $50,000 is proposed for Vancouver Island. About $40,000 was raised in a two-week campaign on the B.C. mainland.

Alcoholic Assistance Available

Victoria's Salvation Army officers today challenged a statement by James Audain, president of the Vancouver Island Alcoholism Foundation, that "there is no special treatment available on the Island for alcoholics."

They said the Army's Harbor Light at 550 Yates Street feeds about 30 alcoholics every day and gives them "every assistance" in overcoming the drink problem.

"We have rehabilitated many men to the point where they could hold down a decent job and recover the respect of their wives and families," said Sergeant Joseph Matteson.

GREAT WORK

"Many ex-alcoholics are now doing great work in the Salvation Army. Having been alcoholics themselves, they understand the terrible problem involved. They know that no man can conquer the habit without the help of Almighty God."

Mr. Audain said recently that the Vancouver Island Alcoholism Foundation needs funds to set up a clinic in Victoria.

It needs about $8,000 to establish a clinic, and wants to set up an information office with a consultant to provide assistance to alcoholics and with funds to pay for treatment.

'INHUMANITY'

Soblen Case Raises Uproar In U.K. House

LONDON (UPI) — The last days of Soviet spy Robert A. Soblen exploded into a stormy parliamentary debate Wednesday night over Britain's role in his dramatic flight to death.

One Labor Party member of parliament accused Home Secretary Henry Brooke of inhumanity in ordering the New York psychiatrist deported back to America to serve a life prison term.

The debate came during consideration of whether to continue the Aliens Act, under which Soblen's deportation was ordered.

Soblen fled to Israel last June to escape the prison term, but was deported because he entered on a false passport. On the airliner taking him back to the United States, he slashed his left wrist and gouged his stomach with a stolen steak knife.

DESPERATE BATTLE

The plane landed at London airport and Soblen was taken to a nearby hospital. From there, and later from Brixton Prison, the 61-year-old spy waged a desperate court battle to escape deportation to America.

On Sept. 6, as he was being taken to an America-bound airliner, Soblen swallowed barbiturates. He died five days later without regaining consciousness.

In parliament Labor MP Sydney Silverman, who said Soblen had been dying of leukemia, pointed his finger at Brooke and shouted:

"What was your overwhelming reason why this man should be hunted, hounded, persecuted and ultimately driven to death because we could not afford him living space in Britain for the one or two months he had to live?"

ILLNESS FAKED

A pathologist said after Soblen's death that the spy had been faking the symptoms of terminal leukemia. The disease was "regressive," he said, and Soblen probably would have lived for years.

Silverman attacked Brooke's claim that Soblen's deportation was "conducive to the public good."

"I know why he thought it conducive to the public good," the bearded MP said. "It was because the U.S. government asked him."

Largest Cunningham Store at Hillside

Largest Cunningham drug store in British Columbia opens Friday morning at Hillside shopping plaza—stocking a complete range of drugs, personal needs and related items.

It will be the 49th link in the Cunningham chain that reaches from Victoria to the northern interior.

At first glance, through its all-glass front wall 60 feet wide, the layout appears as a department store, with its rows of display counters, numbered sections and twin check-out desks.

Manager Les Pollard — a veteran pharmacist of 35 years in the retail drugstore business—agrees with the description.

Except for the dispensing of prescription drugs, there are no specialties exclusive to drugstores any more.

"It's just like a department store," he remarked.

The layout is simplicity itself, allowing a customer to be his own clerk in choosing items from the shelves and counters set out with spacious aisles between.

The atmosphere is pleasant, with brightly lighted baby blue, pale yellow and beige walls and fixtures illuminated by 160 seven-foot fluorescent tubes.

Its 6,100 square feet of floor area provide the store with close to 50 sections and departments, plus the dispensary, a raised area located in the centre of the rear wall, where pharmacist Harald Jensen works.

Mr. Pollard, who has spent most of his drug store career in Victoria, latterly as manager of the Fort Douglas branch, will co-manage these two stores until Jan. 15 when the downtown outlet will close to make way for a new bank.

'Andy' Gives Reader Recipe for Diamonds

It seems that many winners of Ask Andy prizes are fond of arithmetic.

One is eight-year-old Douglas Pringle, 2083 Neil Street, who today won one of Hammond's inflatable international globes for a question he submitted to the "Ask Andy" column.

But Douglas doesn't only like arithmetic. He's also fond of reading, especially stories about farms, birds and animals.

The question which won him the globe is: "What are diamonds made of?"

It all started when Douglas heard that diamonds, apart from being worn by beautiful princesses, are also used to cut glass. This made him curious. The question is answered in today's column.

Douglas is a grade three pupil at Richmond Elementary School. His outdoor activities include ice skating and swimming.

He is also a member of the Tyros at Metropolitan United Church.

Douglas has a pet turtle. He had two once. But one morning he discovered that one of the little amphibians (animals living in both land and water) had disappeared. It has never been found.

DOUGLAS PRINGLE
. . . likes skating

Douglas has two sisters and a brother. They are Cam, 2, Anne, 4, Kathy, 9 and Richard, 17.

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second ques-

Andy sends a Hammond's International World Globe to Daniel Halliday, age 10, of Okemos, Mich., and to Douglas Pringle, age 8, of Victoria, B.C., for their question:

What Is a Diamond Made Of?

The rare and precious diamond is made of plain carbon, and carbon is one of the most plentiful elements in our world. What's more, every atom of carbon is like every other atom of carbon. Graphite, which is the so-called lead in a pencil, is also made of pure carbon.

The difference between diamond and graphite lies in the way in which the carbon atoms are fitted together. In a diamond, the carbon atoms are locked together in a tight crystal formation. In nature, carbon atoms form into diamond crystals when they suffer through the terrific heat and pressure of erupting volcanoes. At last we are learning to copy nature's recipe to produce man-made diamonds.

Rivers Must Run Down Slope

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Karen Rupert, age nine, Houston, Tex., for her question:

Do all continents have a continental divide?

A great American holiday adventure is a family auto trip from coast to coast. Somewhere in the Rockies we cross a line. We would never notice it, but usually there is a sign beside the road which tells us we are crossing the Great Divide. This is our proud name for the continental divide of North America. All the other wide land masses of the earth have their continental divides.

The rivers of a vast land mass run down, down from the high ground to the lowlands. Finally they reach the sea, which is lower than any of the land, and there they empty their fresh waters into the salty oceans. Some rivers run into inland lakes, and the lakes spill over with streams and waterfalls. Most of these lake-born streams join the rivers and sweep along to the sea.

A few rivers spill into deep inland lakes and never get to the ocean. The Jordan River of Utah empties into the Great Salt Lake, which is shut off from the sea. But most of the world's river water flows down, downhill to the salty ocean. It may gush down a steep slope at 20 miles an hour—which is four times faster than you can walk. It may crawl over a gentle slope and take more than three hours to travel a lazy mile.

But the path of a river must run down a slope, even when the slope is too gentle for us to notice. This is because water on the ground must obey nature's traffic law, which says that rivers must run downhill until they meet their own level. This low level usually is the sea. The solid continents are, of course, wrinkled with ups and downs, low valleys and lofty mountains. Even a flat-flat plain is slightly tipped, and none of the continents is as flat as a table top.

Each continent has one ridge of high ground, which is higher than all the rest. This is its continental divide. A merry stream born on the very top of a continental divide may flow down this side or that side. But the streams born on the sides of the continental divide cannot flow up one side and down the opposite side. So a continental divide divides the rivers of a continent and makes them flow in opposite directions.

TEEN-AGE CANADA

'Volunteens' In the Red Cross

Last summer a little crippled girl watched a 16-year-year-old girl walk away from her in the hospital. Then she turned to a friend.

"You know what," she said, "I like her just as much as my regular nurse."

She paused, pursed her lips, and added, "Maybe better."

The story sums up the progress of a one-year-old experiment in human relations by the Canadian Junior Red Cross—the story of the 468 "volunteens" who work in hospitals across the country.

Teen-agers across Canada have been proving for the last 12 months that they can handle the responsibility of helping out their local Red Cross in hospitals, blood donor clinics or other areas.

In British Columbia, teen-agers have been working in children's hospitals, in blood donor clinics and in special Christmas programs. Most are either 16 years old or older.

In Alberta, up to 100 teen-agers have welcomed nervous adults to blood clinics, entertained youngsters in deaf-and-dumb classes, visited with elderly persons — and this Christmas are planning an Eskimo "toyland airlift."

Movement Spreads

Probably the most active "volunteen" groups so far are in Montreal and Toronto. But Red Cross officials say that the movement is gradually spreading into every province.

An official explained the philosophy of the program in this way.

A Link

"Junior Red Cross has accomplished a lot in Canada in 10 years," he said. "But we've felt for some time that we'd like to strengthen the link between it and the senior group. That's where teen-agers come in.

"Hospitals discovered soon after our program began," he added, "that teen-agers are actually better than adults in some situations.

"A teen-ager working with children is far more flexible than an adult. He or she can be on the child's level for a few minutes and then shift to being an adult supervisor again. Only the rare adult can do that."

Is every teen-ager eligible? "It's hard to decide which age should be the minimum to do work like this," the official said. "One teen-ager may be far more mature at 14 than another is at 17.

"But we feel that 16 is a good minimum age for the average volunteer. A teen-ager who starts with us before then usually works for some time in a hospital before coming into contact with the patients."

Junior Red Cross now lists 68 "volunteen" groups working across Canada. It might be a good spare-time project for you in your community if you're interested.

Pranks Were Square

A few of you wrote just after Halloween with the same message: Don't think that the teen-age misfits who made the headlines after Halloween were typical of all teen-agers in Canada.

Bob Marshall, 15, of Montreal, wrote: "It makes my blood boil each year to hear that a minority of teen-agers has been out breaking windows, tearing down gates—or even trying to derail trains."

"In many cases, they probably weren't even teenagers. Or even if they were, people forget that other teen-agers raise money for charity or work on community projects all year with no recognition."

I can add one personal observation, Bob. On Halloween night, a few friends and I strolled several blocks, noticing how some people had gone to a lot of trouble carving unique pumpkins for their young visitors.

There were jagged-tooth jack-o'-lanterns. There were others with eyebrows, some with broad grins, some with only one tooth, and one that was winking rakishly.

All of them looked like they were enjoying their night of glory as much as we were. So we turned and slowly walked back to look at them again.

We were too late. Every one, glowing defenceless in the night had been smashed.

Right Wrong Turn

A young Montreal singer is thankful today that he gets mixed up about addresses.

A show business magazine reports that Neil Pincus walked into the office of a New York agent, signed a "writing and management" contract—and then discovered he wasn't in the office he'd headed for.

George Pincus, who signed up Neil, described him later as "a sensational singer and composer." Let's hope he's right.

'Andy' Gives Reader Recipe for Diamonds

It seems that many winners of Ask Andy prizes are fond of arithmetic.

One is eight-year-old Douglas Pringle, 2083 Neil Street, who today won one of Hammond's inflatable international globes for a question he submitted to the "Ask Andy" column.

But Douglas doesn't only like arithmetic. He's also fond of reading, especially stories about farms, birds and animals.

The question which won him the globe is: "What are diamonds made of?"

It all started when Douglas heard that diamonds, apart from being worn by beautiful princesses, are also used to cut glass. This made him curious. The question is answered in today's column.

Douglas is a grade three pupil at Richmond Elementary School. His outdoor activities include ice skating and swimming.

He is also a member of the Tyros at Metropolitan United Church.

Douglas has a pet turtle. He had two once. But one morning he discovered that one of the little amphibians (animals living in both land and water) had disappeared. It has never been found.

DOUGLAS PRINGLE
. . . likes skating

Douglas has two sisters and a brother. They are Cam, 2, Anne, 4, Kathy, 9 and Richard, 17.

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second ques-

Andy sends a Hammond's International World Globe to Daniel Halliday, age 10, of Okemos, Mich., and to Douglas Pringle, age 8, of Victoria, B.C., for their question:

What Is a Diamond Made Of?

The rare and precious diamond is made of plain carbon, and carbon is one of the most plentiful elements in our world. What's more, every atom of carbon is like every other atom of carbon. Graphite, which is the so-called lead in a pencil, is also made of pure carbon.

The difference between diamond and graphite lies in the way in which the carbon atoms are fitted together. In a diamond, the carbon atoms are locked together in a tight crystal formation. In nature, carbon atoms form into diamond crystals when they suffer through the terrific heat and pressure of erupting volcanoes. At last we are learning to copy nature's recipe to produce man-made diamonds.

Rivers Must Run Down Slope

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Karen Rupert, age nine, Houston, Tex., for her question:

Do all continents have a continental divide?

A great American holiday adventure is a family auto trip from coast to coast. Somewhere in the Rockies we cross a line. We would never notice it, but usually there is a sign beside the road which tells us we are crossing the Great Divide. This is our proud name for the continental divide of North America. All the other wide land masses of the earth have their continental divides.

The rivers of a vast land mass run down, down from the high ground to the lowlands. Finally they reach the sea, which is lower than any of the land, and there they empty their fresh waters into the salty oceans. Some rivers run into inland lakes, and the lakes spill over with streams and waterfalls. Most of these lake-born streams join the rivers and sweep along to the sea.

A few rivers spill into deep inland lakes and never get to the ocean. The Jordan River of Utah empties into the Great Salt Lake, which is shut off from the sea. But most of the world's river water flows down, downhill to the salty ocean. It may gush down a steep slope at 20 miles an hour—which is four times faster than you can walk. It may crawl over a gentle slope and take more than three hours to travel a lazy mile.

But the path of a river must run down a slope, even when the slope is too gentle for us to notice. This is because water on the ground must obey nature's traffic law, which says that rivers must run downhill until they meet their own level. This low level usually is the sea. The solid continents are, of course, wrinkled with ups and downs, low valleys and lofty mountains. Even a flat-flat plain is slightly tipped, and none of the continents is as flat as a table top.

Each continent has one ridge of high ground, which is higher than all the rest. This is its continental divide. A merry stream born on the very top of a continental divide may flow down this side or that side. But the streams born on the sides of the continental divide cannot flow up one side and down the opposite side. So a continental divide divides the rivers of a continent and makes them flow in opposite directions.

TEEN-AGE CANADA

'Volunteens' In the Red Cross

Last summer a little crippled girl watched a 16-year-year-old girl walk away from her in the hospital. Then she turned to a friend.

"You know what," she said, "I like her just as much as my regular nurse."

She paused, pursed her lips, and added, "Maybe better."

The story sums up the progress of a one-year-old experiment in human relations by the Canadian Junior Red Cross—the story of the 468 "volunteens" who work in hospitals across the country.

Teen-agers across Canada have been proving for the last 12 months that they can handle the responsibility of helping out their local Red Cross in hospitals, blood donor clinics or other areas.

In British Columbia, teen-agers have been working in children's hospitals, in blood donor clinics and in special Christmas programs. Most are either 16 years old or older.

In Alberta, up to 100 teen-agers have welcomed nervous adults to blood clinics, entertained youngsters in deaf and dumb classes, visited with elderly persons — and this Christmas are planning an Eskimo "toyland airlift."

Movement Spreads

Probably the most active "volunteen" groups so far are in Montreal and Toronto. But Red Cross officials say that the movement is gradually spreading into every province.

An official explained the philosophy of the program in this way.

A Link

"Junior Red Cross has accomplished a lot in Canada in 40 years," he said. "But we've felt for some time that we'd like to strengthen the link between it and the senior group. That's where teen-agers come in.

"Hospitals discovered soon after our program began," he added, "that teen-agers are actually better than adults in some situations.

"A teen-ager working with children is far more flexible than an adult. He or she can be on the child's level for a few minutes and then shift to being an adult supervisor again. Only the rare adult can do that."

Is every teen-ager eligible? "It's hard to decide which age should be the minimum to do work like this," the official said. "One teen-ager may be far more mature at 14 than another is at 17.

"But we feel that 16 is a good minimum age for the average volunteer. A teen-ager who starts with us before then usually works for some time in a hospital before coming into contact with the patients."

Junior Red Cross now lists 68 "volunteen" groups working across Canada. It might be a good spare-time project for you in your community if you're interested.

Pranks Were Square

A few of you wrote just after Halloween with the same message: Don't think that the teen-age misfits who made the headlines after Halloween were typical of all teen-agers in Canada.

Bob Marshall, 15, of Montreal, wrote: "It makes my blood boil each year to hear that a minority of teen-agers has been out breaking windows, tearing down gates—or even trying to derail trains."

"In many cases, they probably weren't even teenagers. Or even if they were, people forget that other teen-agers raise money for charity or work on community projects all year with no recognition."

I can add one personal observation, Bob. On Halloween night, a few friends and I strolled several blocks, noticing how some people had gone to a lot of trouble carving unique pumpkins for their young visitors.

There were jagged-tooth jack-o'-lanterns. There were others with eyebrows, some with broad grins, some with only one tooth, and one that was winking rakishly.

Largest Cunningham Store at Hillside

Largest Cunningham drug-store in British Columbia opens Friday morning at Hillside shopping plaza—stocking a complete range of drugs, personal needs and related items.

It will be the 49th link in the Cunningham chain that reaches from Victoria to the northern interior.

At first glance, through its all-glass front wall 60 feet wide, the layout appears as a department store, with its rows of display counters, numbered sections and twin check-out desks.

Manager Les Pollard — a veteran pharmacist of 35 years in the retail drugstore business—agrees with the de scription.

Except for the dispensing of prescription drugs, there are no specialties exclusive to drugstores any more.

"It's just like a department store," he remarked.

The layout is simplicity it self, allowing a customer to be his own clerk in choosing items from the shelves and counters set out with spacious aisles between.

The atmosphere is pleasant, with brightly lighted baby blue, pale yellow and beige walls and fixtures illuminated by 160 seven-foot fluorescent tubes.

Its 6,100 square feet of floor area provide the store with close to 50 sections and depart-ments, plus the dispensary, a raised area located in the centre of the rear wall, where pharmacist Harald Jensen works.

Mr. Pollard, who has spent most of his drug store career in Victoria, latterly as man-ager of the Fort-Douglas branch, will co-manage these two stores until Jan. 15 when the downtown outlet will close to make way for a new bank.

Unify Albernis Before Tax Hike, Mayor Proposes

ALBERNI — Plans for the unification of Alberni and Port Alberni should be made before a major jump in the latter's tax rate in 1965, Mayor Fred Bishop said this week.

He told an annual steward ship meeting that when a fixed tax agreement between Port Alberni and the city's major industry, MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Industries (Alberni) Ltd., ends in three years, it will mean a 16-mill increase.

It will have a repercussion in Alberni, he warned.

In view of the common interests between the cities the suggestion for a metropolitan or amalgamated form of government is popular.

WANTS STUDY

The mayor cautions against a move before proper study has been made of the alternatives, and meanwhile it is Alberni policy to proceed wherever possible with joint undertakings when new services are required in both places.

A second important consideration should be for local financing in view of the provincial government's decision to stop per capita tax grants to municipalities, replacing them with grants in lieu of taxes.

Premier Bennett also has said the home-owner grant would be increased by $50 to $100.

HIGHER COST

The result could cost Alberni $68,000 a year in revenue Mayor Bishop said.

Next year's budget must be prepared without taking grants into consideration, he said, adding that he feels the per capita grant has been a municipality's proper share of liquor, sales, gasoline and other provincially-collected taxes.

This year there was $69,330 grant and $1,500 other revenue from government property.

Ald. G. M. Blair reported a $600,000 bylaw for sewers would be more than adequate to cover expansion, and the system should be operating in mid-1963.

NEWS OF THE ISLAND

Fair Board Increase Proposed

COURTENAY — Fall fair directors should spend more time working on the fair, the exhibition annual meeting was told this week.

Eric Chayko, fair manager, recommended a committee of three directors also be set up to help plan the fair with the manager.

A profit of $379 was reported for the 1962 fair.

Prizes totalled $1,837 and $1,891 was spent on salaries. Remainder of the $6,000 budget went to advertising, printing, and setting up grounds and buildings.

Chayko urged immediate attention to obtaining a government grant for more buildings. Help of schools should be sought to counteract a sharp decline in junior entries, and consideration should be given to moving food and novelty concessions under one roof, he said.

He advised the association he may not be able to act as manager for next year's fair.

WANT INCREASE

Alex Sim, president, reported the number of exhibitors this year had been large but more should be done to encourage a further increase in entries.

He told the meeting of only 14 members that the importance of a membership drive will be discussed at the first meeting of the new board.

Re-elected directors were W. W. McLeod, Donald Halstead, Herbert Spencer, James Percy and John Larsen.

The new board will meet soon to choose the 1963 president and executive.

A suggestion from Ray Phillips of the Island Potters Club for extended pottery displays and demonstrations will be studied. The pottery exhibit became an unexpected high light of the 1962 fair.

Ganges Anglicans Welcome Rector

GANGES—Salt Spring Island parishioners gathered in St. George's Parish Hall to welcome the new rector, Rev. Stanley J. Leech, and Mrs. Leech, formerly of Lytton.

The new rector was introduced by former incumbent, Archdeacon G. H. Holmes. Mrs. Leech and Mrs. Holmes were presented with corsages by the women of the parish.

Dr. Norah Hughes, pastor of Ganges United Church, and Rev. P. Hanley of Our Lady of Grace Roman Catholic Church, Ganges, brought greetings from their congregations.

Misses Susan Fellows and Heather Anderson entertained with piano duets.

NEW ADMINISTRATOR of Lady Minto Gulf Islands Hospital at Ganges is Harold Hoffman, who will replace Group Capt. W. E. Dipple. His appointment will be effective Dec. 31.

Duncan Group Plans Action On Flooding

DUNCAN—Members of the Southend Taxpayers' Association intend to take action on the problem of the flood threat in various local areas and especially in the Wall subdivision.

A decision was made at their last meeting to approach the federal, provincial governments and the North Cowichan municipal council.

Maj.-Gen. C. A. P. Murison, chairman of the Cowichan-Koksilah Rivers Flood Control Committee, explained to taxpayers that the estimated cost to alleviate the flood problem would be about three-quarters of a million dollars and that the province of B.C. is faced with 46 similar problems.

Committee reports were given at the meeting by Councillors Tony Staples, Reginald Clegg and Mrs. Elaine Dobbyn.

Elected for the coming year were: W. W. Seymour, president; Nils Allan, vice-president; C. A. Green, Mrs. Don Baker and John Cannon, directors.

Accidents Claim 25

NANAIMO (CP) — Twenty-five persons were killed in traffic accidents in this area in the last five years, Ald. Doug Greer, a member of the citizens committee for traffic safety, said in a talk here Wednesday.

He said 687 persons have been injured in 1,607 accidents and there was property damage of $783,795.

Up-Island Contracts Provide Jobs

NANAIMO—Four contracts valued at $1,225,000 will do much to keep winter employment high in the Nanaimo area.

Biggest item is the $802,500 vocational school, to be awarded in two or three days, according to Works Minister W. N. Chant. It will open in September.

Next is a 22-unit apartment block valued at $300,000, won by Robinson Construction, Nanaimo.

Dobson and Harcus Ltd., Wellington, will erect a new 400 by 100-foot factory for S. Madill machinery fabricators, which lost a major part of its operation in a fire on Halloween.

Woolworth's store is planning to open a new outlet May 1; Brechin Lumber Ltd. will have a new $8,000 warehouse in Northfield, construction beginning in January, with other parts of a move to cost another $8,000; a new 300 by 60-foot wood room at Harmac will be started in January.

There are plenty of tradesmen to do the work, carpenters' union spokesman Arnold Smith said.

B.C. Herring Fishermen End Strike

VANCOUVER (CP) — More than 600 herring fishermen, on strike since Oct. 16, have agreed to return to work Saturday.

The United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union (Ind.) Wednesday agreed to accept prices offered by the Fisheries Association of B.C., representing the employers.

Secretary Homer Stevens said herring fishermen will sail Saturday and actual fishing will start Sunday.

The fishermen struck for a price of $16 a ton for reduction herring—fish used for fertilizer which represents almost 98 per cent of the catch. The association agreed to continue paying $16 for herring used for eating but said it would not raise last year's price of $10.40 a ton for reduction herring.

INCREASED OFFER

Later it increased its offer to $11.40 a ton with a retroactive payment of 56 cents a ton on herring caught between Sept. 1 and Oct. 16.

The union announced that 63.6 per cent of its members voted to accept the offer. It said herring fishermen are the only organized workers in Canada who get less for their labor today than four years ago.

In 1959 the union and association negotiated an agreement calling for $13 a ton. Later the fishery was closed down because of lack of markets. It reopened again 11 months later with the price set at $8.80.

The $10.40 price was set last year after a month-long strike.

Trustees Win by Acclamation

DUNCAN—There will be no election contest in Cowichan School Board District No. 65.

John Morgan Efford will replace W. S. Holgate. A resident of Crofton for the past six years, Mr. Efford is chief steam engineer at Crofton pulp mill. He is a former trustee of Nanaimo School District No. 68.

Mr. Efford will be one of the trustees from the municipality of Nroth Cowichan. The other trustee position for the municipality has been filled by incumbent Joe Frumento.

Mrs. Isabel L. Tarlton was re-elected by acclamation as the city of Duncan representative on the board. Re-elected by acclamation for the unorganized territory were Wilf Peck and Pat Mason.

In School District 67 (Ladysmith) Mrs. Edith Martha Buckner was re-elected by acclamation for another two-year term.

Go out on a limb, serve Seagram's Gin

That's the spirit!
While most folks deck the halls with colourless gins, you serve up Seagram's Gin with its hint of amber colour.
The difference, of course, is dryness.
By ageing Seagram's Gin longer we remove unwanted sweetness and perfumery.
As the gin becomes crisply dry, Nature supplies that amber tint.
So remember, 'tis the season to serve Seagram's.
Because it's extra dry.

"FOREST" CEDAR SIDING

WHAT IS FOREST SIDING?
Made of dry 1½" stock in 10 and 12-inch widths, "FOREST" siding is a new type of siding obtained from specially selected cedar logs sawn to show the beauty and character of knots, burls, etc.

APPEARANCE?
For homes and buildings where a distinctive and pleasing appearance is desired, enhanced by heavy shadow lines. Sound intergrown knots ranging in size from 2-inch in 6-inch widths to 4-inch in 12-inch widths add to the rustic appearance of this grade.

WHAT ARE ITS QUALITIES?
"FOREST" siding, with its substantial thickness and greater wood volume, adds to the structural STRENGTH and solidity of the building. The design of "FOREST" siding ensures a tight weather seal at the lap which together with its thickness and flush-to-base principle makes excellent material from the INSULATION standpoint.

HOW IS IT APPLIED?
As easily and quickly as common shiplap. Each piece of "FOREST" siding fits snugly on the one below and requires only one mitre cut.

"FOREST" CEDAR SIDING

WHAT IS FOREST SIDING?
Made of dry 1½" stock in 10 and 12-inch widths, "FOREST" siding is a new type of siding obtained from specially selected cedar logs sawn to show the beauty and character of knots, burls, etc.

APPEARANCE?
For homes and buildings where a distinctive and pleasing appearance is desired, enhanced by heavy shadow lines. Sound intergrown knots ranging in size from 2-inch in 6-inch widths to 4-inch in 12-inch widths add to the rustic appearance of this grade.

WHAT ARE ITS QUALITIES?
"FOREST" siding, with its substantial thickness and greater wood volume, adds to the structural STRENGTH and solidity of the building. The design of "FOREST" siding ensures a tight weather seal at the lap which together with its thickness and "flush-to-base principle makes excellent material from the INSULATION standpoint.

HOW IS IT APPLIED?
As easily and quickly as common shiplap. Each piece of "FOREST" siding fits snugly on the one below and requires only one mitre cut.

WELLES' MOBY DICK ONLY 'FITFUL DRAMA'

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP) — Moby Dick, that dark sea classic, turned out to be only fitful stage drama Wednesday night at Broadway's Barrymore Theatre.

A towering performance by Rod Steiger in the three-role central assignment is peculiarly both an asset and a handicap to the ambitious venture.

Steiger spends most of his efforts portraying Captain Ahab pursing a demon whale across the seas. Submerged beneath the vigor is most of the mystic complexity which exalts Herman Melville's classic novel.

The adaptation is by Orson Welles and has been directed by Douglas Campbell, a mainstay of the Stratford, Ont., Shakespeare Festival, with forthright energy.

Among the players, Canadian Bruno Gerussi is a sketchy Ishmael, Roy Poole is sharp as the first mate, and Frances Hyland of Regina—a charming young actress who reminds you of Julie Harris—somewhat inexplicably appears as the doomed cabin boy.

Moby Dick is a display of limited audience appeal.

De Gaulle's Last Term

PARIS (AP) — A French minister said unofficially Wednesday President de Gaulle had told the cabinet he does not plan to ask for re-election when his term ends Dec. 31, 1965.

De Gaulle will be 75 at the end of his seven-year term.

Meteor 'Spotting' Urged by UBC Prof

VANCOUVER (CP) —A university professor wants British Columbians to become meteor hunters.

Dr. William Slawson, assistant physics professor at the University of B.C., says public assistance would be invaluable in tracking down earth-bound meteors.

A member of the institute of earth sciences and of the associate committee on meteors, he urges anyone who sees an unusual object in the skies to first note the time.

Next, an accurate observation should be made and an attempt made to relate the object to a star position or compass point.

Several accurate sightings, he says, make it possible to plot the path of a meteor's fall and its probable point of impact.

SPECIAL FORMS

Dr. Slawson has special forms which he will send to anyone who wishes to report a sighting.

The Canada Research Council's associate committee on meteorites was organized last year to stimulate recovery and research of meteorites.

As a result, Canada is one of the few countries in the world with an organized nation-wide meteorite reporting system.

More than 100 meteorites fall on Canada each year, says Dr. Slawson, but few are reported and recovered because of Canada's sparse population.

B.C., he says, represents special problems of indentification and recovery because of difficult terrain.

HAMPERED BY SNOW

Recently he flew to the Chilcotin area following reports that a blazing fireball had crashed on a mountain about 150 miles west of Williams Lake.

By the time he flew over the area, however, the mountain was obscured by snow. No trace of the crashed object was visible and the chances of recovering fragments are slim.

Dr. Slawson says it is important to report sightings as soon as possible so meteor fragments may be collected.

This is important, he says, because a study of the radio activity in the meteorites is one of the best methods of obtaining information regarding its origin and so on.

SHATTER ON IMPACT

Meteors which fall to earth most often shatter on impact and scatter over a wide area.

Fresh, undamaged specimens are covered with black fusion crust which may exhibit flow lines caused by the melting of the surface when it enters the earth's atmosphere.

The interior of the stones may be any color from a light, almost white material to a deep grey.

EXPERT CLAIMS

B.C. Ahead In Teaching Of French

British Columbia, though farthest removed from French Canada, is far ahead of other provinces in the teaching of French.

Authority for this is Douglas V. Parker, president of the B.C. Modern Language Teachers' Association.

Just returned from a Canadian Teachers' Federation seminar in Ottawa, Mr. Parker said B.C. has done more to encourage the learning of French than every other non-French speaking province.

He noted that B.C. students now begin taking French as a compulsory subject in Grade 8.

The seminar, he said, drafted a proposal to encourage the teaching of French in English communities and vice versa at "as early an age as possible."

Shakespeare And Music On Program

A blend of music and Shakespeare will be presented by Belmont and Elizabeth Fisher schools in Belmont Senior Secondary School Friday at 8 p.m.

Two scenes from Macbeth and one from the Taming of the Shrew will be played and there will be band selections by the Belmont and Elizabeth Fisher schools band.

The musical program will include selections by Eric Coates, Kurt Weill, John Philip Sousa and Richard Rodgers

11 City Studios Represented At Recital Here

Honoring the recent "Canada Music Week," the B.C. Registered Music Teachers' Association, Victoria branch, sponsored a student recital at Holyrood House at which 11 city studios were represented.

Pianists taking part were Myrna Murdoch, Gloria Prentice, Pamela Trythall, Veronica Marsden, John McVie, Kathie Peter, Ian Gibson, Terry Willing, Jean Rolston, Diane Crowther, Melaine Williams, Lynda Woods, Mark Reed, Ann Wintemute, Russell Impett and Lynn Leathan.

Vocal soloists were Jennifer Angus, Diane Bolton, Penny Beavan, Bette Cosar. A trio was sung by Laura, Madelaine and Hillary Groos and a duet by Joan and Bette Cosar.

Accompanists were Mrs. J. McVie and Joyce Butler.

Big Narcotics Ring Broken In Turkey

ISTANBUL, Turkey (UPI) —Police said Wednesday they had captured five members of an international narcotics ring along with 110 pounds of morphine base, destined to have been sold in the U.S. for an estimated $5,000,000.

Police arrested Ahmed Soysal, Sefer Bezal, Ali Bezal, Ramiz Zeren and Mustafa Ozer after detectives posed as wealthy would-be buyers. They said two other members of the ring, Fahrettin Soysal and Adil Ozkurt, escaped.

The morphine base, found in 52 bags, was to have been shipped to the French port of Marseilles, turned into heroin and then shipped to the U.S.

Police said they were tipped off a month ago about the illegal trade, run under the front of a business office. It was considered the biggest narcotics ring uncovered through Turkish-American co-operation.

H-Bomb Blast Could Extract Water From Moon

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Dr. Edward Teller proposed today that H-bombs be exploded deep under the moon's surface to extract water for lunar explorers.

Water thus obtained from the moon's rocks would be worth its weight in gold, he said.

Teller, associate director of the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory at Livermore, Calif., addressed the American Nuclear Society here on peaceful uses of nuclear explosives.

He said nucelar blasting "has the potentiality of becoming the first really important and thoroughly economic use of atomic energy." He asserted that radioactive contamination would not be a problem.

Teller, who played a vital part in development of the U.S. H-bomb, told reporters at a news conference before his address that some day "we'll get to the moon."

Lunar explorers will have to have a water supply. But rocketing water from earth to the moon would be costly. As Teller put it: "Everything you take up to the moon will have to be paid for by an amount of gold equal to the object taken up."

So it would be worthwhile, he said, to extract water from the moon itself. The moon's surface is arid. But Teller said up to one per cent of the chemical compounds in lunar rock probably is water.

Teller said there are many more immediate peaceful uses of nuclear explosives. The Atomic Energy Commission is investigating them in its plowshare program. They include digging harbors and canals, stripping hundreds of feet of rock cover from mineral deposits, and scientific research.

Fabric Douses Fire

LONDON (Reuters)—Scientists at the Leningrad textile institute have developed a fabric which not only does not ignite but actually puts out fires, the Soviet news agency Tass reported today. The fabric, made from polyvinyl alcohol, processed by phosphorous compounds, is designed, when heated, to release substances which put out flames.

31 JUMP RED SHIP DURING DENMARK VISIT

COPENHAGEN (Reuters) — A total of 31 persons defected from the Polish cruise ship Mazowze when she visited Copenhagen 10 days ago, police said today. Ten of the defectors, all of German descent, have been allowed to travel to West Germany, the remainder will be interned here until the justice ministry decides whether they are to be given asylum in Denmark.

WELLES' MOBY DICK ONLY 'FITFUL DRAMA'

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP) — Moby Dick, that dark sea classic, turned out to be only fitful stage drama Wednesday night at Broadway's Barrymore Theatre.

A towering performance by Rod Steiger in the three-role central assignment is peculiarly both an asset and a handicap to the ambitious venture.

Steiger spends most of his efforts portraying Captain Ahab pursing a demon whale across the seas. Submerged beneath the vigor is most of the mystic complexity which exalts Herman Melville's classic novel.

The adaptation is by Orson Welles and has been directed by Douglas Campbell, a mainstay of the Stratford, Ont., Shakespeare Festival, with forthright energy.

Among the players, Canadian Bruno Gerussi is a sketchy Ishmael, Roy Poole is sharp as the first mate, and Frances Hyland of Regina—a charming young actress who reminds you of Julie Harris—somewhat inexplicably appears as the doomed cabin boy.

Moby Dick is a display of limited audience appeal.

De Gaulle's Last Term

PARIS (AP) — A French minister said unofficially Wednesday President de Gaulle had told the cabinet he does not plan to ask for re-election when his term ends Dec. 31, 1965.

De Gaulle will be 75 at the end of his seven-year term.

Native men in Yemen, ancient Arab land, still dye their hair to ward off evil spirits.

PROMISING performance of the play Richard of Bordeaux is being given by Victoria High School in the school auditorium Friday and Saturday at 8:15 p.m. Front (left to right) are Karen McIvor, Helen Sewell, Darrell Short. Rear: Robbie Dunn, John Sturdy, Evelyn Dorish and John Bergbusch.

Meteor 'Spotting' Urged by UBC Prof

VANCOUVER (CP) — A university professor wants British Columbians to become meteor hunters.

Dr. William Slawson, assistant physics professor at the University of B.C., says public assistance would be invaluable in tracking down earth-bound meteors.

A member of the institute of earth sciences and of the associate committee on meteors, he urges anyone who sees an unusual object in the skies to first note the time.

Next, an accurate observation should be made and an attempt made to relate the object to a star position or compass point.

Several accurate sightings, he says, make it possible to plot the path of a meteor's fall and its probable point of impact.

SPECIAL FORMS

Dr. Slawson has special forms which he will send to anyone who wishes to report a sighting.

The Canada Research Council's associate committee on meteorites was organized last year to stimulate recovery and research of meteorites.

As a result, Canada is one of the few countries in the world with an organized nation-wide meteorite reporting system.

More than 100 meteorites fall on Canada each year, says Dr. Slawson, but few are reported and recovered because of Canada's sparse population.

B.C., he says, represents special problems of indentification and recovery because of difficult terrain.

HAMPERED BY SNOW

Recently he flew to the Chilcotin area following reports that a blazing fireball had crashed on a mountain about 150 miles west of Williams Lake.

By the time he flew over the area, however, the mountain was obscured by snow. No trace of the crashed object was visible and the chances of recovering fragments are slim.

Dr. Slawson says it is important to report sightings as soon as possible so meteor fragments may be collected.

This is important, he says, because a study of the radio activity in the meteorites is one of the best methods of obtaining information regarding its origin and so on.

SHATTER ON IMPACT

Meteors which fall to earth most often shatter on impact and scatter over a wide area.

Fresh, undamaged specimens are covered with black fusion crust which may exhibit flow lines caused by the melting of the surface when it enters the earth's atmosphere.

The interior of the stones may be any color from a light, almost white material to a deep grey.

EXPERT CLAIMS

B.C. Ahead In Teaching Of French

British Columbia, though farthest removed from French Canada, is far ahead of other provinces in the teaching of French.

Authority for this is Douglas V. Parker, president of the B.C. Modern Language Teachers' Association.

Just returned from a Canadian Teachers' Federation seminar in Ottawa, Mr. Parker said B.C. has done more to encourage the learning of French than every other non-French speaking province.

He noted that B.C. students now begin taking French as a compulsory subject in Grade 8.

The seminar, he said, drafted a proposal to encourage the teaching of French in English communities and vice versa at "as early an age as possible."

Shakespeare And Music On Program

A blend of music and Shakespeare will be presented by Belmont and Elizabeth Fisher schools in Belmont Senior Secondary School Friday at 8 p.m.

Two scenes from Macbeth and one from the Taming of the Shrew will be played and there will be band selections by the Belmont and Elizabeth Fisher schools band.

The musical program will include selections by Eric Coates, Kurt Weill, John Philip Sousa and Richard Rodgers.

11 City Studios Represented At Recital Here

Honoring the recent "Canada Music Week," the B.C. Registered Music Teachers' Association, Victoria branch, sponsored a student recital at Holyrood House at which 11 city studios were represented.

Pianists taking part were Myrna Murdoch, Gloria Prentice, Pamela Trythall, Veronica Marsden, John McVie, Kathie Peter, Ian Gibson, Terry Willing, Jean Roiston, Diane Crowther, Melaine Williams, Lynda Woods, Mark Reed, Ann Wintemute, Russell Impett and Lynn Leathan.

Vocal soloists were Jennifer Angus, Diane Bolton, Penny Beavan, Bette Cosar. A trio was sung by Laura, Madelaine and Hillary Groos and a duet by Joan and Bette Cosar.

Accompanists were Mrs. J. McVie and Joyce Butler.

Big Narcotics Ring Broken In Turkey

ISTANBUL, Turkey (UPI) —Police said Wednesday they had captured five members of an international narcotics ring along with 110 pounds of morphine base, destined to have been sold in the U.S. for an estimated $5,000,000.

Police arrested Ahmed Soysal, Sefer Bezal, Ali Bezal, Ramiz Zeren and Mustafa Ozer after detectives posed as wealthy would-be buyers. They said two other members of the ring, Fahrettin Soysal and Adil Ozkurt, escaped.

The morphine base, found in 52 bags, was to have been shipped to the French port of Marseilles, turned into heroin and then shipped to the U.S.

Police said they were tipped off a month ago about the illegal trade, run under the front of a business office. It was considered the biggest narcotics ring uncovered through Turkish-American cooperation.

YUGOSLAV MISSION BOMBED BY EMIGREES

BONN (Reuters)—A group of Yugoslav emigrees, in an apparent protest against the government of President Josip Tito, today attacked a Yugoslav trade mission in a Bonn suburb, with bombs and pistols, wounding two persons and setting fire to the building before retreating.

Police arrested 19 Yugoslavs and a police dragnet, using bloodhounds, was out for other members of the group.

Fulton to Accept Draft Call For B.C. Tory Leadership

Makes Decision To Quit Ottawa

By ALEX YOUNG
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Public Works Minister Davie Fulton apparently has decided to leave federal politics and seek the leadership of the B.C. Conservative Party.

In response to speculative reports that his departure was imminent, Mr. Fulton said this today:

"I know what I am going to do but I am not yet ready to make any statement."

He said this statement could come some time today, but was not sure.

The positive nature of Mr. Fulton's comments, however, was taken as a strong indication that he planned to make the move. Had it been otherwise he could have been expected to issue a firm denial.

Mr. Fulton's activities this morning clearly indicated a big change was afoot. He left his office in time to attend a 10:30 a.m. meeting of the cabinet but he did not arrive at the cabinet chamber until 11:15 a.m.

FULTON
. . . to heed call

TALK WITH WIFE

He had spent the intervening time with Mrs. Fulton, possibly discussing the move.

It was expected he would be first telling his cabinet colleagues of his intentions and seek their approval. It was not believed any hitch would develop in this regard.

The possibility did exist that Prime Minister Diefenbaker might prevail on him to stay in the cabinet. Observers here discount this because of an apparent cooling in the relationship between Mr. Fulton and the prime minister in recent months.

A significant indication of this came last August when Mr. Diefenbaker demoted Mr. Fulton from the justice ministry to the public works portfolio.

At the time Mr. Fulton told his constituents in Kamloops that he welcomed the challenge of the public works job and looked forward to great accomplishments. It appeared, however, that he was attempting to put the best light on what had been for him a personal setback.

UNCONCERNED

As the prime minister entered the cabinet meeting this morning he seemed unconcerned about reports concerning Mr. Fulton's move.

Reporters asked Mr. Diefenbaker if he expected to be making a statement about an impending change in the public works cabinet post.

"I don't expect to have anything to say," he said casually. He would not discuss the matter further.

When Mr. Fulton arrived later he began his brief comments by saying he had nothing to do with the speculative reports. The authors had written them "on their own hook," he said.

He then added he knew what he was going to do.

Awesome Sea in Spectacular Fury

Fifty-miles-an-hour winds gusting to 70 churned into Ross Bay from the southeast this morning, sending 20-foot waves leaping 60 feet over Dallas Road seawall. Police barricaded the half-mile stretch along Ross Bay Cemetery, where drift logs were being tossed onto the roadway. To the east and west, waves climbed over Turkey Head and Ogden Point breakwaters in a spectacular entre to the gale season (Times photo by Halkett). See Page 21.

GIRLS INSTEAD OF NATO?

MPs Rise in Wrath Against 'Playboy' Charge

By ALEX YOUNG
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — A spicy furor over the behavior of a Canadian delegation to a NATO parliamentarians conference in Paris erupted in the Commons Wednesday.

It was touched off by Raymond Langlois (SC-Megantic) as he protested violently against a report of the delegation's activities carried by La Presse of Montreal.

He rose on a question of personal privilege to complain that the report of Jean Charpentier, a member of the parliamentary press gallery who accompanied the delegation, was false and insulting.

The Charpentier report, published Tuesday, said a number of the delegates (Langlois was a delegate) were not seen at all during the conference, "spending nights at the Pigalle and sleeping during the day."

A follow-up editorial carried by La Presse Wednesday commented that it appeared the all-party Canadian delegates—15 MPs and senators—had the idea on their arrival in Paris earlier this month that "it's on to Pigalle and the little ladies."

REBUILD WORLD

Langlois said the report and the editorial made the delegates out to be "incompetent, ignorant and women chasers." Deputy Socred leader Real Caouette said the Commons should rebuke Charpentier.

And Liberal Gerard Laniel (Lib-Beauharnois-Salaberry) asked that the matter be placed before the Commons' committee on privileges for disciplinary action.

Even before the storm broke out in the House the vice-chairman of the delegation, Georges Valade (PC-Sainte-Marie) sent a wire to Gerard Pelletier, editor of La Presse, terming the report outrageous and demanding an immediate public apology by the newspaper.

The delegation was holding

'We All Worked From Nine to Six'

EDMONTON (CP) — William Skoreyko, head of the Canadian delegation to the NATO parliamentary conference in Paris, said today that charges of misbehavior against delegation members are "grossly unture and unfair."

He said he would meet other delegation members on his return to Ottawa to discuss the charges.

In an interview, Mr. Skoreyko, Conservative member of Parliament for Edmonton East, said the Ottawa Journal quoting him was "not correct either."

"All the delegates are members of the NATO parliamentary organization who have served on various committees before working themselves into positions where they qualify to attend the conference," he said.

"To become chairman of the NATO executive committee I served in various exeecutive positions during the past three years."

The delegation "was as effective as it could have been," but his opinion was that it should have been headed by a cabinet minister.

"We could only express our points of view, not necessarily the government's," he said.

"Everyone did his work from nine to six. After that I had no control and I don't know what they did."

He said Senator John Hnatyshyn of Saskatchewan, Senator John Connolly of Ottawa, and Liberal MPs Judy La Marsh (Niagara Falls) and Paul Martin (Trinity) all contributed worthwhile speeches.

Pakistan, India Will Talk

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (UPI) — India and Pakistan agreed today to try to solve their differences over Kashmir and other issues so they can live side by side in friendship.

In a joint communique issued here and in New Delhi, Pakistan President Mohammad Ayub Khan and Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru agreed to renew their efforts in this direction.

In New Delhi, informed sources said the agreement was a result of Anglo-American mediation efforts and was considered a triumph for western diplomacy.

W. Averell Harriman, U.S. assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, and Duncan Sandys, British Commonwealth relations secretary, arrived here from New Delhi Wednesday.

They conferred there with Nehru and here with Ayub.

DEFEAT FOR REDS

Informed sources regarded the development as a defeat for Communist China's attempts to lure Pakistan out of the western camp.

ENGAGEMENT of Princess Alexandra, 28, cousin of Queen Elizabeth, to Angus Ogilvy, second son of the Earl and Countess of Airlie, was announced in London today. Ogilvy, 34, is well-known as a businessman in London. He holds about 50 directorships. His father, the 12th Earl of Airlie, has been lord chamberlain to the Queen since 1937.

WIRE BRIEFS

Provocation Charged

HONG KONG (Reuters) — Peking today accused Indian troops of advancing towards Communist China's "cease-fire line" and engaging in "armed provocation."

'GOOD' LABOR YEAR

Strife Denied By Bennett

By FRANK RUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

Premier Bennett today denied B.C. is having a bad year in labor relations, as he and other political leaders plunged anew into a flurry of hostile exchanges.

These are the latest developments:

● Opposition Leader Robert Strachan named union leaders who he said are fostering labor strife;

● Mr. Bennett said the New Democratic Party leader should have named himself as being most responsible for trouble;

● Liberal Leader Ray Perrault said Mr. Strachan spoke up "under duress:

● The leader of B.C.'s biggest union, Jack Moore of the International Woodworkers of America, agreed to meet the premier for man-to-man talks.

The premier said B.C. had had a peaceful labor year but for an "unfortunate" record of illegal strikes.

'VERY GOOD YEAR'

"This has been a very good year," he told reporters as he went to a cabinet meeting with a labor file under his arm.

He opened the file to give some figures.

In the first 10 months of the year there were 339 labor-management disputes and 16 legal strikes.

"That's less than 5 per cent strikes," he said.

Time lost in the legal disputes totals only 8,950 working days, but illegal and wildcat strikes have cost 18,000 working days, the premier said.

A labor department official said total time lost is small compared with B.C.'s worst-ever year, 1952, when 1,400,000 days worth of work were lost.

Mr. Bennett said he will meet Mr. Moore in Victoria "anytime." In accepting the invitation, made Wednesday, Mr. Moore said he planned to come immediately after Christmas.

SHOW GOOD WILL

"I call on leaders of labor and industry to show good will and forebearance," said the premier.

He noted that Mr. Strachan named Orville Braaten and Jerry Lebourdais as labor officials who had caused strife.

But he added: "He left out a few labor leaders who are very active in his party."

One, he said, was Paddy Neale, secretary of Vancouver Labor Council.

1926

Tolmie Move Recalled

E. Davie Fulton's decision today to leave federal politics and seek the provincial Conservative leadership recalled a period of B.C. political history which is almost an exact parallel.

In November, 1926, Dr. Simon F. Tolmie who had been minister of agriculture in the Meighen government until its defeat in September of that year, was drafted by a convention at Kamloops to be the provincial Conservative leader.

Dr. Tolmie, at the time was the member of the House of Commons for Victoria. Mr. Fulton represents Kamloops.

Two years after taking the leadership Dr. Tolmie led the Conservatives to victory and was in office five years.

LAST TIME

It was the last time British Columbia had a Conservative administration, although members of the party did serve in the Coalition government between 1941 and 1951.

The particular difference with today's situation is that in 1926 there were only Liberals and Conservatives as the main political forces.

The Conservatives of the day were the official opposition.

Today, of course, the Conservatives do not hold a single seat in the Legislature, and the Social Credit and NDP are the chief political forces.

Back Glassco Report

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today the government agrees with the basic philosophy of the Glassco royal commission on government organization and has already started action to carry out many of its money-saving proposals.

Economic Reforms

MADRID (UPI) — Spain strengthened its bid for common market membership today by ordering sweeping economic reforms to put the nation in a more competitive position in world trade.

Mikoyan, JFK Hold Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Soviet deputy premier Anastas I. Mikoyan came here today for talks on the Cuban situation with President Kennedy and other U.S. officials. The Kremlin trouble shooter expressed hope the discussions would be "pleasant and possibly useful."

FRIENDSHIP DOLLARS APPEAL NUDGES $3,000

The Times appeal for "Friendship Dollars for India" nudged the $3,000 mark today—just a week after the fund was launched.

The actual total at noon was $2,948.13.

An elderly lady sent $2 with the note: "I do not need an acknowledgement as I do not get enough money to pay income tax."

Another anonymous donor left $20 at The Times office made up of two nickels, one penny, a $2 bill and the balance in Canada Savings Bond coupons.

This handsome donation was signed E. M., with no address given.

FROM $1 TO $250

Today's donations ranged all the way from an anonymous one-dollar bill to an outright gift of $250. Mrs. Dora Bamfield, 1035 Bank Street, gave $100, and another $100 was given over the signature "A Friend."

Anne, Penny and Cathy Carter, 2120 Wenman Drive, sent $3 between them.

Says Times publisher Stuart Keate:

"We conduct this appeal because we think that once a year we should consider the welfare of persons outside our own country."

Donations may be left at the Bank of Montreal main branch, corner of Yates and Douglas, or mailed or delivered at The Times office, 2631 Douglas.

Centennial Flashback . . .

THIS DAY IN VICTORIA - 1862

NOVEMBER 29

Arabella Bell was convicted on a charge of vagrancy today in police court. She pleaded for mercy, as she has done many times in the past, and promised amendment. Magistrate Pemberton sentenced her to 14 days imprisonment and added she would be treated as a rogue and vagabond if brought before him again. He said hard labor would be imposed as well as a prison term.

★ ★ ★

Richard Cheesman, who was thrown from his wagon a few days ago, died today in Royal Hospital. He never recovered from the coma into which he was thrown by the fall and paralysis set in gradually extending over the whole body.

★ ★ ★

The closing in of the sheds on the Hudson's Bay Co. wharf was completed today. Sliding doors have been fitted all round so they will act as storehouses during the winter.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Richmond, the police officer who shot himself while leaning on his gun, will be discharged from the hospital, it was learned today.

TRIPLE TROUBLE FOR REDMEN

Toronto Boy Gives Up After 22 Torrid Miles

PERTH, Australia (CP)—Bruce Kidd gambled today and lost.

The amazing 19-year-old Toronto distance runner, who convinced his coach he had a better chance to win his second gold medal of the British Empire Games by running in his first marathon than in the more familiar mile, had to be pulled out of the gruelling test after 22¼ miles when he suffered cramps in his side.

Brian Kilby, a 24-year-old British draughtsman, won the race of slightly more than 26 miles with the fastest marathon in B.E. Games history — two hours, 21 minutes and 17 seconds.

Dave Power of Australia was second in 2:22:15.4 and another Australian, Rod Bonella, third in 2:24:07.0. Veteran Gordie Dickson of Hamilton, Ont., finished 12th in 2:44:17.

Although Kilby's clocking was the best for the Games, no records are officially recognized for the event because of variations of terrain at different venues.

"I quit!" Kidd snapped as he piled into a car carrying his coach, Fred Foot of Toronto, who was cruising alongside anxiously watching for any sign that he was faltering.

"Come on Bruce," Foot had said moments before. "Slow down to a walk and cool out. You're coming in."

Kidd graciously accepted the compliments of reporters clustered around him as he ducked into the car. During the ride back to the stadium, he said his first marathon was fun: "It was really enjoyable."

He suffered no ill effects except stiffness in his legs.

Dickson, who finished about three miles behind Kilby, said he had no excuse. "I just didn't run well."

The Calgary-born veteran who had an achilles tendon operation about a year ago said: "I couldn't relax and run properly. The leg was okay in practice during the hot weather the last week or so. But when the weather cooled today the leg wouldn't loosen. But I must repeat that I have no excuse."

Kidd was believed to be the youngest to attempt the painful, foot-slogging route over unyielding concrete roads.

Nothing Like It In 53 Years

He convinced Foot that he could win the marathon and decided to shoot the works in the longer distance instead of the mile. Kidd, with a best time of 4:01.4, had wanted to be the first Canadian to break the four-minute barrier in the mile, but he couldn't do it here and still have his choice of events. The qualifying heats of the mile got under way this afternoon.

"In all my 53 years connection with sport I've never heard of a 19-year-old boy competing in a big-time marathon," Jack Davies, commandant of the Canadian team, said shortly before the race started in 64-degree weather and rain that snapped a heat wave.

The previous fastest marathon time was Power's 2:22:45.6 in the 1958 Games at Cardiff, Wales.

Only 12 of the original field of 20 finished the race. Foot said later Kidd was in good condition.

Kidd, who won the six miles Saturday and was third in the three miles Monday, had withdrawn from the mile—in which preliminary heats were run this morning—in order to enter the marathon.

Today's track and field events included eight other finals.

Dave Steen of Burnaby, B.C., a six-foot-four giant weighing 216 pounds, made the best heave of his career—58 feet, 8¾ inches—to take the bronze medal in the men's shot-put.

Pat Dobie of Saskatoon, 23, a pretty brunette, picked up Canada's first points in women's track and field when she finished fifth in the javelin throw.

Miss Dobie, who also is entered in the women's discus, exceeded her own best-ever performance in competition with a throw of 145 feet, 9½ inches, but was nearly 20 feet behind the winner, an English girl.

Seraphino Antao of Kenya and Dorothy Hyman of England swept both the men's and women's sprints at the Games.

Antao, who had beaten Vancouver's Harry Jerome in the 100-yard dash final last Saturday, took the 220 today in 21.1 seconds. He won by about three yards over David Jones of England and John Du Freeze of Rhodesia, the silver and gold medallists respectively.

Antao 'Missed' Harry Jerome

Jerome was forced to withdraw from the 220 trials earlier this week because of a leg injury. Antao commented today that he would have been happier if Jerome had been in the final "because he can always give very tough competition."

Miss Hyman, a miner's daughter, sped to a 23.8-second victory in the women's 220, four yards ahead of Australians Jovce Bennett and Margaret Burvill. The world record-holder in the distance, Betty Cuthbert of Australia, could do no better than fifth in the six-woman field.

Martyn Lucking of England won the men's shot-put with a heave of 59 feet, four inches and smashed the Games mark of 57-8 set by Arthur Rowe of England in 1958. Mike Lindsay, also of England, took the second-place silver with a toss of 59-2¼. Lindsay and Steen also were under the games record.

The men's hop, step and jump went to Ian Tomlinson of Australia, who leaped 53 feet, two inches—a Games record bettering his own standard of 51-7¾ set in 1958. Another Australian, John Baguley, was the silver medallist (52-9¼) and Fred Alsop took the bronze (52-7).

Jamaica's George Kerr won the men's 440-yard final in 46.7 seconds, with England's Robbie Brightwell and Amos Omolu of Uganda second and third respectively in a close finish.

Bill Crothers of Toronto, the only Canadian to survive the preliminary 440 heats, was eliminated in the semi-final earlier today. Crothers finished fifth in 48.2 in the heat Kerr won in 46.9.

In the weightlifting events, Cosford White of Montreal won Canada's third silver medal in the middle heavyweight class. The 27-year-old Barbados native hoisted a total of 990 pounds to finish second to world record-holder Louis Martin of England, who lifted a total of 1,035 pounds in the snatch, press and jerk. This was 22¾ pounds short of his world record but well above the previous Games record of 890 pounds that White also broke.

Hal Malone LOOKS AT SPORTS

If you read the newspapers carefully you will have by now the impression that last Saturday was "goat day" for two Canadian athletes.

On the plains of this country a very good football player tried a tactic which failed.

"Harvey Wylie," blared headlines, "today put Winnipeg Blue Bombers into the Grey Cup."

Mr. Wylie's sin was to kick a football off the side of his foot. When it went awry Farrell Funston descended on it and Calgary's Grey Cup dreams sank into the Red River.

Under nature's sun lamp at Perth, a sensitive and superb runner, Harry Winston Jerome, had the effrontery to lose a race. That he tore a muscle in his left thigh seemed no concern of people who pitched lances at his pelt.

Two Victorians Felt the Effect

One would gather, listening to the flannel mouths, that losing at Perth ranked up there with the Bay of Pigs fiasco as an example of what civilization has come to.

Though the Wylie and Jerome incidents happened 8,000 miles apart, they had a profound effect on two Victoria people who live less than 18 miles apart.

Reports of Jerome's "collapse" left Mrs. M. C. Sumpton, 10849 Derrick, Deep Cove, "sick at the stomach." She knows something about Harry Jerome. She should. She is his grandmother.

Two months ago she had phoned this essayist in distress and anguish over an article on her grandson which appeared in a national weekly publication. The story dealt with Jerome's "failure" at Rome.

He had pulled up with a leg injury, attested to by a doctor, but "overlooked" by the Jerome-is-a-bum club.

This week, a rather distraught Mrs. Sumpton said: "Some people feel badly about Harry not winning for Canada. I wonder why those same people can't have a feeling for Harry. Even if he was expected to win, wouldn't getting beaten merit some consideration for him, apart, that is, from the injury he suffered in the process?"

She had a point . . . and one last remark: "You tell him when you see him his grandmother doesn't believe he quit."

The Wylie Family Plays the Game (s)

Then there was William Wylie, now of 1620 Elm, MP for Medicine Hat for 12 years. Mr. Wylie is retired but he packs a punch on the telephone.

"You wrote," he said, "as if you were surprised that my nephew Harvey threw that touchdown pass." (This was in the first game of the WFC playoffs which the Stampeders won, courtesy of, "passer" Wylie).

"I thought you should know that when Harvey played at Montana State he set a bundle of records—playing OFFENCE."

Uncle Bill filled in the biographical details on his nephew . . . one of six children, five of them boys . . . "four of the boys went to U.S. colleges on athletic scholarships covering football, hockey and track." The other—and oldest brother—Bob is and has been one of Alberta's best on the golf course. The only girl, Artoria, was a shining light in Alberta track circles.

'When You Fall the Valley Is Deep'

Before last Saturday Harvey Wylie was recognized as one of the best defensive men in football. This year he was the west's nominee for the Schenley award as the best Canadian. Twenty-four hours ago the selectors made it official. Harvey Wylie, they said, was the best Canadian in 1962.

Wylie and Jerome hit many peaks of excellence as Canadian athletes. Without Wylie Calgary might never have quarrelled with Winnipeg. Jerome? He shares the world's record for 100 yards. Twice he's run it in 9.2.

Can't they have a bad day? Can't Kennedy commit a boo-boo. Is man perfect?

Ted Hunt, the B.C. boy who excels in rugger, football, lacrosse and common sense, said it best of all . . .

"When you fall from a peak the valley is deep . . . far deeper than if you are mediocre and never achieve the heights of greatness."

No Wonder Rams' Mahoney Doesn't Fear Big Redmen!

By DOUG PEDEN

When Ron Mahoney says he isn't worried about reports on the size of the muscular young men who work along the line for Nanaimo Redmen, he makes you believe it.

"We had the smallest club in our league this season," he says. "We're used to playing bigger clubs. I don't think we'll get pushed around."

When Mahoney says "we" he refers to Winnipeg's West End Rams, who arrived in Victoria Wednesday for a Friday night date at Royal Athletic Park with the Redmen, kings of Vancouver Island's juvenile football realm.

As champions of the Manitoba Juvenile Football League, Rams earned the berth against the Island monarchs in the third annual battle for the "little Grey Cup," which will be at stake when the two clubs lock horns at 8:30 Friday.

Mahoney is no stranger to Victoria. He brought the Rams out here in 1960 for the first cup game and managed to squeeze out a 7-6 triumph over an Island all-star club, getting the winning point with only 40 seconds remaining.

A 'REAL SOCKER'

"I'll never forget that game," he commented before chasing Rams through a loosening-up drill Wednesday afternoon at Macdonald Park. "It was a real socker."

Fort Garry Lions had an easier time last year, making it two straight for Manitoba by trimming Oak Bay Farmers.

Veteran of the coaching wars at the tender age of 25, the dark-haired Mahoney has chalked up an impressive record in his seven seasons as head man of the Rams. In each of those seven years, the West End crew has reached the Manitoba final, twice winning the title.

"This," says Ron, "is the best all-around club we've ever had. This is a team with no second-stringers. Anybody can go in and do a good job."

The record of the 1962 edition of the Rams supports Mahoney's words. On their way to the crown, they beat Fort Garry in four straight league games and then slapped the icing on their gridiron cake by clobbering the 1961 Little Grey Cup champs 39-8 in the provincial final.

SHARED CROWN

In 13 games, Mahoney's Maulers scored 390 points, yielded only 40, and ended up with seven of the league's eight top scorers.

Brightest of the bunch was halfback Ray Mackus, winner of the Manitoba League's most-valuable-player award. At that, Mackus was forced to share the scoring title with another Ram, fullback Jim Grant.

Mahoney, quick to say he has several other backs who can pack the ball with authority, has both talent and depth at the important quarterback spot. Expected to start Friday is passing whiz Don Brewster, a 19-year-old six-footer who is also a deceptive ball-handler and a fair runner.

'HERE TO WIN'

Also on hand for signal-calling duties is stocky Russ Meckling, 18, who favors a running game, which accounted for slightly more than half of the West End touchdowns this year.

Like all solid football clubs, Rams have a lot of strength in the line although the defensive unit averages only 180 pounds.

"We don't have a big club," says Mahoney, who sent his charges through another light drill this morning and planned a short scrimmage late this afternoon. "But the boys in the line know how to do their jobs and they work together.

"We have respect for the Redmen. I hear they're big but we don't expect to get scalped. We're out here to win this thing."

Parfitt Star Of MCC Win

TOOWOOMBA, Australia (Reuters)—An unbeaten innings of 128 in 120 minutes by Peter Parfitt helped the touring Marylebone cricket team beat Queensland Country XI by seven wickets in their one-day match here Wednesday.

Parfitt reached his century with 16 fours to his credit and ended the match with two sixes.

With the MCC scoring at the rate of 100 an hour, the batting looked good in the team's last match before the first test against Australia, which starts Friday, but the bowling was disappointing. In nearly 3½ hours, the MCC bowlers claimed only two wickets.

The Country XI later ran up 202 for four declared in as many minutes.

Tenpinners Plan Changes In Rules

Proposed changes in constitution, bylaws and tournament rules will be discussed by the annual meeting of the board of directors (league representatives) of the Victoria Tenpin Bowling Association.

Voting will be by league representatives, but all bowlers are invited to attend the session, scheduled for 9:15 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 5, at the Ingraham Hotel.

Also up for discussion will be a plan to switch the date of the annual meeting to April or May of each year.

Canadians Lose

GALASHIELS, Scotland (Reuters)—North and South England beat the visiting Canadian rugby team 24-12 here Wednesday.

The Canadians fought hard to the end, scoring half their points in the last few minutes.

Barrie Burnham of Vancouver gave the Canadian side an early lead with a penalty goal, but Chisholm scored a try and converted it himself to put the home team ahead.

Canada's Showing At Games

PERTH, Australia—Here's how Canadian athletes fared in the British Empire and Commonwealth Games:

WEIGHTLIFTING
Middle-heavyweight — Cosford Waite, Montreal, second in final.

TRACK AND FIELD
Men's shot-put—Dave Steen, Burnaby, B.C., third in final.
Men's 440-yard run—Bill Crothers, Toronto, fifth in semi-final (failed to qualify).
Men's marathon — Gordon Dickson, Hamilton, 12th in final; Bruce Kidd, Toronto, did not finish.
Women's javelin throw—Pat Dobie, Saskatoon, fifth in final.
Men's mile run—Jim Irons, Bramoton, Ont., third in heat (qualified); Hyltie Van der Wal, Hamilton, seventh in heat (failed to qualified); Don Bertola, Rossland, B.C., seventh in heat (failed to qualify).

WRESTLING
Welterweight — Philip Oberlander, Montreal, second in final.
Featherweight—Matti Jutila, Sudbury, Ont., second in final.

FENCING
Men's Individual Foes—Carl Schwende, Montreal, ninth in final; Pete Bakonyi, Vancouver, defeated in first pool; Bob Foxcroft, London, Ont., defeated in first pool.

WRESTLING
Lightweight—Kurt Boese, Kitchener, Ont., lost second-round match and eliminated, but later admitted to special bout to decide third place and won.

SILVER MEDAL FOR WRESTLER

PERTH, Australia (CP) — Matti Jutila, 30, of Sudbury, Ont., lost his bout today in the featherweight wrestling competition at the British Empire Games but collected a silver medal for Canada.

Ala Uddin of Pakistan defeated the Finnish-born Canadian.

Montreal's Philip Oberlander won another silver for Canada in welterweight competition as Pakistan's M. Bashir won the gold medal for first place and England's L. Allen the bronze for third.

Taylor Top Driver

VANCOUVER (CP) — Bill Taylor of Victoria was named best production car driver at the annual Sports Car Club of B.C. awards banquet here.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — George D. Widener's lightly-campaigned Jaipur has been named the best three-year-old colt of the year in the United States by the Thoroughbred Racing Association.

Mounties Get the Axe As Minors Revamped

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—The International Baseball League and Pacific Coast League absorbed the old American Association and will operate as 10-team leagues starting in 1963, minor league chieftain George Trautman announced today.

Under the absorption announced by Trautman, the American Association's five remaining clubs will be merged with the two other triple A leagues.

Vancouver Mounties of the PCL, which lost a major league working agreement, was dropped from the new lineup as three American Association clubs — Denver, Dallas-Fort Worth and Oklahoma City—were added. Continuing in the PCL will be San Diego, Tacoma, Seattle, Hawaii, Portland, Ore., Spokane and Salt Lake City.

The International, which already had eight teams, will add Indianapolis and Little Rock. The other teams in the league are Toronto, Richmond, Va.; Rochester, N.Y.; Atlanta, Buffalo, Columbus, Ohio; Jacksonville, Fla., and Syracuse.

The International twice rejected American Association proposals Wednesday to add to clubs to its roster. But the major leagues, operating through their farm directors, put the heat on the International League and forced the additions.

The major leagues will pay part of the extra travel costs involved for the two remaining enlarged triple A clubs.

This left just 20 triple A teams, something which the majors desired under their plan for a vast reorganization of the minor league structure.

The American Association had been a pillar of baseball since 1902. The association operated without a franchise change until 1952 but in recent years it has been shaky.

Trail Coach Isn't Afraid of Soviets

WINNIPEG (CP) — Coach Bobby Kromm of Trail Smoke Eaters isn't too concerned about Russia's national team in the world hockey championships next February.

He watched the Russians beat Winnipeg Maroons 3-0 Wednesday night in an exhibition game here.

"I think we would be more concerned about the Swedes in the world championships," he said. "They would be more ex-

A 'REAL SOCKER'

The Russians, in beating the Maroons, showed beautiful passing. However, Kromm felt they over-passed in spots.

He also noted that the Russians were very young, averaging about 23 in age, and he wondered how they would do against a well-conditioned senior team in Canada about February.

NEED TWO YEARS

Kromm, whose team will be the Canadian representatives in the world hockey championships in Stockholm next year, said the Russians were an "excellent young hockey team."

"They are two years away from being a very, very good hockey team."

He was disappointed in the Maroons—his own Smoke Eaters were much younger—but he admitted that the Maroons would show better with more work.

Pirates Trade Don Hoak

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Pittsburgh Pirates Wednesday announced the trade of a third-regular infielder.

They sent third-baseman Don Hoak to Philadelphia Phillies and in return got outfielder Ted Savage and first-baseman Pancho Herrera.

CANADIAN CYCLISTS . . . . . COMPETE SATURDAY

Wild Ready for Long Grind

Former member of the Daily Times staff and now a Vancouver resident, Jim McKeachie travelled to Perth, Australia, with Canada's British Empire Games team. Here are McKeachie's comments on the moods and hopes of the Canadian cyclists.

PERTH, Australia — Victoria's young Bill Wild and Jack Ferguson of Vancouver have impressed other members of Canada's British Empire Games contingent while sweating through heavy daily training for one big event.

Nobody in this village of athletes by the Indian Ocean has worked harder than the two British Columbia cyclists in efforts to reach top condition.

Wild and Ferguson, make up half of the four-man cycling team that will be chasing gold, silver and bronze medals in the gruelling 120-mile road race on Saturday, final day of the 10-day Games.

Starting at 7 a.m., the cyclists will have to make 31 trips over the 3.8-mile course around Perth's King's Park.

"It's a worthy course," said the 22-year-old Ferguson. "A typical road-racing course—plenty of ups and downs, and some flat stretches."

"And the surface is quite rough all the way," observed the husky Wild. Just 20, Bill has been equally impressed with the beauty of Perth and the quality of food served in Games Village cafeteria.

Wild has been making the training rides tough, but the Canadian pedallers note that "it's the same for everybody."

The two British Columbians, with teammates Maurice Gagne, Quebec City, and Jean Garon, Charlesbourgh, Quebec, haven't been in any of the track events taking place in the new Lake Monga velodrome. Ferguson is the only experienced track rider and it was decided that the team would concentrate on the road event.

Tapering off now, the Canadian cyclists have been training with a 40-mile jaunt each morning and going about double that distance in the afternoon. Sometimes they have stayed out for about five hours, riding over 100 miles.

All appear fit and ready. Wild has been bothered by headaches on some mornings, but he is quick to say "it's nothing serious."

Cordova Bay Teams Drop Two Decisions

Cordova Bay minor basketballers took a double drubbing Wednesday in the Saanich Suburban Basketball League.

Saanichton tripped the Bays 34-22 in a juvenile boys' game, and Sidney midgets nipped the Bays 8-7 in a preliminary.

B.C. Ferry Runs Held Up by Gale

DOWN THE WAYS and into the saltchuck glides latest addition to the dogwood fleet, a broad-beamed lady christened Queen of Saanich. Docile at launching, ferry floats at end of arresting chain while in the background, straitwalkers Coho and Estevan idle to watch debut.

ARTHUR MAYSE

Democracy at work, a fascinating spectacle always, is best observed at the grass-roots level of municipal politics. Down there, the machine runs with a good, homely clank and clatter. The link between the taxpayer and those who will set his mill rate is direct, the issues of a sort you can get your teeth into.

The other night, Win and I made two of about 75 Saanichites who straggled into St. George the Martyr's church hall at Cadboro Bay, where the amalgamation hot potato was to be juggled yet again.

In 11 years, we have gone to a great many meetings of various sorts in that hall. We are familiar with the feel and fit of its chairs; we know that whoever we settle by is unlikely to be a complete stranger.

That's one of the nicer features of close-to-home democracy in action. There's a schumminess, a community of interests.

★ ★ ★

Dave and Meliss Hill are there ahead of us, empty chairs beside them. For years we lived only a whoop and a holler down the road from each other; we remember a birthday party enlivened by hornets, and the orchard raid that left a certain small boy dangling by his pants seat from a neighbor's fence.

Not far away, under a hat that only she could wear with distinction, sits Ursula Jupp. "Jolly Mrs. Jupp," the children used to call her. Each winter she treated them to a bonfire with hot dogs and cocoa, herself where the sparks flew thickest, merry as the kids who shared her bounty.

Each district has its local historian. Ursula Jupp is ours. She has tales of earlier children — grandparents now — who once galloped their horses on the Arbutus Cove sands, and knows in detail the complex history of the Appleton estate.

★ ★ ★

Most of us in the hall are middle-aged or elderly. The young marrieds don't often turn up at a church hall political meeting, even though this vexed question of amalgamation, whichever way the cat jumps, is going to affect their lives.

Their time for church hall meetings on rainy nights will come later, when the children are older and family roots sunk deeper in the community.

★ ★ ★

The hall is already decked for Christmas with streamers, tinsel at the windows, and colored globes mounted on evergreen sprays. Back of the platform is an enormous wreath of Saanich holly. Each speaker, as he steps forward to make his pitch, is framed head and shoulders in the bright red and prickly green of Yule.

This doesn't indicate that we regard these men as emissaries of Santa Claus. By no means! Down on democracy's ground floor, we like our politics hearty. Reeve, councillors and candidates will be called hard names before voting day; a few names will fly tonight as our speakers come out for or against union with Victoria.

The chairman has alloted them seven minutes each, and holds them to it. From seasoned campaigner to neophyte, they make the most of their time.

The press gets the dust whacked out of its hide while the unperturbed reporters take notes at their table. This thumping of the newspapers is one of the amiable exchanges between agents of democracy without which no rally would be complete.

★ ★ ★

Chambers of commerce, senior and junior, are attacked and defended. Grim warnings are hurled about what will happen if we amalgamate, or if we don't.

The hall, chilly at the start, becomes warmer. Looking around, you can almost see on people's faces the questions they'll ask later.

After the last speaker has retired from the holly wreath, the questions come pell-mell. Some are ingenuous, some loaded. Here in the question period, it seems to me that democracy-in-practice becomes most impressive.

No holds are barred. If you think a man's a turncoat, up and tell him so. Tempers crackle, sparks fly, and freedom of speech gets a fine, healthy workout.

★ ★ ★

Then the meeting is over and we go out to our cars and home by familiar roads which I suspect will remain much as they are whether Saanich takes the amalgamation plunge or not.

The meeting—75 district people in a suburban hall—was no earth-shaker. It didn't enlighten us as much as we'd hoped, and will settle no great issues. But it was a manifestation of democracy at work, and therein lay its virtue.

HULL 99 NOW 'QUEEN'

By FRANK RUTTER

Hull 99 made it to the ocean Wednesday.

In the process Hull 99 acquired a name and a reputation.

The name is Queen of Saanich; the reputation is one of the fastest jobs ever done in Victoria Machinery Depot's Dallas Road shipyard.

The occasion was the launching of the new Queen as the latest ferry for the government's Toll Authority service between Vancouver Island and the mainland.

Pausing to give the new ship a special salute was the Black Ball ferry Coho, outward bound for Port Angeles, and the government lighthouse tender Estevan. They both "stooged around" for about 15 minutes, awaiting the launching.

The last lick of paint was brushed on the new ship's bottom only minutes before the ceremony.

And while the christening speeches were being made, sparks flew as a VMD welding crew kept right on working on her sister ship only yards away in a parallel slip.

One of the reasons for speed is the government contract calling for a penalty of $1,000 each day completion is overdue.

SISTER SHIP

Queen of Esquimalt-to-be, the sister ship, will be launched in January.

VMD president Harold Husband told 200 guests Wednesday Esquimalt is very appropriately Hull 100, as she will be the first ship launched in the company's hundred birthday year.

"Then, of course, we're going to try for 200," he said.

Queen of Saanich, weighing 3,000 tons, will carry 115 cars and 1,000 passengers.

She is the fifth ship launched for the ferry service started by the government June 15, 1960, and will go into service between Swartz Bay and Tsawwassen next April.

Two others are under construction and two more promised next year.

When all are in service, Premier Bennett told the guests, B.C. will have a fleet of 19—"the largest ferry fleet of the type in the whole world."

"Of all the things this government has done we get more credit for the ships than anything else," he said.

Work Starts Next Year On 2 Ferries

Tenders will be called before the year's end on the two new government ferries for the Nanaimo-Horseshoe Bay run, Premier Bennett said at the launching Wednesday.

This means work will start early in the new year on the Toll Authority vessels, to be of the "Queen Class" like Queen of Saanich, launched at VMD.

Mr. Bennett, addressing about 200 guests at the launching, also announced the name of the ferry being built at Burrard Dry Dock in Vancouver for the service from the Gulf Islands to Tsawwassen. She will be called Queen of the Islands.

The premier said business—and profits—were booming on the government's ferry services.

He repeated an earlier promise that all the profits would be spent on the ferry service, and none of the money would be used for other purposes—in the Toll Authority or anywhere else.

The first ferry service, between Swartz Bay and Tsawwassen was started June 15, 1960. Since then on that route alone government ferries have carried 870,736 cars and trucks and 2,851,839 passengers, the premier said.

Collision Kills Woman On Highway

An 81-year-old woman was killed instantly when in collision with a car while crossing the Pat Bay Highway Wednesday night.

Mrs. Daisy Hargreaves, Aberdeen Hotel, was hurled 57 feet by the impact, police said.

She was crossing from west to east on the highway near Elk Lake, when she was struck by a car driven north by Mrs. Marjorie Sam of Mount Newton Cross Road about 5 p.m.

She was wearing a long dark coat at the time.

Witnesses said the driver of the car "didn't have a chance" of seeing her.

VISITING FRIEND

Mrs. Hargreaves was on her way to visit a friend at 5099 Patricia Bay Highway, when she was struck outside the house.

Police said there was no crosswalk in the area.

They also said they were satisfied the car was not exceeding the 50 mph speed limit.

The body was removed to McCall Bros. funeral home. Funeral arrangements are awaiting decision by the coroner on the need for an inquest.

The deceased is survived by two daughters, Mrs. A. K. Hughes, 3697 Elliston, and Mrs. Marian Ives, Ucluelet; two grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

She also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Nellie Edmonson, Powell River, and Mrs. Mary Rossborough, Campbellton, NB.

FRIDAY MEETINGS

Victoria Lions Club: 12 noon, Empress Hotel. Dr. J. L. Heffernan, "Your Doctor's Dilemma."

City Librarians Form Institute

Victoria librarians organized their own professional association Wednesday night.

There is only one other such group in Canada, composed of Ontario librarians.

One of the first aims of the new Institute of Victoria Librarians will be to encourage action on the recently completed study of Greater Victoria libraries by Dr. Rose Vainstein. She urged a metro system with branches in each municipality.

Thirty-five members attended the first meeting of the new institute at St. Luke's Church hall.

They represent the provincial and Victoria Public Libraries, Victoria College, Royal Roads, the Public Library Commission and school libraries.

MEMBERSHIP

Jim Mitchell, of the provincial library, chairman of the institute's organization committee, said he hopes for 40 members.

Aims of the institute are to deal with local library problems, improve service and the status of librarians and hold seminars.

Mr. Mitchell said the group will study the Vainstein report and encourage action on it by local councils.

Seven executive council members were elected:

Mrs. Isabel Goodwin and Terry Curran of Victoria Public Library; Ann Vandervoort and Denis Godson of Victoria College; Joan Moore and Mr. Mitchell of the Provincial Library and Cecil Whitlock of Royal Roads Library.

Legion Plans Dinner

Canadian Legion, Dockyard Branch No. 172, will hold a dinner for members who served in the First World War Friday, Dec. 7, at the Legion Hall at 6:30 p.m. Those wishing to attend are asked to notify the secretary-manager by Dec. 4.

Lawyers Ask Inspection Of City Jail

A newly-formed justice committee of the Victoria Bar Association today asked city police commission permission to examine the city jail.

Lawyer David Hummell said the committee had no intention of seeking a "complaint session" but felt it would like to see jail facilities in view of recurring complaints from clients of defence lawyers.

Mr. Hummell stressed that since many of the clients are convicted for criminal offences their statements may be untrue and "quite exaggerated."

"Or non-existent," replied Mayor R. B. Wilson, who doubles as police commission chairman. He said the commission would study the request for permission to see the jail.

(The commission awarded a went through the entire building from top to bottom," said the mayor.

"Apart from some painting needed, we were quite satisfied with the facilities in the building."

(The commssion awarded a $778 contract to paint the courtroom, charge office and traffic office this morning.)

The mayor said since Saanich has been holding its own prisoners in its new jail, the city lock-up has "excess capacity" which might be used to create better client interviewing and prisoner visiting accommodation.

Edmond St. Jorre, acting president of the bar association, and Mr. Hummell had complained of insufficient facilities for lawyers and said they had heard complaints about food, bedding, and non-segregation of prisoners in the jail.

Ship Drags Anchor; Sudbury Standing By

A 6,900-ton New Zealand freighter reported distress off Discovery Island shortly before noon today as gales gusting to 70 miles an hour lashed the lower Island.

Due to the storm the B.C. Ferries link between Swartz Bay and Tsawwassen broke down for the first time since inaugurated 2½ years ago. Reason was loss of a pile windbreak in fire two weeks ago.

Last ship to leave the mainland was Mv City of Vancouver, which arrived at 9 a.m. and has remained tied up at Swartz Bay since.

The City of Victoria was being buffeted by high winds in her berth at Tsawwassen as three inches of wet snow blanketted the Lower Mainland and produced blizzard conditions in the Gulf of Georgia.

BOAT CHECKING

B.C. Pilotage Authority sent a boat to investigate trouble reported by the general cargo carrier Ss. Waitemata of Wellington, a regular visitor to B.C. ports on the North Pacific-Antipodes freight run.

Another freighter was reported to be standing by and Island Tug and Barge Ltd. despatched Sudbury II to assist. Latest report had the freighter dragging anchor.

The RCN was asked to stand by with vessels and helicopter in the even a rescue operation was required.

Winds in Haro Strait off the Oak Bay waterfront were reported to be at 50-60 knots.

FIRST SNOW

Snow on the lower mainland was the first of the season. It was reported as traces at Comox, on the Island, and the weather office said with moist air and temperatures below 40 degrees there could be snow on upper levels of the lower Island today.

Gales began here overnight and by dawn were averaging 20 miles an hour, increasing to 45 and more, with gusts to 70.

Force was expected to drop later this afternoon as winds shift to the west with 40-degree temperatures.

Over-all weather this weekend will be patchy, with varying winds, rain and sunshine, and rising winds Saturday, the weather office predicts.

Around town this morning, linemen were kept busy putting up broken power and telephone connections but there was no report of damage to property.

Ambulances May Be Held To Speed Limit

Use of sirens in emergency vehicles and permission to exceed speed limits may be withdrawn following a study now underway by the Motor Vehicles Branch, it was learned today.

B.C. Medical Association sparked the study by claiming many emergency vehicles were abusing their right to exceed the speed limit, Ray Hadfield, deputy superintendent of motor vehicles, said.

He said it was a fact that more persons were hurt in the province due to speeding ambulances than there were lives saved.

"It is felt that ambulances, using the siren as an excuse, are travelling too fast without real reason," he added.

Dr. Robert M. Peet, chairman of the traffic saftey committee for the B.C. Medical Association, said today a recommendation had been made at the last medical convention in Harrison Hot Springs, that ambulances should observe speed limits.

The committee also recommended sirens should not be used except in real emergencies.

The Motor Vehicles Branch, following this, has installed a tachograph in the ambulance of Saanich Fire Department.

The graph records speeds of the vehicle and when the siren is used.

Mr. Hadfield emphasized the installation was only for observation purposes.

However, he said the test could be extended to fire engines and police vehicles as well, although he said it was felt these had a greater need for speed than ambulances.

"We feel many ambulance drivers were violating any trust they may have had in using sirens," he said.

The test will be conducted about two or three weeks, it is expected.

Mr. Hadfield admitted on the basis of the test, some recommendation might be made by the branch to the appropriate minister, that changes be made in the Motor Vehicles Act to limit speed and siren use by emergency vehicles.

LEGAL AGE PROBLEM

'Most Students Are Drinkers'

Students of Victoria College and University of B.C. have raised the question of the legal age for drinking alcoholic beverages. They are considering a petition to the government to reduce the age below the present 21-year limit. Times college reporter Leslie Millin did some investigating on the drinking habits of the under 21s and has put his findings into a two-part article, the second of which follows:

By LESLIE MILLIN

Most high school students in Victoria either drink fairly frequently or have at least experimented with liquor by the time they graduate.

So a sampling of teenagers told The Times when questioned about their attitude to liquor and teenage drinking.

Of 28 young people interviewed, five said they had never had a drink and did not wish to do so until they reached the legal age of 21.

The other 23 said they had been "playing around" with liquor or "drinking pretty steadily" since they entered high school.

What do they drink, and where do they get it?

Most drink hard liquor—whisky, gin, or vodka—and most of them either buy it from a bootlegger or else buy it from a government store by posing as persons over 21. Some get an older person to buy it for them.

Very few will risk buying it by the glass in a beer parlor or cocktail lounge for fear of being caught in a police raid.

One teenager, a 17-year-old boy student at Oak Bay High School, said he only drank with his parents at home.

Others drank at teen parties or in parked cars.

Half a dozen who said they often drank in beer parlors were teenagers who had quit school and were working or were looking for work.

"I work for my living," said one, "I don't see why I can't spend my money as I want. That includes buying liquor.

"Getting it isn't a problem.

"I can take you to five places within two blocks of here (Yates Street) where I can buy a bottle, and I'm two years under age."

Two teenagers admitted they had made use of the beer home delivery service to obtain beer for parties.

A call to either of the two delivery service numbers will send beer to any home.

When it arrives, a teenager answers the door and says the parent who ordered it can't come and sign for it, and takes delivery himself.

Clerks in some of the government liquor stores are not too fussy about identification, some of the teenagers noted.

"They've never asked me in the Humboldt Street store," said a male Victoria High School student, "but I was thrown out of the Johnson Street store the only time I tried there."

Most, however, admitted they patronized the bootleggers at least part of the time—the round of cab companies, grocery stores, and restaurants that will supply liquor to anyone for a price.

Most also confessed that they usually drank it in parked cars, late at night, swallowing rye or gin directly from the bottle without mixing.

One girl, a Victoria High School student, said she buys liquor in the government stores quite frequently for her male escorts.

"They never asked me for identification, I don't know why.

"I get tired of it, sometimes. I wish the boys could buy their own."

★ ★ ★

City police commission today said alleged bootleg sales to teen-agers reported by The Times will be thoroughly investigated.

Due to the storm the B.C. Ferries link between Swartz Bay and Tsawwassen broke down for the first time since inaugurated 2½ years ago. Reason was loss of a pile windbreak in fire two weeks ago.

Last ship to leave the mainland was Mv City of Vancouver, which arrived at 9 a.m. and has remained tied up at Swartz Bay since.

The City of Victoria was being buffeted by high winds in her berth at Tsawwassen as three inches of wet snow blanketted the Lower Mainland and produced blizzard conditions in the Gulf of Georgia.

BOAT CHECKING

B.C. Pilotage Authority sent a boat to investigate trouble reported by the general cargo carrier Ss. Waitemata of Wellington, a regular visitor to B.C. ports on the North Pacific-Antipodes freight run.

Another freighter was reported to be standing by and Island Tug and Barge Ltd. despatched Sudbury II to assist. Latest report had the freighter dragging anchor.

The RCN was asked to stand by with vessels and helicopter in the even a rescue operation was required.

Winds in Haro Strait off the Oak Bay waterfront were reported to be at 50-60 knots

FIRST SNOW

Snow on the lower mainland was the first of the season. It was reported as traces at Comox, on the Island, and the weather office said with moist air and temperatures below 40 degrees there could be snow on upper levels of the lower Island today.

Gales began here overnight and by dawn were averaging 20 miles an hour, increasing to 45 and more, with gusts to 70.

Force was expected to drop later this afternoon as winds shift to the west with 40-degree temperatures.

Over-all weather this weekend will be patchy, with varying winds, rain and sunshine, and rising winds Saturday, the weather office predicts.

Around town this morning, linemen were kept busy putting up broken power and telephone connections but there was no report of damage to property.

Ambulances May Be Held To Speed Limit

Use of sirens in emergency vehicles and permission to exceed speed limits may be withdrawn following a study now underway by the Motor Vehicles Branch, it was learned today.

B.C. Medical Association sparked the study by claiming many emergency vehicles were abusing their right to exceed the speed limit, Ray Hadfield, deputy superintendent of motor vehicles, said.

He said it was a fact that more persons were hurt in the province due to speeding ambulances than there were lives saved.

"It is felt that ambulances, using the siren as an excuse, are travelling too fast without real reason," he added.

Dr. Robert M. Peet, chairman of the traffic saftey committee for the B.C. Medical Association, said today a recommendation had been made at the last medical convention in Harrison Hot Springs, that ambulances should observe speed limits.

The committee also recommended sirens should not be used except in real emergencies.

The Motor Vehicles Branch, following this, has installed a tachograph in the ambulance of Saanich Fire Department.

The graph records speeds of the vehicle and when the siren is used.

Mr. Hadfield emphasized the installation was only for observation purposes.

However, he said the test could be extended to fire engines and police vehicles as well, although he said it was felt these had a greater need for speed than ambulances.

"We feel many ambulance drivers were violating any trust they may have had in using sirens," he said.

The test will be conducted about two or three weeks, it is expected.

Mr. Hadfield admitted on the basis of the test, some recommendation might be made by the branch to the appropriate minister, that changes be made in the Motor Vehicles Act to limit speed and siren use by emergency vehicles.

Lions Club Adds Project Support

Chinatown Lions Club added its support to the city's Centennial Year project at meetings held Wednesday.

City planner Roderick Clack, who drew the plan, and Ald. A. W. Toone, chairman of urban renewal, gave an illustrated talk to Lions.

ARTHUR MAYSE

Democracy at work, a fascinating spectacle always, is best observed at the grass-roots level of municipal politics. Down there, the machine runs with a good, homely clank and clatter. The link between the taxpayer and those who will set his mill rate is direct, the issues of a sort you can get your teeth into.

The other night, Win and I made two of about 75 Saanichites who straggled into St. George the Martyr's church hall at Cadboro Bay, where the amalgamation hot potato was to be juggled yet again.

In 11 years, we have gone to a great many meetings of various sorts in that hall. We are familiar with the feel and fit of its chairs; we know that whoever we settle by is unlikely to be a complete stranger.

That's one of the nicer features of close-to-home democracy in action. There's a chumminess, a community of interests.

★ ★ ★

Dave and Meliss Hill are there ahead of us, empty chairs beside them. For years we lived only a whoop and a holler down the road from each other; we remember a birthday party enlivened by hornets, and the orchard raid that left a certain small boy dangling by his pants seat from a neighbor's fence.

Not far away, under a hat that only she could wear with distinction, sits Ursula Jupp. "Jolly Mrs. Jupp," the children used to call her. Each winter she treated them to a bonfire with hot dogs and cocoa, herself where the sparks flew thickest, merry as the kids who shared her bounty.

Each district has its local historian. Ursula Jupp is ours. She has tales of earlier children — grandparents now — who once galloped their horses on the Arbutus Cove sands, and knows in detail the complex history of the Appleton estate.

★ ★ ★

Most of us in the hall are middle-aged or elderly. The young marrieds don't often turn up at a church hall political meeting, even though this vexed question of amalgamation, whichever way the cat jumps, is going to affect their lives.

Their time for church hall meetings on rainy nights will come later, when the children are older and family roots sunk deeper in the community.

★ ★ ★

The hall is already decked for Christmas with streamers, tinsel at the windows, and colored globes mounted on evergreen sprays. Back of the platform is an enormous wreath of Saanich holly. Each speaker, as he steps forward to make his pitch, is framed head and shoulders in the bright red and prickly green of Yule.

This doesn't indicate that we regard these men as emissaries of Santa Claus. By no means! Down-on democracy's ground floor, we like our politics hearty. Reeve, councillors and candidates will be called hard names before voting day; a few names will fly tonight as our speakers come out for or against union with Victoria.

The chairman has alloted them seven minutes each, and holds them to it. From seasoned campaigner to neophyte, they make the most of their time.

The press gets the dust whacked out of its hide while the unperturbed reporters take notes at their table. This thumping of the newspapers is one of the amiable exchanges between agents of democracy without which no rally would be complete.

★ ★ ★

Chambers of commerce, senior and junior, are attacked and defended. Grim warnings are hurled about what will happen if we amalgamate, or if we don't.

The hall, chilly at the start, becomes warmer. Looking around, you can almost see on people's faces the questions they'll ask later.

After the last speaker has retired from the holly wreath, the questions come pell-mell. Some are ingenuous, some loaded. Here in the question period, it seems to me that democracy in practice becomes most impressive.

No holds are barred. If you think a man's a turncoat, up and tell him so. Tempers crackle, sparks fly, and freedom of speech gets a fine, healthy workout.

★ ★ ★

Then the meeting is over and we go out to our cars and home by familiar roads which I suspect will remain much as they are whether Saanich takes the amalgamation plunge or not.

The meeting—75 district people in a suburban hall—was no earth-shaker. It didn't enlighten us as much as we'd hoped, and will settle no great issues. But it was a manifestation of democracy at work, and therein lay its virtue.

HULL 99 NOW 'QUEEN'

By FRANK RUTTER

Hull 99 made it to the ocean Wednesday.

In the process Hull 99 acquired a name and a reputation.

The name is Queen of Saanich; the reputation is one of the fastest jobs ever done in Victoria Machinery Depot's Dallas Road shipyard.

The occasion was the launching of the new Queen as the latest ferry for the government's Toll Authority service between Vancouver Island and the mainland.

Pausing to give the new ship a special salute was the Black Ball ferry Coho, outward bound for Port Angeles, and the government lighthouse tender Estevan. They both "stooged around" for about 15 minutes, awaiting the launching.

The last lick of paint was brushed on the new ship's bottom only minutes before the ceremony.

And while the christening speeches were being made, sparks flew as a VMD welding crew kept right on working on her sister ship only yards away in a parallel slip.

One of the reasons for speed is the government contract calling for a penalty of $1,000 each day completion is overdue.

SISTER SHIP

Queen of Esquimalt-to-be, the sister ship, will be launched in January.

VMD president Harold Husband told 200 guests Wednesday Esquimalt is very appropriately Hull 100, as she will be the first ship launched in the company's hundred birthday year.

"Then, of course, we're going to try for 200," he said.

Queen of Saanich, weighing 3,000 tons, will carry 115 cars and 1,000 passengers.

She is the fifth ship launched for the ferry service started by the government June 15, 1960, and will go into service between Swartz Bay and Tsawwassen next April.

Two others are under construction and two more promised next year.

When all are in service, Premier Bennett told the guests, B.C. will have a fleet of 19—"the largest ferry fleet of the type in the whole world."

"Of all the things this government has done we get more credit for the ships than anything else," he said.

Work Starts Next Year On 2 Ferries

Tenders will be called before the year's end on the two new government ferries for the Nanaimo-Horseshoe Bay run, Premier Bennett said at the launching Wednesday.

This means work will start early in the new year on the Toll Authority vessels, to be of the "Queen Class" like Queen of Saanich, launched at VMD.

Mr. Bennett, addressing about 200 guests at the launching, also announced the name of the ferry being built at Burrard Dry Dock in Vancouver for the service from the Gulf Islands to Tsawwassen. She will be called Queen of the Islands.

The premier said business—and profits—were booming on the government's ferry services.

He repeated an earlier promise that all the profits would be spent on the ferry service, and none of the money would be used for other purposes—in the Toll Authority or anywhere else.

The first ferry service, between Swartz Bay and Tsawwassen was started June 15, 1960. Since then on that route alone government ferries have carried 870,736 cars and trucks and 2,851,839 passengers, the premier said.

Collision Kills Woman On Highway

An 81-year-old woman was killed instantly when in collision with a car while crossing the Pat Bay Highway Wednesday night.

Mrs. Daisy Hargreaves, Aberdeen Hotel, was hurled 57 feet by the impact, police said.

She was crossing from west to east on the highway near Elk Lake, when she was struck by a car driven north by Mrs. Marjorie Sam of Mount Newton Cross Road about 5 p.m.

She was wearing a long dark coat at the time.

Witnesses said the driver of the car "didn't have a chance" of seeing her.

VISITING FRIEND

Mrs. Hargreaves was on her way to visit a friend at 5099 Patricia Bay Highway, when she was struck outside the house.

Police said there was no crosswalk in the area.

They also said they were satisfied the car was not exceeding the 50 mph speed limit.

The body was removed to McCall Bros. funeral home. Fimeral arrangements are awaiting decision by the coroner on the need for an inquest.

The deceased is survived by two daughters, Mrs. A. K. Hughes, 3697 Elliston, and Mrs. Marian Ives, Ucluelet; two grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

She also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Nellie Edmonson, Powell River, and Mrs. Mary Rossborough, Campbellton, NB.

FRIDAY MEETINGS

Victoria Lions Club: 12 noon, Empress Hotel. Dr. J. L. Heffernan, "Your Doctor's Dilemma."

City Librarians Form Institute

Victoria librarians organized their own professional association Wednesday night.

There is only one other such group in Canada, composed of Ontario librarians.

One of the first aims of the new Institute of Victoria Librarians will be to encourage action on the recently completed study of Greater Victoria libraries by Dr. Rose Vainstein. She urged a metro system with branches in each municipality.

Thirty-five members attended the first meeting of the new institute at St. Luke's Church hall.

They represent the provincial and Victoria Public Libraries, Victoria College, Royal Roads, the Public Library Commission and school libraries.

MEMBERSHIP

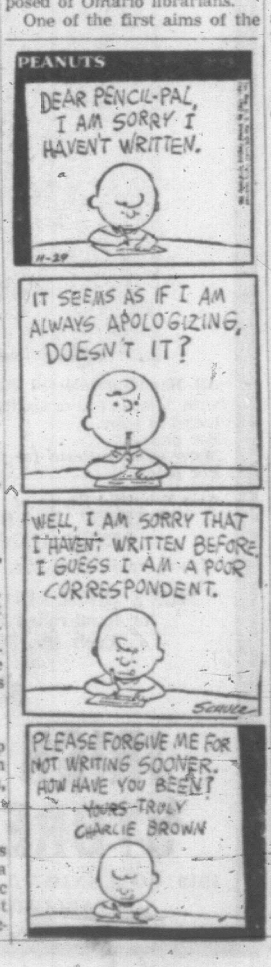
Jim Mitchell, of the provincial library, chairman of the institute's organization commitee, sad he hopes for 40 members.

Aims of the institute are to deal with local library problems, improve service and the status of librarians and hold seminars.

Mr. Mitchell said the group will study the Vainstein report and encourage action on it by local councils.

Seven executive council members were elected:

Mrs. Isabel Goodwin and Terry Curran of Victoria Public Library; Ann Vandervoort and Denis Godson of Victoria College; Joan Moore and Mr. Mitchell of the Provincial Library and Ceeil Whitlock of Royal Roads Library.



Legion Plans Dinner

Canadian Legion, Dockyard Branch No. 172, will hold a dinner for members who served in the First World War Friday, Dec. 7, at the Legion Hall at 6:30 p.m. Those wishing to attend are asked to notify the secretary-manager by Dec. 4.

LEGAL AGE PROBLEM

'Most Students Are Drinkers'

Students of Victoria College and University of B.C. have raised the question of the legal age for drinking alcoholic beverages. They are considering a petition to the government to reduce the age below the present 21-year limit. Times college reporter Leslie Millin did some investigating on the drinking habits of the under 21s and has put his findings into a two-part article, the second of which follows:

By LESLIE MILLIN

Most high school students in Victoria either drink fairly frequently or have at least experimented with liquor by the time they graduate.

So a sampling of teenagers told The Times when questioned about their attitude to liquor and teenage drinking.

Of 28 young people interviewed, five said they had never had a drink and did not wish to do so until they reached the legal age of 21.

The other 23 said they had been "playing around" with liquor or "drinking pretty steadily" since they entered high school.

What do they drink, and where do they get it?

Most drink hard liquor—whisky, gin, or vodka—and most of them either buy it from a bootlegger or else buy it from a government store by posing as persons over 21. Some get an older person to buy it for them.

Very few will risk buying it by the glass in a beer parlor or cocktail lounge for fear of being caught in a police raid.

One teenager, a 17-year-old boy student at Oak Bay High School, said he only drank with his parents at home.

Others drank at teen parties or in parked cars.

Half a dozen who said they often drank in beer parlors were teenagers who had quit school and were working or were looking for work.

"I work for my living," said one, "I don't see why I can't spend my money as I want. That includes buying liquor.

"Getting it isn't a problem.

"I can take you to five places within two blocks of here (Yates Street) where I can buy a bottle, and I'm two years under age."

Two teenagers admitted they had made use of the beer home delivery service to obtain beer for parties.

A call to either of the two delivery service numbers will send beer to any home.

When it arrives, a teenager answers the door and says the parent who ordered it can't come and sign for it, and takes delivery himself.

Clerks in some of the government liquor stores are not too fussy about identification, some of the teenagers noted.

"They've never asked me in the Humboldt Street store," said a male Victoria High School student, "but I was thrown out of the Johnson Street store the only time I tried there."

Most, however, admitted they patronized the bootleggers at least part of the time—the round of cab companies, grocery stores, and restaurants that will supply liquor to anyone for a price.

Most also confessed that they usually drank it in parked cars, late at night, swallowing rye or gin directly from the bottle without mixing.

One girl, a Victoria High School student, said she buys liquor in the government stores quite frequently for her male escorts.

"They never asked me for identification, I don't know why.

"I get tired of it, sometimes. I wish the boys could buy their own."

City police commission today said alleged bootleg sales to teen-agers reported by The Times will be thoroughly investigated.

Douk Women Return Home

TRAIL (CP)—The Trail Times says many of the women most concerned with the fate of convicted Sons of Freedom terrorists in Mountain Prison are not taking part in the mass trek of Freedomites, now camped at Hope.

Some of the freedomite women returned home to the West Kootenay for the winter after spending only a short time on the trek and at least one woman whose husband is in prison never went on the trek, the newspaper said.

SEATTLE (AP) — Pierre Giroux, 23, gave himself up to police here today and said he had embezzled $2,400 from the Laurentide Acceptance Corp. in St. Jerome, Que.

Giroux said on Sept. 28 he collected the $2,400 from a customer in St. Jerome. Instead of returning to the office he drove the company car to Montreal, left it there and flew to Toronto.

Awesome Sea in Spectacular Fury

Fifty-miles-an hour winds gusting to 70 churned into Ross Bay from the southeast this morning, sending 20-foot waves leaping 60 feet over Dallas Road seawall. Police barricaded the half-mile stretch along Ross Bay Cemetery, where drift logs were being tossed onto the roadway. To the east and west, waves climbed over Turkey Head and Ogden Point breakwaters in a spectacular entre to the gale season. Linemen were kept busy with broken power and phone lines. Makes Decision To Quit Ottawa

By ALEX YOUNG
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Public Works Minister Davie Fulton apparently has decided to leave federal politics and seek the leadership of the B.C. Conservative Party.

In response to speculative reports that his departure was imminent, Mr. Fulton said this today:

"I know what I am going to do but I am not yet ready to make any statement."

He said this statement could come some time today, but was not sure.

The positive nature of Mr. Fulton's comments, however, was taken as a strong indication that he planned to make the move. Had it been otherwise he could have been expected to issue a firm denial.

Mr. Fulton's activities this morning clearly indicated a big change was afoot. He left his office in time to attend a 10:30 a.m. meeting of the cabinet but he did not arrive at the cabinet chamber until 11:15 a.m.

TALK WITH WIFE

He had spent the intervening time with Mrs. Fulton, possibly discussing the move.

It was expected he would first tell his cabinet colleagues of his intentions and seek their approval. It was not believed any hitch would develop in this regard.

The possibility did exist that Prime Minister Diefenbaker might prevail on him to stay in the cabinet. Observers here discount this because of an apparent cooling in the relationship between Mr. Fulton and the prime minister in recent months.

A significant indication of this came last August when Mr. Diefenbaker demoted Mr. Fulton from the justice ministry to the public works portfolio.

At the time Mr. Fulton told his constituents in Kamloops that he welcomed the challenge of the public works job and looked forward to great accomplishments. It appeared, however, that he was attempting to put the best light on what had been for him a personal setback.

As the prime minister entered the cabinet meeting this morning he seemed unconcerned about reports concerning Mr. Fulton's move.

Reporters asked Mr. Diefenbaker if he expected to be making a statement about an impending change in the public works cabinet post.

"I don't expect to have anything to say," he said casually.

When Mr. Fulton arrived later he began his brief comments by saying he had nothing to do with the speculative reports.

He then added he knew what he was going to do.

Tolmie Move Recalled

E. Davie Fulton's decision today to leave federal politics and seek the provincial Conservative leadership recalled a period of B.C. political history which is almost an exact parallel.

In November, 1926, Dr. Simon F. Tolmie who had been minister of agriculture in the Meighen government until its defeat in September of that year, was drafted by a convention at Kamloops to be the provincial Conservative leader.

Dr. Tolmie, at the time was the member of the House of Commons for Victoria. Mr. Fulton represents Kamloops.

Two years after taking the leadership Dr. Tolmie led the Conservatives to victory and was in office five years.

LAST TIME

It was the last time British Columbia had a Conservative administration, although members of the party did serve in the Coalition government between 1941 and 1951.

The particular difference with today's situation is that in 1926 there were only Liberals and Conservatives as the main political forces.

The Conservatives of the day were the official opposition.

Today, of course, the Conservatives do not hold a single seat in the Legislature, and the Social Credit and NDP are the chief political forces.

GIRLS INSTEAD OF NATO?

MPs Rise in Wrath Against 'Playboy' Charge

By ALEX YOUNG
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — A spicy furor over the behavior of a Canadian delegation to a NATO parliamentarians conference in Paris erupted in the Commons Wednesday.

It was touched off by Raymond Langlois (SC-Megantic) as he protested violently against a report of the delegation's activities carried by La Presse of Montreal.

OTTAWA (CP)—A news dispatch and editorial in the Montreal French language newspaper La Presse criticizing the behavior of some Canadian delegates to this month's NATO parliamentary conference in Paris were referred by the Commons to its committee on privileges today.

The committee was instructed to examine the articles and report.

He rose on a question of personal privilege to complain that the report of Jean Charpentier, a member of the parliamentary press gallery who accompanied the delegation, was false and insulting.

The Charpentier report, published Tuesday, said a number of the delegates (Langlois was a delegate) were not seen at all during the conference, "spending nights at the Pigalle and sleeping during the day."

A follow-up editorial carried by La Presse Wednesday commented that it appeared the all-party Canadian delegates—15 MPs and senators—had the idea on their arrival in Paris earlier this month that "it's on to Pigalle and the little ladies."

Langlois said the report and the editorial made the delegates out to be "incompetent, ignorant and women chasers." Deputy Socred leader Real Caouette said the Commons should rebuke Charpentier.

And Liberal Gerard Laniel (Lib-Beauharnois-Salaberry) asked that the matter be placed before the Commons' committee on privileges for disciplinary action.

Even before the storm broke out in the House the vice-chairman of the delegation, Georges Valade (PC-Sainte-Marie) sent a wire to Gerard Pelletier, editor of La Presse, terming the report outrageous and demanding an immediate public apology by the newspaper.

The delegation was holding

'We All Worked From Nine to Six'

EDMONTON (CP) — William Skoreyko, head of the Canadian delegation to the NATO parliamentary conference in Paris, said today that charges of misbehavior against delegation members are "grossly untrue and unfair."

He said he would meet other delegation members on his return to Ottawa to discuss the charges.

In an interview, Mr. Skoreyko Conservative member of Parliament for Edmonton East, said the Ottawa Journal quoting him was "not correct either."

"All the delegates are members of the NATO parliamentary organization who have served on various committees before working themselves into positions where they qualify to attend the conference," he said.

"To become chairman of the NATO executive committee I served in various executive positions during the past three years."

The delegation "was as effective as it could have been," but his opinion was that it should have been headed by a cabinet minister.

"We could only express our points of view, not necessarily the government's," he said.

"Everyone did his work from nine to six. After that I had no control and I don't know what they did."

He said Senator John Hnatyshyn of Saskatchewan, Senator John Connolly of Ottawa, and Liberal MPs Judy La Marsh (Niagara Falls) and Paul Martin (Trinity) all contributed worthwhile speeches.

'GOOD' LABOR YEAR

Strife Denied By Bennett

By FRANK RUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

Premier Bennett today denied B.C. is having a bad year in labor relations, as he and other political leaders plunged anew into a flurry of hostile exchanges.

These are the latest developments:

- Opposition Leader Robert Strachan named union leaders who he said are fostering labor strife;
- Mr. Bennett said the New Democratic Party leader should have named himself as being most responsible for trouble;
- Liberal Leader Ray Perrault said Mr. Strachan spoke up "under duress:
- The leader of B.C.'s biggest union, Jack Moore of the International Woodworkers of America, agreed to meet the premier for man-to-man talks.

The premier said B.C. had had a peaceful labor year but for an "unfortunate" record of illegal strikes.

"This has been a very good year," he told reporters as he went to a cabinet meeting with a labor file under his arm.

He opened the file to give some figures.

In the first 10 months of the year there were 339 labor-management disputes and 16 legal strikes.

"That's less than 5 per cent strikes," he said.

Time lost in the legal disputes totals only 8,950 working days, but illegal and wildcat strikes have cost 18,000 working days, the premier said.

A labor department official said total time lost is small compared with B.C.'s worst ever year, 1952, when 1,400,000 days worth of work were lost.

Mr. Bennett said he will meet Mr. Moore in Victoria "anytime." In accepting the invitation, made Wednesday, Mr. Moore said he planned to come immediately after Christmas.

"I call on leaders of labor

FRIENDSHIP DOLLARS APPEAL NUDGES $3,000

The Times appeal for "Friendship Dollars for India" nudged the $3,000 mark today—just a week after the fund was launched.

The actual total at noon was $2,948.13.

An elderly lady sent $2 with the note: "I do not need an acknowledgement as I do not get enough money to pay income tax."

Another anonymous donor left $20 at The Times office made up of two nickels, one penny, a $2 bill and the balance in Canada Savings Bond coupons.

Today's donations ranged all the way from an anonymous one-dollar bill to an outright gift of $250, Mrs. Dora Barnfield, 1035 Bank Street, gave $100, and another $100 was given over the signature "A Friend."

Anne, Penny and Cathy Carter, 2120 Wenman Drive, sent $3 between them.

Says Times publisher Stuart Keate:

"We conduct this appeal because we think that once a year we should consider the welfare of persons outside our own country."

Mikoyan, JFK Hold Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Soviet deputy premier Anastas I. Mikoyan came here today for talks on the Cuban situation with President Kennedy and other U.S. officials. The Kremlin trouble shooter expressed hope the discussions would be "pleasant and possibly useful."

HONG KONG (Reuters) — Peking today accused Indian troops of advancing towards Communist China's "cease-fire line" and engaging in "armed provocation."

. . . PLAYBOY CHARGE

La Presse to account, said Valade's wire, and had already protested to the executive of the parliamentary press gallery.

"Charpentier was rarely present at the conference," the wire claimed, "and his allegations that the Canadian parliamentarians were not attending to their duties is not in accord with the facts."

COUNTER-CHARGE

In the House, Lamiel accused Charpentier himself of having been drunk on the plane returning from the conference.

Speaker Marcel Lambert, after the complaints had been aired, took the complaints action under advisement. He was expected to announce his decision today.

When Caouette called for a rebuke to Charpentier, New Democratic MP Douglas Fisher laughingly commented, "call him (Charpentier) before the bar of the House."

The delegation in question was attending the NATO parliamentarians' conference, an annual meeting attended by representatives of the parliaments of NATO member countries. The conference ended 10 days ago.

Outside the House two members of the delegation were questioned about the Charpentier reports. Judy LaMarsh (Lib. — Niagara Falls) said: "I've never chased a woman in my life." Said Valade: "Charpentier was as drunk as a skunk from Ottawa to Soest."

The delegates are transported each year to the conference by an RCAF plane. It has been the custom for the delegation to take as their guests two members of the Ottawa press gallery — one French speaking and one English speaking—to cover their deliberations on NATO matters.

In his story, Charpentier suggested it might have been better if all delegates were "spending nights at Pigalle and sleeping during the day," instead of only some delegates.

The Canadians who did show up at conference sessions, said the reporter in his story, were pitiful in contrast to delegates from other countries.

One Socred MP, he said, made a two-minute speech in which he exhorted NATO member countries to reform their monetary systems.

And one Conservative, Valade, tried to put on the record a speech on the common market once made by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

The president of the committee, U.S. Senator Jacob Javits, pointed out that the prime minister was not present. Charpentier said. When Valade tried to have the text of the speech inserted in the official report of the committee, an exasperated Sen. Javits told Mr. Valade he could supply copies to anyone who might be interested in the speech.

The chairman of the Canadian delegation, William Skoreyko, was quoted as saying MPs got appointed to the delegation for meritorious party service, rather than for their knowledge about NATO.

After the furore, Charpentier said he was standing by his story.

"I have nothing to retract," he declared.

La Presse today published the text of a telegram from Gerard Pelletier, its editor-in-chief, replying to Mr. Valade:

"In a democratic country, a newspaper has no apologies to give when it expresses opinions, even if these opinions offend certain politicians. It also does not have to retract when it publishes information which it has every reason to believe is exact, even if the publication of this information appears to offend certain politicians. Your denial is too vauge and too general to constitute an acceptable counter-proof with regards to facts described by La Presse."

The Ottawa Journal says today the greatest lesson learned by Canada's 15 representatives to the NATO conference was that they could not truly represent their country there.

In a report by Gordon Dewer who attended the meeting, the newspapers says the senators and MPs did not have the background or experience necessary to engage in committee debates or plenary sessions.

The newspaper quotes Mr. Skoreyko as saying the trip was nothing more than a junket with positions on the delegation handed out by parties "as a plum for the members who have done the right things."

Mr. Skoreyko said this may have been true even in his own case and that he may have approached the trip in that light. He said that in his report to the government, he would recommend a degree of pertinency in the Canadian delegation.

'WE WERE UNTUTORED'

"We were up against some of the top men from the United States, United Kingdom, France and Germany," he said. "But we were untutored, lacking the extensive briefs which might have enabled us to deal with these men on the same level."

The United States delegation consisted of prominent politicians such as Senators Estes Kefauver, George Smathers, Homer Capehart and Harry Byrd. Most of them had taken part in the conference for three to seven years.

They were accompanied by a staff of eight top experts and researchers in the fields of foreign relations, economics and defence.

There was no such aid for the Canadian delegation although it was given some help by the Canadian permanent staff at NATO, headed by George Igatieff.

Red Note 'Moderate'

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union, in moderately worded notes to the United States, Britain and France, called formally today for a German peace settlement. It was the first such appeal since the Cuban crisis.

The identical notes asked for "normalization of the situation in West Berlin," but contained neither a time limit nor any proposals.

The notes, published by the official Tass news agency, were in connection with the trial in West Berlin of the West German "association of victims of the Nazi regime," which is accused of being a Communist front organization.

. . . BENNETT

and industry to show good will and forebearance" said the premier.

He noted that Mr. Strachan named Orville Braaten and Jerry Lebourdais as labor officials who had caused strife.

But he added: "He left out a few labor leaders who are very active in his party."

One, he said, was Paddy Neale, secretary of Vancouver Labor Council.

"And why did he leave his own name out? These in my opinion are persons who are most responsible."

Answered Mr. Strachan: "I shouldn't even answer his silly statements but, in order to educate him, I will."

He said Mr. Neale's statements had been twisted by editorial writers into inflammatory remarks.

As for himself, he said he made a speech at Duncan Monday appealing for reason. "There was nothing inflammatory in that speech."

Mr. Strachan said he had predicted labor trouble on the basis of labor department records and conciliation reports.

If Premier Bennett had taken the trouble to look at the same records, he, too, would have known there was trouble coming.

Mr. Perrault suggested the NDP leader had "a change of heart" in attacking trade unionists and naming two of them.

VIRTUE "OF SORTS"

(Mr. Braaten represents the Pulp and Sulphite Workers, Mr. Lebourdais the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers and both are members of the NDP.)

"While late repentance is counted as a virtue of sorts it is significant that Mr. Strachan, who claims to be the political spokesman for organized labor, has been the last person to speak out against the violence, against the name calling, against threats and intimidation and against those among his NDP lieutenants who have urged the bypassing of the legislature," Mr. Perrault said.

"We call once again for an economic productivity council to bring together labor and management in a climate of unity and amity. We call again for positive measures such as improved conciliation and arbitration procedures to advance the cause of labor-management co-operation."

Pakistan, India Will Talk

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (UPI) — India and Pakistan agreed today to try to solve their differences over Kashmir and other issues so they can live side by side in friendship.

In a joint communique issued here and in New Delhi, Pakistan President Mohammed Ayub Khan and Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru agreed to renew their efforts in this direction.

In New Delhi, informed sources said the agreement was a result of Anglo-American mediation efforts and was considered a triumph for western diplomacy.

W. Averell Harriman, U.S. assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, and Duncan Sandys, British Commonwealth relations secretary, arrived here from New Delhi Wednesday.

They conferred there with Nehru and here with Ayub.

Informed sources regarded the development as a defeat for Communist China's attempts to lure Pakistan out of the western camp.
